REPUDIATES HIS MURDER STORY; ACCUSES OTHERS

Richard Eoff, 22, at Inquest, Denies He Killed Service Car Driver—Had Previously Confessed.

NAMES PHYSICIAN AND ANOTHER MAN

Testifies He Admitted the Crime Because He "Felt Sory for Doctor and Wife.

Testifying today at the Coroner's inquest into the death of Alfred Craske, service car driver, Richard Eoff, 22 years old, of 3740 La Salle street, repudiated a confession he made to police after his arrest in which he admitted killing Craske, and accused Dr. William J. Voss of 4008 McPherson avenue and a friend of Dr. Voss, whom he described as Arthur Koerner, of committing the crime.

After hearing his testimony and a categorical denial by Dr. Voss, the Coroner's jury held Eoff without bond for homicide and held Dr. Voss and Koerner on charges of being accessories before the fact.

Voss Arrested.

Voss was arrested at the inquest, which was held in Kirkwood, and was taken to the county jail at Clayton with Eoff. An order for the arrest of Koerner was issued.

Eoff testified that he became acquainted with Dr. Voss last month at the Clayton jail, where Voss was being held on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses and Eoff on a charge of highway robbery.

While in jail, Eoff testified, he and Dr. Voss heard another prisoner relate that a large amount of money was buried on a deserted farm at Valley and Strecker roads, in St. Louis County. He related that Dr. Voss remarked: "I own a half-interest in that farm." Later, Dr. Voss told him that there was no treasure buried on the farm," he said.

"Dr. Voss obtained his release from Clayton jail and he obtained a bondsman for me and got me out April 27," Eoff stated. "I saw him the next day at his office and he and a man named Arthur Koerner, his close friend, gave me a revolver and told me to go out and hold up people to get funds to promote the oil venture.

"I got cold feet and returned to his office the next day. Later that day, last Wednesday, I hired Craske to drive me out to the deserted farm to search for the treasure. As we were driving out Clayton road we met Dr. Voss and Koerner returning to St. Louis.

"Dr. Voss stopped us and told me to take his machine back to St. Louis as he and Koerner would go out and look for the supposed hidden money. I took Dr. Voss' machine back to St. Louis and Dr. Voss and Koerner went to the farm with Craske."

Body Found on Farm.

As is known Craske's body was found on the farm last Sunday afternoon. Eoff was arrested Tuesday and he confessed the murder to St. Louis police.

Dr. Voss, because of being a half-owner of the farm, was arrested in the police investigation of Craske's murder and was at Police Headquarters when Eoff was taken there.

Eoff said Dr. Voss seemed greatly disturbed and his wife was almost hysterical because of his thrust of suspicion and testified that he confessed to police "because he felt sorry for them."

When Eoff was arrested at his home at 3740 La Salle street a revolver and Craske's watch were found on his person. He testified that he was given the revolver and the watch when he went to Dr. Voss' office at 3819 Olive street last Wednesday night, after the murder.

Dr. Voss, who was the first witness at the inquest, testified that he arranged bond for Eoff because he felt sorry for him and said Eoff had visited him at his office several times after his release. He denied knowledge of the murder.

After the testimony of Eoff had been concluded, Dr. Voss was recalled to the witness stand and categorically denied the statements of Eoff.

Koerner, who Eoff could describe only as a friend of Dr. Voss, was not present at the inquest.

The oil venture to which Eoff referred in his testimony was one being promoted by Dr. Voss, which resulted in his arrest last March on a charge of obtaining $875 from Mrs. Ella Tressler, 86 years old, by false pretenses. The money represented Mrs. Tressler's life sav-

Dr. William A. Farrabee Was Forced to Return From South American Expedition.

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 8.—Dr. William A. Farabee, scientist, yesterday underwent his thirty-second blood transfusion operation. Farabee has been seriously ill of anemia for more than a year, his illness forcing him to return from a scientific expedition to South America for the University of Pennsylvania. Last week physicians said his condition was extremely critical. Blood for the operation today was given by H. Porter Day for the seventh time.

EARTHQUAKES IN PHILIPPINES CAUSE BIG PROPERTY DAMAGE

Many Buildings on Island of Negros Wrecked; Residents Live in Open Spaces.

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, May 8.—The earthquakes, which occurred on the Island of Negros, Tuesday and Wednesday, were more serious than first reports indicated. A telegram to Constabulary headquarters says a number of concrete buildings at Bais and other towns of Negros were wrecked, causing damage estimated at many thousands of dollars.

Two chasms opened at Bais are pouring black mud. The residents of Bais, still panic stricken and fearful of more shocks, are living in the plaza and other vacant spaces.

Another earthquake was felt this morning in the Provinces of Samar, Camarines and Albay. Presumably its origin was in the Pacific Ocean.

By the Associated Press.

Dispatches received from Bais, Occidental Negros Island, report the wharf there was badly damaged by temblors, preventing ships from landing. A flood tide during the day was also caused by the shocks.

The town of Dalaguete, Cebu Province, reports that a number of concrete buildings there were cracked by the earthquakes. No loss of life was reported in any region.

MONROE'S OLD HOME SOLD

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The dilapidated house at the corner of Prince and Lafayette streets, once the home of President James Monroe, and now a ragpickers' mart, will be torn down soon to make way for a cloak and suit building.

Despite the efforts of various patriotic and historical societies to preserve it as a memorial to the fifth President of the United States, the two-story brick building was sold yesterday. The buyers plan a 15-story loft building to cost $1,600,000.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—President Coolidge has tentatively accepted an offer of the Lynn (Mass.) Chamber of Commerce of a suite of rooms in the Security Trust Co. Building, at Lynn, to be used by him during his summer visit to Swampscott, near by. The building is about three miles from White Court, the residence which has been placed at the President's disposal by his friend, Frank W. Stearns.

FUNDS FOR THREE SOCIAL AGENCIES BACK IN BUDGET

Psychiatric Clinic, Legal Aid Bureau and Municipal Lodging House Appropriations Restored.

ACTION DUE TO PLEAS OF CITIZENS

Aldermanic Committee and Estimate Board Agree on Bill With but Few Minor Changes.

The revised city budget bill, including the appropriation originally fixed for the Psychiatric Clinic, the Legal Aid Bureau and the Municipal Lodging House, was agreed upon today by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment and the Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Aldermen, in joint conference. It will go to the Board of Aldermen for action at its session at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

The clinic, legal aid and lodging house items were restored to the bill at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Aldermen, when 150 persons, representing 56 business, civic and charitable bodies, presented a protest against the proposal of the Ways and Means Committee, that these three municipal activities be eliminated.

Only Slight Changes in Bill.

The budget bill, as it now stands, is in most respects the same measure that the Board of Estimate sent to the Aldermen several days ago. It has been changed so that it does not specify the number of employes in any department or division, but the appropriation for each class of employes in each division is specified, so that the limitation on the department head is much the same as if the number of employes were fixed.

Funds are provided in the bill, as now amended, for three boiler and elevator inspectors and seven plumbing inspectors in the building department, but the allotment for deputy smoke inspectors is sufficient for the salaries of only three men, so that the cut in this activity, as previously outlined, will be carried out.

Under the head of foreman of street cleaning, a sufficient allotment has been made for the hiring of 28 foremen. The number of such foremen employed in April, under last year's budget, was 50, and the Board of Estimate first proposed to cut this number to 16, and to spend $5000 for automobiles for the inspectors' use. At the request of Director Brooks of the Streets and Sewers Department, the Aldermen decided to allow 12 more foremen, or 28 in all, and to eliminate the item for automobiles. This arrangement has now been approved by the Board of Estimate.

Increase for Gardeners.

An increase was also made by the Aldermen in the allotment proposed by the Board of Estimate for gardeners and other workers in the Park Department.

The budget bill, as it was when the conferees got through with it today, was for a total of $24,765,445.50. The amount for municipal purposes, aside from waterworks, police and certain fixed expenditures, was $18,871,753. This is more than $44,000 in excess of the total previously figured by the Aldermen, most of the difference being due to the three activities which were first stricken out and then restored.

The surrender of the Aldermen to the civic organizations, in the matter of the clinic, lodging house and legal aid bureau, was sudden and complete. The visitors represented the Chamber of Commerce, Community Fund organizations, Catholic and Jewish charities. Because of the number of visitors, the Aldermen's chamber was almost as crowded as at the recent inauguration, though there was no such floral display as was seen then.

There was applause when, after the presentation of a joint petition by the visitors, Chairman Kuhs of the Ways and Means Committee moved that the budget bill be recommitted. Most of the visitors waited while the committee was discusing the measure, and there was renewed applause when the committee returned after a half-hour, and reported that it had restored the three items to the bill.

POSTAL RECEIPTS INCREASE

WASHINGTON, May 7.—St. Louis ranked fifth among the cities in postal receipts for April. Its total of $1,077,811 represented an increase of 7.80 per cent over April, 1924. There was a corresponding gain throughout the country, due in part to the fact that the higher postal rates became effective on April 15.

NEW METAL COMPOUND DESCRIBED AS NEXT TO DIAMOND IN HARDNESS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 8.

A PROCESS of chromium plating producing wearing surfaces harder than any other known metal, with a finish having 20 times the life of nickel plate, it is announced, has been perfected by Dr. Colin G. Fink, head of the Division of Electro-Chemistry at Columbia University.

Next to the diamond, the new plating will be the hardest substance in exitsence, Dr. Fink says. Chromium has been used hitherto only as an addition to steel to produce an extremely hard alloy. The price of chromium varies from 60 cents to $1 a pound. Dr. Fink says the new surface can be produced at a cost not much exceeding that of nickel plate. It will not rust or tarnish.

DRIVER IS FINED $500 FOR SPEEDING

H. L. Huber Draws Penalty; Another Gets $250 ofr Driving While Intoxicated.

One man was fined $500, the maximum penalty, for speeding, and another was fined $250 for driving an automobile while intoxicated by Police Judge Rosecan today.

The speeder was Herman L. Huber, president of the Huber Motor Car Co., who was arrested on May 5 after driving at 30 miles an hour on Lindell boulevard between Spring avenue and Whittier street. Records showed he had been arrested 15 times previously on similar charges and had been fined several times for this offense. He announced he would appeal the case. His address was given as the Missouri Athletic Association.

Martin J. Lindberg, 1734 Simpson place, drew the $250 penalty on the charge of driving while intoxicated.

In sentencing Lindberg, Judge Rosecan said: "Any person driving an automobile while intoxicated is a potential murderer. An automobile is a dangerous instrument and certainly no one under the influence of liquor is capable of handling one. This court is going to take stringent measures against such persons in an effort to discourage the practice."

Lindberg's machine collided with another automobile at Missouri and Chouteau avenues on May 2. Although the other motorist refused to prosecute Lindberg, a policeman took Lindberg to City Hospital, where he was pronounced suffering from acute alcoholism. Lindberg signified he will appeal the fine.

$75 Fine for Speeding.

Arthur H. Feder, 5200 North Twentieth street, was given his choice of a $75 fine or 10 days in the Workhouse by Police Judge Beck today for driving his automobile at 50 miles an hour on West Florissant avenue between Pope avenue and Union boulevard. He will appeal.

In announcing the sentence, Judge Beck explained that the new policy of giving traffic ordinance violators their choice between fines and Workhouse sentences, was for the purpose of making an impression on them. Formerly, if the person was unable to pay a fine, he was committed to the Workhouse where he served it out at the rate of $3 per day.

Judge Beck's Policy.

Judge Beck explained that he attempted to assess fines proportionate to the person's earning capacity, and that he did not wish to send young men to the workhouse, because of the environment.

"With business men it is different," he explained. "When they are able to pay a stiff fine, that is what they are going to get. If they don't want to pay it they can serve it out in the workhouse."

Feder was arrested at 2:30 a. m. yesterday by Detectives Frericko and Brennan. Feder protested that he was driving west and that there were no traffic intersections on his side of the street. He was taking two nieces home after a visit and feared robbers, having been held up before, he said.

A fine of $125 and costs was assessed against George Abeln of 4429 Delor street, this morning by Police Judge Beck, for failing to stop at the signal of an automatic traffic guide at Twenty-first street and Washington avenue, at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

Abeln was seen to disregard the signal by Traffic Officer Klasing, who whistled and directed him to stop. Abeln continued. Klasing fired a shot, commandeered an automobile and overtook Abeln.

KOMAR 'MAN WITH MONEY AND NERVE' TO THE GAMBLERS

Defaulting Official Was Known as 'Maplewood George' at Tony Foley's and Other Resorts.

SYMPATHY FOR HIM AMONG TOWNFOLKS

Even His Friends, However, Agree With Embezzler of $10,000 That He'll Have to 'Take His Medicine.'

Though George D. Komar, former City Clerk and Collector of Maplewood, took $10,000 or more of the town's funds for gambling, no voice of denunciation seems to have been raised against him there. Sympathy, instead, is offered, but even his friends agree with him that he will have to "take his medicine."

Maplewood residents are still marvelling at the news that came early in the week, that George Komar was an embezzler and a gambler. Some of them hardly believe his own free admission of it, which led to his surrender in Detroit last Sunday.

To the town George Komar was the courteous, punctual and efficient Clerk and Collector, who held his appointive office under administrations of marked differences. To the habitues of the dice tables at Tony Foley's, "Belvedere Joe's" and "No Coat George's," he was "Maplewood George," the "old boy from the suburbs" with a handy source of cash somewhere and the nerve to keep the bones rolling in face of heavy losses.

Would Testify Against Gamblers.

By day City Collector Komar was busy at his desk and books in Maplewood's city hall. By night, as "Maplewood George," he was leaning feverishly over the felt tables. Now he is in Clayton jail, awaiting bond, and says he will testify against the operators of the gambling games, to save others from his downfall.

The present administration of Maplewood, comprising the Mayor and two commissioners, has gained and held office on the outspoken platform of reform and law enforcement, but Komar did not go about in the campaign with dissertations on this topic in support of the men who gave him his job. The statements he has made since his surrender have been typical of those made by good men gone wrong since time immemorial—he realized his mistake too late.

Up to yesterday the audit of Komar's books showed a shortage of $10,650, Mayor Burks said. Komar has declared that he took $10,000 or more, mostly during the last year, but some in the previous year, after a man of whom he spoke as a friend had introduced him to gambling. He thought he could beat the game. He disappeared April 18, two days before the annual audit was to begin.

At 7:45 a. m., Monday, April 20, a man visited the city hall for an automobile license. "Where's the city clerk?" he asked Chief of Police Caldwell. "Just watch the front door; he'll walk in about two minutes to 8," the Chief replied; "he always comes then."

Then the Auditors Arrived.

But for the first time in eight years on the job, Clerk Komar failed to appear. "He had always been so regular that you could tell time by his movements," the Chief said. Instead, the auditors came, and within a few days they notified the Mayor that there were irregularities in Komar's books.

Before April 20 hardly any one in Maplewood, unless it was a close associate or two, had any idea that Komar was a gambler. Some rumors of this started a few months ago, quietly. No sooner had his disappearance become known than reports about his visits to the gambling houses were spread covertly. True it was that he played pool and bowled to some extent, and some said he would risk a few dollars on such games, but not in a plunging spirit. Friends said he was not a particularly good pool player or bowler. For that matter, he found himself a failure with dice, even if he did get a little bit ahead at first.

Komar has been unusually devoted to his aged parents. It was town talk that he had consecrated his life to them. Fifty-three years old, he has remained single, and his friends believe he did so for his parents' benefit. One of his first impulsive statements upon surrendering at Detroit was: "Things might have been different if I had had a wife."

DRIVER OF AUTO THAT KILLED BLIND LAWYER ARRESTED

Charles Pfeiffer, 3320 Iowa Avenue, a Salesman, Admits Running Down Francis Baumann.

SURRENDERS AFTER LICENSE IS TRACED

Says He Did Not See Victim in Time to Stop—Later Given Release on Bond of $10,000.

Traced through the license number of his automobile, Charles Pfeifer, a salesman of 3320 Iowa avenue, and a brother of Justice of the Peace Harry Pfeifer, was arrested shortly after 1 p. m. today for the death of Francis C. Baumann, 26-year-old blind attorney, who was fatally injured while crossing Grand boulevard atf Shenandoah avenue last midnight.

A few minutes after his arrest, Pfeifer was released on a $10,000 bond approved by the Coroner. He was taken into custody at the Magnolia Avenue Station when he appeared there after being informed by relatives that the police were seeking him. He admitted running Baumann down, declaring he did not see the man in time to stop. He fled from the scene, he said, because he was excited, but before doing so give the license number of his machine to a bystander. It was this number, supplied to the police by O. D. Smith of 4364 Delmar boulevard, driver for a baking concern, that set the officers on Pfeifer's trail.

Police Visited Home.

When the police visited his home this morning they were told he had been absent all night and his whereabouts were not known. He is 39 years old and unmarried.

Baumann was found unconscious in the street a moment after the accident by two negroes who were driving north in Grand behind Pfeifer's car. They rushed him to the nearby Missouri Pacific Hospital, but he died of a fractured skull at 1:45 a. m. without regaining consciousness. His death was the sixtieth of the year from motor vehicle accidents and the sixth fatal accident in which the driver feloniously fled from the scene.

Negroes Saw Accident.

The negroes, Dr. Field Blevins of 4339 Cook avenue, and C. E. Shaw of 4234 Wese Belle place, said they did not see him struck, but believed he had been hit by a new Ford coupe, the only other car in sight, which passed them a shortd istance from the scene, speeding north in Grand. This new Ford proved to be Pfeifer's.

Baumann, who resided with his mother, Miss Lena Baumann, at 1800 Wagoner place, was returning home alone from a visit at the home of a friend and was crossing from the west to the east side of Grand when struck. He was found near the east curb 20 feet sotuh of the Shenandoah intersection.

The young attorney had been totally blind since illness robbed him of his sight at the age of 6, and for two years had been practicing law with offices in the Times building. He was accustomed to making his way about the streets alone and frequently refused the offers of other pedestrians to aid him. He was greatly annoyed, however, by the clatter of noisy machines and recently remarked to an acquaintance that this might mean the death of him because it rendered him unable to detect the approach of other cars which he was ordinarily able to do with ease through his unusually acute sense of hearing.

Studied at St. Louis U.

After his graduation from the public schools, Baumann made a brilliant record as a student at the Missouri School for the Blind, and although he was forced to discontinue his studies for a time in 1918 because of illness, was able to qualify for entrance into the law school of St. Louis University. Afters three years' study there, during which he used the Braille system and was assisted by a tutor who read to him from text books, he passed the State bar examination in 1922. He started practice soon afterward.

Besides his mother, he is survived by two brothers, Oliver and Bernard, and three sisters, Rose, Ann and Marie Baumann.

DILLON INQUIRY MADE BY INSURANCE FIRM

Private Detective Agency Retained to Determine Whether Case Was Murder or Suicide

An insurance company has retained a private detective agency to investigate the circumstances of Dr. William A. Dillon's death, to determine, for its satisfaction, whether is was a murder or suicide, before tendering payment on a $5,000 accident and health policy.

When Dr. Dillon's body was found last Friday morning in the stadium at Washington University, it was apparent the physician had been murdered. Although police and county authorities have made virtually no progress in their investigation, they are convinced, as has been told, that a woman figured in the case and that the motive was jealousy.

Last Tuesday, after the funeral, Dr. Dillon's relatives stated that he carried three accident and health policies, each for $5000. One policy had been in effect three years, a second was obtained last December, and the third was issued April 22 last, eight days before the doctor was found shot. The beneficiary is the doctor's 19-year-old son, Edward G. Dillon, who was in Lawrence, Kan., when notified of his father's death. The son has been attending Kansas University.

Girl's Cigarette Starts Forest Fire.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 21.—Longing for a smoke while walking recently through the pine woods of Tegeler, near this city, two young girls started a fire that consumed 20 acres of fine timber in two hours. A lighted cigarette end, carelessly cast aside, ignited the dry pine needles. The girls tried to put out the fire, but could not, and then gave the alarm, but it was too late. They are now in jail, and will be sued for the loss of the forest.

RUM BLOCKADE COMPLETE, AND LIQUOR PRICES ARE SOARING

Craft Are Unable to Replenish Food or Water Supplies Because of Close Blockade.

FOUR NEW LIQUOR CARRIERS ARRIVE

Their Captains Had Not Heard of Coast Guard Campaign, but Patrols Watch Them.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 8.—A photographer for the New York World reviewed the Government's rum blockade by airplane yesterday—thus finding out why the price of liquor is going up.

The blockade, now on its fourth day, is everything the coast guard has claimed for it. Unable to land their cargoes, or to replenish food and water supplies because the rum chasers are patiently watching them, the harassed liquor admirals are weighing anchor and departing to more friendly waters.

The few that are left along the once pepulous rum rows are prevented from starting for distant home ports by lack of water, it was said.

For this reason Capt. W. V. E. Jacobs, commander of the coast guard armada which is operating from Montauk to Atlantic City, is expecting some white flags to be hoisted.

At last bootleggers are taking the blockake seriously, as is indicated by the fact that Scotch whisky has almost doubled in price. So many disgusted captains of rum ships have sailed away that there are two or three coast guard chasers available to guard each one remaining.

Two Rum Ships Sighted.

In an hour and a half of flying, the airplane search revealed only two rum ships, one a beautiful two-masted schooner lying 32 miles south of Patchogue. A dozen men lolled around her deck and three coast guard chasers circled around her.

In a zigzag flight, the plane minutely covered an area of water for 15 or 20 miles east and west and worked down about 35 miles south of Patchogue.

Earlier in the day a reporter for the Evening World searched an area of 100 miles in a plane, flying between Ambrose light ship and Fire Island, 30 miles south of Long Island. He sighted four two-masted schooners and one tramp steamer. Beside each lay two 75-footers of the coast guard.

Photographer on One Boat That Ran Blockade.

By the Associated Press.

The New York American today prints an illustrated story of the successful running of the rum blockade.

The story says: "A photographer rode breathless in the bottom of a boat amidst 110 cases of labeled liquor taken from a rum pirater and plowed through the water shoreward from the 25-mile limit."

Other newspapers, telling of the supply of liquor rapidly decreasing and predicting prices of $75 a case wholesale, say that bootleggers ashore are praying for storms to scatter the 100 boats of the dry navy and let smugglers slip through.

New patrol boats with fresh crews are ready to relieve those on duty, it is announced by the coast guard, and 500 additional seamen are being recruited.

Dispatches from Canada say that Dominion officials are much interested in suggestions that the blockade may extend to the Great Lakes. Though no official views have been made known, some commentators say such a blockade might lead to complications.

The destroyer Cunningham returned to her base from the blockade zone yesterday to report that four new contraband carriers had joined the line of beleaguered ships. Towering above the others, was a big German steamer from Hamburg. All presumably had come unaware of the blockade and were drawn into the Government's net before their captains could be warned.

Their anchor chains hadn't finished their clatter through the hawse holes before 18 patrol boats, held in reserve for just such an

RAID ON GANG LAIR BARES WORKINGS OF UNDERWORLD

LICENSE PLATES OF STOLEN CARS FOUND

Some Had Been on Machine Used in Holdup of Old Orchard Bank at Webster Groves.

Revisiting a house at Carsonville last night, where men were arrested Wednesday in the investigation of the $1700 Old Orchard State Bank robbery that morning, city detectives recovered the license plates of the stolen automobile used in that robbery and of another stolen car, and found an enlightening letter on the workings of the underworld.

The house was the headquarters of Charles Heuer, former convict and aspirant for the gang leadership vacated when "Dinty" Colbeck and his fellow Egan gangsters were sent to prison. Money found on Heuer, who was arrested at the house, was identified as part of the bank loot. The letter was addressed to him, dated March 10, and signed "Bo," apparently by a convict at Jefferson City prison.

Asked Heuer to "Fix" Case.

It asked Heuer to "fix" the case of Donald Maher, 24 years old, who, with another man, was charged with the robbery of Terrence O'Hara, a Yellow Cab chauffeur of 1354 Academy avenue. Later O'Hara refused to identify Maher, and Maher, who had been released from a term for robbery at Jefferson City only recently, was discharged. Maher and Walter Thorworst were arrested in the vicinity on O'Hara's identification after the chauffeur had been robbed. Obtaining a robbery warrant against them, O'Hara identified them before Assistant Circuit Attorney Fish.

"You remember Don Maher," said the letter to Heuer. "He's had some bad luck since he's been released and is scared of a rap (identification) for robbery. His rapper (identifier) is a chauffeur for the Yellow Cab Co., Terrence O'Hara. Now, Charlie, I believe things can be fixed up for Don if you go to Teamsters' Union local No. 600, Sixth and Carr, and ask for B—— R——.

"Hell to Come Back."

"Tell him Jake Yengst sent you and would like for him to go see R—— of the chauffeurs' union and have R——talk to O'Hara, and it wouldn't hurt any for you to see R——yourself and explain things to him about Don just getting out of here. You understand how to go about a thing like this, so do your best, for you know it's hell to have to come back to this place."

The Maher-Thorworst case was called in the Court of Criminal Correction on March 18. O'Hara, called to the stand, repudiated his identification of the defendants, saying he saw no one in the courtroom resembling the robbers. Three days after the warrant was issued, he averred, he had seen some men in a traffic jam at Grand and Olive who looked more like the robbers. This made it necessary to discharge the defendants.

Circuit Attorney Sidener said today he would inquire into the circumstances of the case.

License Plates Found.

Prodding sticks into a well at the Carsonville house, the detectives last night recovered there the license plates of the Hudson speedster belonging to C. E. Farrington of 1231 Hamilton avenue, which was used in the Old Orchard bank robbery, having been stolen a few hours before from the Plymouth Garage, 5909 Plymouth avenue.

They also recovered the plates of the Buick sedan of Berthold Schweitzer of 1246 Amherst place, which was stolen six hours before the Hudson was taken, from the Hodiamont Garage, 1258 Hodiamont avenue, and abandoned in University City, with a bullet hole in the cowl. The police had concluded that the Buick was taken for use in the bank robbery, but had to be abandoned, whereupon the Hudson was taken.

Apparently the same three men stole both cars. Two of the men arrested at the Carsonville house, Roy Stone and Jack Rosenbaum, have been charged in warrants with the theft of the Hudson, having been identified by the negro garage watchman.

Identified as Robber.

Arrested with Heuer was John P. Walker, a four-time ex-convict, who has been identified as one of the robbers seen leaving the Old Orchard bank. He also carried money identified as part of the loot.

Yesterday a negro found in an alley at the rear of 3523 University street a cloth bag containing a bank book and deposit slip which

BANKRUPTCY PETITION FILED AGAINST $17,000,000 CONCERN

Three Creditors Allege the American Sumatra Tobacco Co. Made Preferential Payments.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The American Sumatra Tobacco Co., a $17,000,000 concern, was declared to be insolvent in a petition in bankruptcy filed against the company in Federal Court today by three creditor concerns. The tobacco firm was placed in equity receivership Thursday.

The petitioning concerns in asking for appointment of a receiver in bankruptcy, said the tobacco company had made preferential payments while insolvent within the past four months, thus committing acts of bankruptcy. The firms filing the petition are Percival L. Lowe, Inc., claiming $219 in unpaid commissions, Neur & Hoffman, Inc., claiming $353 due for merchandise and the H. D. Seman Co., with a claim of $7326.

The petitioners for equity receivership Thursday did not indicate that the company was in any financial difficulty other than the lack of liquid assets with which to meet current obligations, including $600,000 to harvest this year's crop of tobacco. An official statement issued on behalf of the company, after the equity receivership, was optimistic in tone.

FISELE ACQUITTED AS INSANE WHEN HE KILLED PAPPAS

Jury Finds Slayer Who Stabbed Man for Marrying His Sister Is Sane at Present.

A jury in Circuit Judge Taylor's court yesterday afternoon concluded that Paul Fisele, 22 years old, of 1912 La Salle street, was insane when he killed William Pappas, a restaurant manager, but sane at present, and acquitted nim of a charge of murder.

The verdict was reached after the jury had deliberated one hour and 45 minutes. Fisele was found to have been insane when he stabbed and killed Pappas on Nov. 9 last, on the fifth ballot, and on a later ballot the jury found him to be sane now.

After the verdict was made known Fisele shook hands with each of the jurors and left the courtroom with his mother, Mrs. Diamond Fisele, who had testified that her son "acted like a wild man" after killing Pappas.

Death Penalty Asked.

The jury was instructed by Judge Taylor on findings of first and second degree murder verdicts, and also was informed by Judge Taylor that if they believed Fisele insane at the time of the killing and still insane, they had the power to incarcerate him in the City Sanitarium until pronounced cured.

The State asked the death penalty against Fisele, while defense counsel asked that Fisele be acquitted on the grounds that he was insane when he killed Pappas, but sane at present.

Testimony at the trial, which began Wednesday, was confined largely to the question of Fisele's sanity. Through several witnesses, including Dr. M. W. Hoge, an alienist, the State attempted to show that the acts of Fisele immediately before and after he killed Pappas were those of a normal person.

Three neurologists testified for the defense that Fisele seemed of unsound mind when they examined him after he killed Pappas. Other physicians told of the trait of insanity prevalent in the Fisele family, relating that Paul's sister, Helen, 19, whose marriage to Pappas provoked the killing, and a brother, Adam, are at present confined in St. Vincent's Sanitarium because of mental trouble.

Stabbed Victim 9 Times.

Capt. Frank Nally of Carr Street District, where the killing occurred, supported the defense contention of insanity in his testimony that he sent Fisele to the city hospital for observation because of his "strange actions."

Testimony as to the killing of Pappas, which was not denied by Fisele, showed that Pappas was stabbed nine times as he ran from Fisele and once after he fell to the sidewalk at Fourteenth and Morgan streets. It was also shown by the State that Fisele had been searching for Pappas since Pappas married Helen Fisele three days prior to the killing.

Thomas B. Harvey, former Circuit Attorney, and William Baer represented Fisele. Assistant Circuit Attorney Bowcock prosecuted the case.

"INZZIE" or "ROVER"? DOG'S TAIL WAGGING DECIDES IT IN COURT

Shaggy Cur Answers One As Joyously as Other But Negro Has Most Witnesses.

No man may serve two masters, but the shaggy brown dog of heterogenous parentage that was the object of controversy in Justice of the Peace Brady's Court in East St. Louis yesterday was not disposed to be so discriminating and worked on the principle of first come first served.

The plaintiff, Henry Lindsey, a negro, took oath that the dog's name was Rover and had been given to him by Miss Lizzie Scott last August. It had disappeared from his yard several weeks ago.

"Rover" was introduced to the Court. Apparently he needed no introduction to Lindsey, for when the latter addressed him affectionately as "Rover, old boy," he responded with an astonishing show of tail wagging and short happy barks. Lindsey looked at the Judge triumphantly.

Then the defendant, Miss Mary Tatum, took the stand. "Rover," she said deprecatingly. "Rover, nothing! That dog's name is Inzzie. Fanny Mayweather gave him to me when he was a pup. Then he disappeared and I found him in Lindsey's back yard. Come here to me Inzzie!"

"Inzzie" went to her. He advanced, fairly wriggling with joy. Now Miss Tatum was the one to look triumphant.

Then the witnesses were put on the stand. Five of them nodded knowingly. "Inzzie," they said. The dog had to be restrained from going to each in turn. Miss Tatum beamed. But eight witnesses for Lindsey took the stand. "Rover," they stated firmly. The dog barked enthusiastically.

Judge Brady weighed the evidence. "Rover," he announced judicially.

LIQUOR PRICES GO UP AS RUM SHIPS RETREAT

patrol boats attached themselves to each of the liquor carriers and settled down to the business of keeping them isolated from the shore.

Five More Indictments.

Investigation of liquor smuggling activities on Long Island which already has resulted in the indictment of five men, yesterday resulted in five more indictments by the Federal grand jury in Brooklyn for conspiracy to violate the Volstead act and for bribery.

They center around revelations made on April 11 when a group of alleged bootleggers fought a skirmish at Riverhead over a cache of liquor valued at $250,000. William Delmadge, a former State trooper, alleged to have been with the liquor robbers, was wounded in the fight.

Four of the indictments were against the alleged owners of the liquor. One of them, Capt. Walker, is known as the American representative of a big British syndicate of rum runners.

Some Coast Guardsmen, Fearing Danger, Threaten to Resign.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—In the last three weeks a dozen incidents have been reported to coast guard headquarters which indicate that it is the intention of runners and their land conspirators to use bullets on coast guardsmen wherever they are found. Some of the guardsmen are threatening to resign because of the hazard faced by their families on shore when they are absent on duty.

Confidential reports tell of the kidnaping of one man at Atlantic City, the ambushing of a cutter off Montauk Point, the receipt of threatening letters by headquarters here and by guardsmen at New London, Conn., and Bay Shore, and the passing out of word that rum agents must "get the guardsmen stationed at Narragansett Bay.

Boatswain Gustafson of the patrol C.G.237 was shot and killed from ambush two weeks ago off Block Island, New London. Threats previously had been made against his life. Officials here believe the patrol of which he was in charge was decoyed by a rum runner on the fatal trip, and led past another rum runner which opened up a salvo of machine gun fire from ambush. Two others of the crew received various wounds.

NEW TREATMENT FOR BLOOD PRESSURE

Physician Tells of Results Obtained by Injection of Liver Extracts.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TORONTO, Ont., May 8.—A revolutionary treatment for high blood pressure has been described by its discoverer, Dr. W. J. McDonald, of St. Catharines, Ont., to the Ontario Medical Association here.

It consists, he said yesterday, of extracts of the liver, and in the 33 clinical cases already treated an average reduction of systolic blood pressure of no less than 62 millimeters has been effected, while the average reduction in diatolic blood pressure was 28 millimeters.

In 32 of the 33 cases, Dr. McDonald said, the treatment was successful in reducing blood pressure. On the average the 33 cases had been known to be subject to blood pressure for six years. In every case but one, the condition yielded to the treatment. In each case it was brought down approximately to normal.

The treatment is by injection by means of a hypodermic syringe, he said the extract was administered once a day, until pressure was reduced and then two or three times a week.

"In cases wehere the pressure was reduced to normal, and all treatment was stopped," he said, "the pressures slowly went back, but rarely to the former level. When treatment is resumed the pressure comes down in less time and with a smaller dose. We have patients whose pressures have been running for years over 200 and which are now being kept under 150 with one dose a week."

The ages of the 33 subjects ranged from 45 to 67, the average being 61. The average range of systolic pressure (pressure when the heart contracts sending the blood out) before injection was 204 millimeters. The average systolic pressure after injection was 142.

M'CUTCHEON MUST APPEAR

CLINTON, Mo., May 8.—M. Lyons, St. Louis attorney, and J. Keegan, bondsman, appeared in Circuit Court this morning and Lyons gave testimony concerning his ability to give bond for J. B. McCutchan of St. Louis, indicted in connection with the Ladue Bank failure.

Prosecuting Attorney Wesner took the ground that, unless McCutchan was produced in court bond could not be passed on, and his attitude was sustained by Circuit Judge Calvird.

Fraud Order Issued By Postoffice Officials Against "Money Locater"

Inspector Who Bought St. Louisan's Device Found it Was a Failure After Testing It.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Postoffice officials have decided that T. J. Burchard, 5617 Page boulevard, St. Louis, was not acting in good faith when he offered to a money-mad world a "wonder locator," which he claimed would locate buried treasure. Accordingly, Postmasters at St. Louis and Chicago were notified today that a fraud order had been issued against the Trace Research Society, of which Burchard is secretary and general factotum, for "conducting a scheme for obtaining money through the mail by means of false and fraudulent pretenses, representations and promises."

This was done in spite of testimonials Burchard presented to the department to show that his "locator" had actually located $50,000 down in Arkansas, although the discoverer said he was waiting for warm weather before he started to dig.

Filed Written Answer.

Burchard did not appear, nor was he represented by an attorney at the hearing last Tuesday, when he had an opportunity to argue why a fraud order should not be issued. He did, however, file a written answer to the charges and submitted a number of testimonials.

Burchard's advertisements and circular gave a complete modus operandi for "gold-digging"—that is to say, for locating buried treasure.

In a circular letter headed "how and when to dig for buried treasure," the customer was instructed as follows:

"If you are an 'old-timer' at the gold digging business, there may be a few of the following rules that you may not fully understand why they should be followed, but to obtain the quickest results, which you want, they must be followed.

"First of all, the proper time to locate your treasure is in the 'light of the moon'—between the new moon and full moon. At this particular time the currents of electricity travel at a greater ease through the ground.

Damp Weather a Handicap.

"Damp weather is also a great handicap in trying to locate the treasure. It is advisable, if possible, to select a time when the ground is rather dry.

"Strict silence must be maintained at all times while you are trying to locate the treasure. At no time should anyone speak. Vocal vibrations greatly disturb the currents and make it very hard to get directly to the source.

"Now, when starting to dig for your treasure, be sure and start the hole large enough so it won't handicap you after you have dug three or four feet.

"Following these few simple rules, we can safely say that you will, without doubt, be successful in your undertaking."

In a printed sheet of "instructions for use" Burchard impressed upon the customers not to allow their "subconscious" mind to affect the instrument. By so doing, he said, it would be "very easy" to make the instrument sway in the direction the purchaser thought it ought to go, and perhaps quite contrary to the instrument's own inclination. This, he said, would result in "only kidding yourself" and meant a lot of unnecessary hard work.

How to Find Treasure.

In an advertisement, Burchard said his instrument was the product of years of research, that it had been tested in every conceivable manner and proved an absolute success. He described it as being 8 inches high and 3½ inches wide, which made it "very easily carried and handled while on treasure-seeking trips." He stated that "this instrument will not be attracted by any metal other than gold or silver."

The actual locating of the treasure should be in a leisurely manner; in fact, Burchard advised that it could be done sitting down. Below is the simple procedure:

"Find some place nea rthe supposed 'spot' where you can be comfortably seated. Then, with your elbows resting on your knees, hold the end of the chain, the ring, in your hands and let the instrument hang down between your knees.

"As soon as you steady the instrument, note very carefully in which direction it swings.

"Now, after getting the exact direction of this swinging, move 20 feet or more to either side and go through the same operation, noting carefully in which direction it swings this time.

"Now, where these two lines of direction cross or meet is the place where the money is buried.

Submits Testimonials.

"To find the exact spot and to assure you that you have not made a mistake in your calculation, just hold the instrument over the place where the two lines cross, and if this is the right spot the instrument will immediately start swinging in a circular movement."

Among the testimonials submitted by Burchard with his answer is one, dated Feb. 21, last, from a point in Arkansas, reading as follows:

"I received your letter of the 20th and was glad to hear from you. I have tried my wonder locater and have located $50,000 and am perfectly satisfied with it. I haven't dug any yet but am going to when it gets warmer. . . . I wouldn't take $50 for my wonder locater. . . . Please let me speak a good word to the people for the locater. People, it is the finest thing you ever bought to locate buried treasures. I guarantee it to work. My friend, I will order one of the machines as quick as I can get the money. I haven't it at the present. I will try to send the $32 the first of March."

SAYS WILMAS USED FIST ON CONSTABLE

Man Arrested by Deputy Declares Sheriff Upbraided Officer for Using Jail.

Jules Overbeck, a Deputy Constable of Central Township, St. Louis County, was struck twice in the face and admonished by Sheriff Wilmas last night when he took George Jackson, of 6828 Corbett avenue, to the Sheriff's office to have him placed in jail, according to a statement made to reporters today by Jackson.

It is the custom, as well as the law, for all prisoners arrested by county officers to be taken to the county jail. Overbeck, Jackson said, took him to the Sheriff's office at 10:30 o'clock last night, and had searched him and was putting his name on the jail docket in the usual manner when Wilmas entered.

"Get Jail of Your Own."

"Why do you bring them here? I'm tired of having you Deputy Constables use my jail. Why don't you get one of your own," Wilmas told Overbeck, Jackson said.

When Overbeck did not answer, Wilmas struck the deputy in the face, Jackson told reporters. Jackson said Overbeck then led him to the door, followed by Wilmas, who struck him again. Wilmas left the Courthouse and Jackson was then placed in jail.

Overbeck reported the affair to Constable George Roth of Central Township, who went immediately to the Sheriff's office with his chief deputy, MacFarland, and remonstrated with Wilmas. Then, according to MacFarland, Wilmas took off his coat and offered to fight Roth. MacFarland says that he prevailed upon Roth to leave the office and avoid a fight, which he said Roth did unwillingly. Roth had no comment today other than that he intended to take legal action against Wilmas.

Overbeck's Version of Affair.

Overbeck told reporters he was accompanied to the Sheriff's office by Deputy Constable Marion, and that they had stopped at the door of the office to question Jackson, when Chief Deputy Sheriff Dodd called to them not to stand there and attempt to "fix" the case. They then entered the office, according to Overbeck, and were accosted by Wilmas, who, he says, asked the same question put to them by Dodd. Overbeck says Wilmas struck him in the face and pushed him out of the office.

Dodd told reporters that the Deputy Constables stood talking to the prisoner instead of having his name entered on the docket, and that he had remonstrated with them. He says that Overbeck "talked back" to him and to Wilmas, but that he did not see Wilmas strike Overbeck.

Sheriff Wilmas today denied he struck Overbeck. "I engaged in an argument with Overbeck because of his delay in booking Jackson but I did not hit Overbeck," Wilmas declared.

COURT TO PASS ON QUESTION OF WHO OWNS CHURCH

Early Struggles of B'Nai Abraham Congregation to Be Told Again in Suit Against "Donators."

GOVERNMENT HAS LIEN ON PROPERTY

Sam Arky and Wife Sole Defendants After Action Is Dismissed as to Three Other Founders.

"It takes us great pleasure," wrote the secretary of B'Nai Abraham Congregation, "to announce that this congregation after all the struggles we had, by starting with no capital at all, is rapidly progressing, and we hope and trust we shall be able to show more results in a short time. We have 52 members."

It was a case of rejoicing. Had not the faithful few for more than a year, sometimes hopelessly, been engaged in raising finances, their efforts finally rewarded with the raising of the purchase price of the property at 1218 Glasgow avenue? And through the foresight of their members, Samuel Arky, Meyer Cummins, Israel Romansky and M. Morris, who had purchased the property and formed the nucleus of the congregation.

So it was that a month later a member presented a motion, which was unanimously carried, that a marble tablet be set up in the synagogue with the names of the "donators." It is of record that a festival of celebration was carried out, at which members donated 12 cases of beer and two gallons of whisky.

Case to Reach Court.

But much water has passed under the wheel since those roseate pre-Volstead days of 1918. All went serenely until September, 1923, when the officers discovered that title had not been conveyed. Suit was brought against the "donators." And next Tuesday, in Circuit Court, the story of the church's early struggles, its purchase and execution of mortgages will be unfolded in an effort to find who is the owner of the property.

Not that Sam Arky of 2915 Dayton street, former commission merchant and professional bondsman until the October grand jury took exception to the property valuations he listed—one of which was the church—is averse to seeing the title cleared up. He and his wife are now the sole defendants, the suit having been dismissed as to the other three. But there is a matter of some $3500, which he claims he has advanced in the various payments of the mortgages and he seeks to be reimbursed.

In the transactions, which have marked the church's financial history, attorneys for both sides have examined the minute books of the meetings of the congregation. These presented a mass of figures and a tangle of explanations. They were turned over to a professional auditing company. Its accountants made up a statement for the first two years and quit. The balance of the record was in Yiddish.

Entries in Record.

True, there is an entry of September, 1923, that "M. Cummins bids the congregation goodby because he leaves the city and promises to offer his services although he is far away." If not too far away he can perhaps be of service to the accountants, they say.

Nor were they particularly aided by an entry that "M. Yokavitz handed in his resignation because he would not be permitted to screw benches on the floor. Paid, $2.60 bill."

Further confusing is the notation that "Sam Arky donates an auto for raffle. Accepted with thanks for it is to be included in the money advances Arkyp made."

In the midst of one business session I. Marcus presented charges against President Blumhoff of the congregation. A trial was had, the charges were withdrawn and settled, "both parties stepping forward and shaking hands and the affair was closed to the satisfaction of all parties, each of the two parties giving one gallon of whisky to the next festival."

Arky contends he loaned the congregation $1000 at the time of the purchase, advanced $800 more, paid a note for $200, which the church president had made, and made sundry other advances.

Claim Against Church.

But there appear further troubles ahead before the title to the property can be quieted. It will be recalled that Arky was assessed an income tax of $49,000 for the years 1917, 1918 and 1919. This was for alleged profits on his commission business during those years. But Arky set up the claim that he made no profits, that he had lost all his money in other ventures.

So the Government remitted the tax. All was well until Arky went into the professional bonding business. When the grand jury made

The balance of the record was in Yiddish.

Entries in Record.

True, there is an entry of September, 1923, that "M. Cummins bids the congregation goodby because he leaves the city and promises to offer his services although he is far away." If not too far away he can perhaps be of service to the accountants, they say.

Nor were they particularly aided by an entry that "M. Yokavitz handed in his resignation because he would not be permitted to screw benches on the floor. Paid, $2.60 bill."

Further confusing is the notation that "Sam Arky donates an auto for raffle. Accepted with thanks for it is to be included in the money advances Arkyp made."

In the midst of one business session I. Marcus presented charges against President Blumhoff of the congregation. A trial was had, the charges were withdrawn and settled, "both parties stepping forward and shaking hands and the affair was closed to the satisfaction of all parties, each of the two parties giving one gallon of whisky to the next festival."

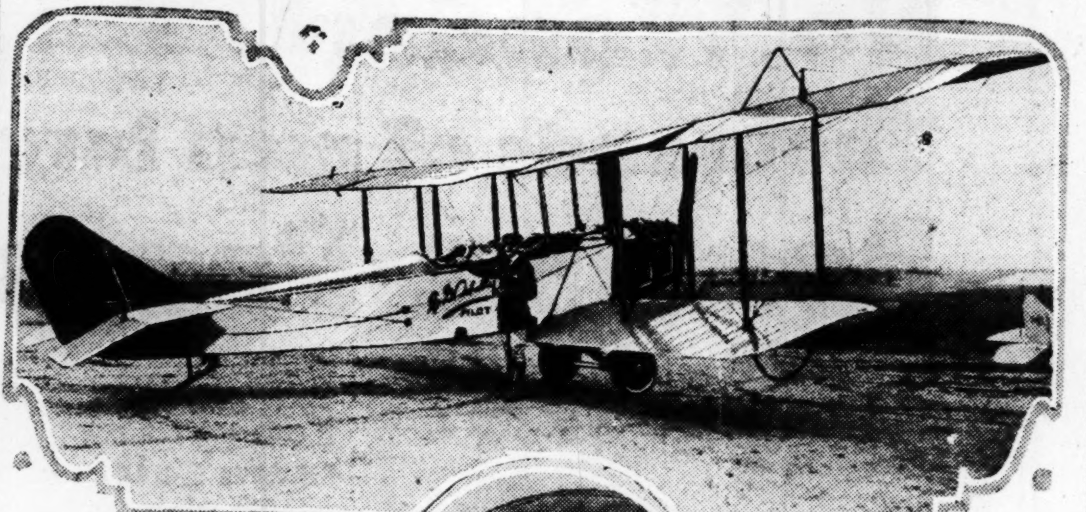
Arky contends he loaned the congregation $1000 at the time of the purchase, advanced $800 more, paid a note for $300, which the church president had made, and made sundry other advances.

Claim Against Church.

But there appear further troubles ahead before the title to the property can be quieted. It will be recalled that Arky was assessed an income tax of $49,000 for the years 1917, 1918 and 1919. This was for alleged profits on his commission business during those years. But Arky set up the claim that he made no profits, that he had lost all his money in other ventures.

So the Government remitted the tax. All was well until Arky went into the professional bonding business. When the grand jury made its investigation last fall it was disclosed that Arky set himself out to be worth $40,000. The Government immediately reinstated its claim. It issued liens against the property listed — including the church.

St. Louis' Flying Salesman Says Plane Is Practical for Use in Business



C. G. Schelly Learned How to Handle Stick in Four Hours' Instruction—Has Made an Average of Two Trips Weekly Since Last November.

C. G. Schelly and (above) his airplane in which he flies from St. Louis to Missouri and Illinois towns on business trips.

"An airplane is a swift, economical and safe method of transportation for business uses over an extensive territory," declares C. G. Schelly, president of the Reliance Engraving Co., 701 Lucas avenue, St. Louis' first "flying business man," who has recompleted his first 5000 miles of business travel by plane.

Schelly's claim to being the first St. Louis business representative to regularly follow the air route in the pursuit of out-of-town orders is undisputed. Last month Harold M. Bixby, vice president of the State National Bank, announced he had purchased an airplane for business trips. Bixby is not a pilot and retained O. E. Scott, field manager at Lambert-St. Louis Field, to operate his plane.

Schelly's career as a "flying salesman" began last September, when, without previous flying experience, he went to Maj. William Robertson, president of the Robertson Aircraft Corporation, at Bridgeton Field, and announced his intention of purchasing a plane, and becoming a pilot. After four hours' aerial instruction Schelly was able to handle the stick himself, and last November made his first business call by air. Since that time he has made an average of two trips weekly to Missouri and Illinois towns, traveling a total of 5000 miles.

Fast Time on Trips.

"I feel that I have demonstrated that an airplane is a practical means of calling on out-of-town trade," he told a Post-Dispatch reporter today. "The upkeep of my plane has been less than that of either of my automobiles for the same period. My gasoline consumption has averaged 8 miles per gallon, and the only major repair expenditure has been $15 for a new propeller to replace the original 'prop,' which I broke in making a forced landing. As an example of the time I save by using my plane, instead of riding trains, I have made the round trip to Cape Girardeau in a little more than three hours. The one-way trip by train requires four hours and 15 minutes."

Learning to fly is no trick, in Schelly's opinion. "I had no aviation experience when I placed myself under the instruction of Maj. Robertson," he said. "I followed instructions and learned how to handle a ship in a jiffy. The danger of flying is slight, too, in my opinion. I have had but one accident, the time I broke the propeller, and that did not amount to anything. The big need of aviation today is not better or safe planes, but better and more serviceable flying fields. I hope the day comes when every town has its flying field and all traveling salesmen put their sample cases in airplanes and hop from town to town at 100-miles-an-hour speed."

Others Follow Example.

In addition to using his plane for business trips, Schelly takes his friends on Sunday "joy rides" over St. Louis County. He intends to fly to Ozark fishing resorts over week-ends during the summer, and also plans a trip to his former home in Canada.

Several other young St. Louis business men have followed Schelly's example, according to Maj. Robertson, who has 11 pupils under instruction. The Robertson Corporation, started by William and Frank Robertson, army flyers, in 1921 with one plane, now has a stock of 375 complete airplanes. The concern has sold 43 planes since Jan. 1.

KOMAR "MAN WITH MONEY AND NERVE" TO THE GAMBLERS

Komar received was none too much to maintain the little flat at 7413 Hazel avenue, opposite the street car loop, and pay the doctor and medicine bills for his feeble mother. He would leave his official duties at a City Council meeting to care for her, if she telephoned; he would even leave a friendly card game of an evening long enough to run home and administer her medicine. When she died March 31, it was a blow to him. His father, Anthony, is 82 years old.

George Komar was not known as one who went around much at night. Few would see him coming or going on the Maplewood streets after supper. Some would see him getting ice cream for his mother at 1 or 2 a. m., and these thought he had just stepped out from home for it. He used to refuse automobile "lifts" home, intimating he did not like machines.

Liquor has not entered into Komar's trouble, for his friends say he does not drink. He is not given to excessive talk. He dresses neatly. Before appointment as City Clerk and Collector, he tried farming and previously was a train auditor for the Missouri Pacific. Maplewood, having nonpartisan government, his politics was not questioned; but he was believed to be inedpendent with Republican leanings.

In the recent campaign, former Mayor John D. Schuster, who opposed the re-election of Mayor Burks and his associates, went to Komar for figures on the town's income and expenses, and noticed there had been an increase of about $15,000 in the delinquent tax item in two years. Komar said he didn't have time to analyze the books for an explanation, but Schuster, who is one of those expressing sympathy for Komar, thinks that he unwittingly touched a sore spot in Komar's accounts.

"Folks With You," Mayor Says.

Komar told Chief of Police Caldwell yesterday that the night he left town he took a McKinley car to Springfield, Ill., to hide his trail, then a train to Chicago and the Pere Marquette line to Detroit.

Ralph Townsend, cashier of the Citizens' Bank of Maplewood, and a close friend of Komar, said he knew of no plans to help the former clerk make restitution or defend himself, but that after Komar had taken his punishment he would be the first to help him begin life anew.

However, grapevine communications in the county indicate that the gambling operators are striving to help Komar now—and help themselves, too—by inducing his silence. They are discussing the arrangement of bond and possibly even restitution. Their price is "forgetfulness" on his part of where and with whom he played dice. He told Prosecuting Attorney Mueller yesterday that he would swear to affidavits against the gambling operators and testify against them.

Maplewood officials have obtained an embezzlement warrant against Komar and expect to seek others, but Mayor Burks expressed the sentiment of the town when he told Komar yesterday: "The folks are all back of you in Maplewood; we're going to go all the way for you."

PLAZA COMMISSION APPOINTS BUILDING PLAN COMMITTEES

Suggested Layouts to Be Submitted by June 3 for Final Selection.

Signifying that it has begun to function, the Memorial Plaza Commission, through its secretary, Louis La Beaume, today notified the Board of Public Service that it had appointed the following subdivisions of its member architectural firms to handle the planning of the three plaza buildings:

Courthouse—William B. Ittner, Klipstein & Rathmann, George D. Barnett.

Municipal Auditorium — La Beaume & Klein, Helfensteller, Hirsch & Watson, Tom P. Barnett.

War veterans' memorial—Mauran, Russell & Crowell, Preston J. Bradshaw.

Studies of the suggested layout of the plaza and its buildings will be submitted by the members of the commission by June 3, in preparing to pick the final plan.

NEW PLAN OF MAYOR ON CITY ACTIVITIES

Miller, in Formal Letter, Advises Service Board and Requests Information.

Advice on various governmental subjects and requests for information are contained in a formal communication from Mayor Miller to the Board of Public Service today. The Mayor has inaugurated this plan of keeping in touch with city activities. His letter follows:

"Permit me to make the following suggestions:

"'1. That you take the necessary steps for the introduction of an ordinance giving authority to purchase the additional property necessary for the erection of the courthouse.

"'2. That you carefully go over the contract that has been entered into with the Architects' Association, and advise whether or not the Board of Public Service has the power to direct immediate action on the plans and specifications.

Wants Report on Delmar Crossing.

"'3. That you report to me, in writing, what has been done relative to starting work on the Delmar boulevard crossing.

"'4. That you reject all bids on the garbage-disposal contracts; call for new bids, and let the contract to the lowest bidder who is qualified and able to handle the matter. It seems to me that we have sufficient intelligence in St. Louis to enable the city as a municipality to handle its own garbage proposition. Other cities have been able to do so, why not St. Louis?

"'5. That you discuss ways and means as to the best manner of selecting paving for our streets. I suggest that you make arrangements for an open meeting, at which you have attend all experts you can gather; that you notify the newspapers to send representatives to this meeting, and make the necessary provisions for solving this ever-present paving problem.'"

Status of Courthouse Site.

The courthouse is a bond issue matter, the site being owned by the city now. The site is the lot where the old city hall formerly stood. Land to be acquired in connection with this is a strip of lots on Twelfth boulevard, between Market and Chestnut streets, which will provide an approach to the structure but not be a part of the site. This land is to be acquired as part of Memorial Plaza.

By "Architects' Association," Mayor Miller refers to the Memorial Plaza Commission, an official body, comprising architectural and engineering firms, which has contracted with the city to design the plaza buildings. It notified the Board of Public Service today of the start of its work.

LIFE FOR KILLING SCHOOL HEAD

Third Man Is Convicted of Murder of W. C. Wright in Georgia.

EATONTON, Ga., May 8.—S. J. Scarborough of Tampa, Fla., today was found guilty of the murder of W. C. Wright, superintendent of Putnam County schools, and was sentenced to life imprisonment. His conviction marked the third in the case. Ted Coggeshall of Clayton, Ill., and F. W. McClelland, Brockton, N. Y., Wednesday were found guilty and sentenced to be electrocuted May 29.

Scarborough confessed that he was hiking with Coggeshall and McClelland March 4, when the latter two attacked Supt. Wright. He denied that he had participated in a plot to kill the man. Wright had given the three men a ride in his automobile.

MISS MARGARET HITCHCOCK DIES IN PARIS OF PNEUMONIA

She Contracted Cold on Return Voyage From Visit to Her Sister in St. Louis.

Miss Margaret D. Hitchcock, great-great-granddaughter of Ethan Allen, Vermont revolutionist, died yesterday in Paris of pneumonia believed to have developed from a cold contracted on the return voyage from a visit to her sister, Mrs. John F. Shepley, of 53 Portland place.

Miss Hitchcock was 46 years old. She had been in St. Louis since Christmas, when she came West from a visit to her sister, the wife of Rear Admiral William S. Sims.

Her father was the late Ethan Allen Hitchcock of St. Louis, who was Minister to Russia and Secretary of the Interior. She spent most of her life abroad. Her debut was made here, and she returned here, after eight years of prominence in Washington society, when her father resigned from the Cabinet position. Following her mother's death in 1918, she resided here for a short time with her aunt, Mrs. Henry Hitchcock, before going to Paris for musical studies.

EAST ALTON PASTOR NAMED POLICEMAN IN CLEAN-UP MOVE

Rev. E. N. Mayberry to Walk Beat During Week and Preach on Sunday.

The Rev. Ernest N. Mayberry, pastor of the Zion Baptist Church of East Alton, Ill., will divide his time between the pulpit and a beat as the result of his appointment as one of the two policemen in East Alton yesterday.

The Rev. Mr. Mayberry, who was also appointed Sewer and Water Commissioner of East Alton, was made a policeman by Mayor Frank Sanders, along with Harry Haas, a liquor raider, in an effort to "clean up" the town. Mayor Sanders was elected on a clean-up program, and was strongly supported by both Rev. Mayberry and Haas. The latter was named Chief of Police, and will patrol East Alton at night. Rev. Mayberry will walk a beat in the daytime, with time off on Sundays for pulpit duty. Mayor Sanders declares he expects an exodus of bootleggers, gamblers and other law violators as a result of the appointments.

FUNERAL FOR J. H. TURNER TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Turner, the first man to run a street car during the street railway strike here in 1900, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at an undertaking establishment at 2223 South Grand boulevard with interment in Lake Charles Cemetery. Turner died of apoplexy Wednesday at St. John's Hospital at the age of 65 years.

MOTHER TESTIFIES AGAINST HER SON

Then She Makes Plea for Him, Asking Jury to Send Him to Asylum.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 8.—Mrs Bruce Shaw, a gray-haired mother with tear-stained eyes, took the witness stand as a state's witness against her own son George Shaw, accused of killing her husband, Bruce Shaw, last December with a saber.

As she concluded the story the State asked her to tell yesterday, she turned to the jury and added a plea for her son that came from the lips of the youth's father as he lay dying. She kissed the defendant as she left the witness stand sobbing.

George Shaw, war veteran, is on trial for the murder of his father, whom he killed with a saber after a quarrel. The defense is pleading insanity and the mother asked the jury to send her son to an insane asylum.

"The night of December 14" she told the jury, "I was awakended by some noise in the garage. There was a light in it and I awakened my husband. I told him it was probbaly George. He went down and a little later brought George and a girl who was crying into the house. George looked glassy-eyed. I put the girl to bed, with my daughter and my husband put George to bed. Some time afterward George tried to break into my daughter's room and my husband and I ran down the stairs. Suddenly George seized the sword. My husband said: 'Mother, George is crazy.'

"My daughter came and we tried to take the sword from George. Afterward my husband, leaning on my daughter, and his clothes saturated with blood, said to me: 'I'm going to die, mother but see that George is placed in some asylum so you will all be protected. He is crazy.'"

She declared her son had not acted in a normal manner since he returned a shellshocked veteran from France.

LEAVES BENCH TO EXAMINE FURNITURE

Justice of Peace Views Exhibit in Suit in Truck Parked Near His Court.

Justice of the Peace Clark climbed down from his bench and up on a truck yesterday to give a conscientious decision. The Judge scaled the truck to look at some furniture, and the furniture was on the truck because the defendant brought the furniture as near court as he could to show the condition it was in.

It was early last February that the flat, at 2120 Market street, in which Mrs. Lizzie Turner lived caught fire. Mrs. Turner was ill in bed and the firemen had to carry her to safety. Then some of her friends took her to live with them until she recovered, and at her friends' she spent three more weeks in bed.

While Mrs. Turner was still ill, Edward Starr's wrecking company was employed to tear down the burnt building. The company did it, and in the process Starr backed a truck up to the flat and hauled Mrs. Turner's furniture to his secondhand shop.

When Mrs. Turner recovered she looked around for her furniture, but her furniture was gone. She sued Starr for $500. So, the case coming up yesterday, Starr loaded some of Mrs. Turner's furniture in a truck, and parked the truck on the site of the old Standard Theater, which is near Judge Clark's court, until his case was called, when he would drive the truck to the court so the Judge might see the condition Mrs. Turner's furniture—that which Starr still had—was in.

After the testimony was heard Starr said he wished the Court would look at that furniture. The Judge said he had already decided to look at that furniture. But Starr had parked early in the day, his truck was surrounded by other cars, and he couldn't get it out. So the Judge and Mrs. Turner and Starr and Starr's lawyer walked to the parking ground. The Judge squirmed through the rows of closely parked machines. Arriving at the truck, the Judge, wanting a good look at the two pieces of Mrs. Turner's furniture that Starr still had, so he could judge how much the whole outfit had been damaged by water and smoke, grabbed onto the side of the truck and hauled himself up.

The Court looked and examined and crawled down and said $163.13 for Mrs. Turner.

BAKER ANNOUNCES VETO OF 23 BILLS

Disapproves Approximately One-Seventh of Total Number Passed by Legislature.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 8.—Gov. Baker has made heavy inroads upon such legislative enactments as were produced by the recent Legislature, by vetoing 23 bills in one group. This was approximately one-seventh of the total number of bills passed by the lawmakers in their 93-day session.

Among the bills vetoed yesterday were measures limiting expense accounts of State employes previously indorsed by Baker; providing for inspection of eggs; providing for inspection of commercial foodstuffs, and two bills increasing the fees for recording instruments in the office of the St. Louis Recorder.

Baker vetoed the expense account bill as forecast in the Post-Dispatch after State employes and department heads had protested vigorously and continuously against such a limitation. Baker had indorsed the bill, following its introduction in the House. He explained he still favored the principle of the bill, but said it was in such form as to make it difficult to put into effect. He also stated he had an opinion from the Attorney-General that the bill, as passed, was unconstitutional.

Basis of Objection.

Unconstitutionality of the bill was based on an exemption granted to electric department heads from the maximum of $5 a day allowed for room and board when a State employe is on official business in a city of more than 100,000 population and $4 a day in smaller cities. This exemption, it was said, made the bill class legislation.

Baker condemned the growing tendency of the Legislature to keep every possible inspection, regulatory tax and license fees upon legitimate business, in statements issued in connection with the vetoing of an egg-inspection bill, a foodstuffs inspection bill and a measure for regulation, inspection and taxing of public bathhouses.

Referring to the commercial foodstuffs inspection bill, a job measure, which would have created several inspectorships, the Governor said the additional expense incurred by operation of the inspections would be passed on to the consumer, "without resulting proportional benefit."

Other Bills Vetoed.

Among other bills vetoed were the following: Providing for appointment of guardian for blind persons by Probate Court; establishing numerous regulations for safety equipment and safeguards about construction work on buildings and other structures; authorizing cities planning to extend their territorial limits, to purchase or control under lease a waterworks supplying water to inhabitants of such additional territory; authorizing reduced railroad rates to blind persons when accompanied by a guide; rendering certified public accountants incompetent to testify against a client; reducing time extensions for filing of corporation income tax returns from 30 to 15 days.

In vetoing two bills increasing the fees for recording instruments in the St. Louis Recorder's office, and providing slight increases in the pay of copyists, the Governor stated the additional expense in recording of instruments did not appear to be warranted.

NEW PLAN FOR HARVARD FUND

Alumni Would Give Fixed Amount of Annual Incomes.

By the Associated Press.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 8.—Harvard alumni are urged to contribute a fixed amount of their annual income to the university, in a report of the Committee on the Harvard Fund. The report will be presented to the Associated Harvard Clubs at their twenty-seventh annual meeting in Baltimore, opening May 21.

The money thus contributed would be paid into the treasury of the university without restriction as to use. The fund was established primarily to increase the funds available for the current support, improvement and, in some cases, the extension of the university work, the report says.

$1 A TON KNOCKED OFF GARBAGE CONTRACT

Jefferson Distributing Co. Is Awarded Work for One Year at 24-Cent Rate.

A one-year emergency garbage disposal contract was let by the Board of Public Service today after three bidders had submitted proposals far below their bids for the garbage disposal on a five-year contract.

The contract was let to the Jefferson Distributing Co. at only 24 cents a ton, although the same company bid $1.29 for the contract on a five-year basis. Charles L. Rea, who bid 74 cents for the five-year contract, made an offer of 68 cents for the one-year contract. Thomas L. Faudree's five-year bid was 69 cents, but the bid opened today was for only 47.

This radical reduction in the proposal for the one-year emergency contract is given the city despite the fact that it has been agreed garbage could be handled much more cheaply on a five-year than a one-year basis.

The five-year contract is held up by an injunction filed by the Jefferson Distributing Co. against the awarding of the work to Rea. Circuit Judge Miller has already held that the ordinance, under which the contract for five years was awarded, is invalid. While the matter goes on in appeal, the city is forced to let emergency contracts for the work.

89 Cents Below Present Rate.

The Jefferson company held the contract up to two months ago, when it expired. Since then it has gone on handling the work at $1.03 a ton, its rate under the previous contract. The company receives the garbage from the city on the river front and delivers it to a hog farm on an island below St. Louis.

The company was represented today by Robert Zeppenfeld, an attorney, who was one of Mayor Miller's most ardent supporters during the recent campaign. Explaining the low bid of the company, Zeppenfeld said the company believed it could better lose money on the contract than to lose it and suffer a big loss due to deterioration of equipment. The company has a number of barges which are used in carrying the garbage down the river.

Mayor Discusses Contract.

Miller, in a letter to the board today, discussed the garbage contract along with other subjects. Rea, to whom the board gave the five-year contract, is a Kansas City man and it was to this that Miller indirectly alluded when he wrote:

"It seems to me that we have sufficient intelligence in St. Louis to enable the city as a municipality to handle its own garbage situation. Other cities have been able to do so, why not St. Louis?"

Butler to Urge Hawaiian Armament

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Chairman Butler of the House Naval Committee said today he would urge legislation at the next session of Congress to make the Hawaiian Islands "the strongest military outpost in the world." Members of the House Naval Committee, he said, would leave early in June for the islands to obtain first hand information on what would be required to accomplish this purpose.

POLICE CONTEMPT CITATION AGAIN HEARD

Judge Falkenhainer Calls for Briefs From Attorney for Police Board.

The second contempt citation against the Police Board, Chief of Police Gerk and Chief of Detectives Kaiser, growing out of the arrest of Oscar Marquardt, carnival concession operator, came up in Circuit Judge Falkenhainer's court yesterday as a test case, engineered by the police to gain more specific action on the first.

In the first case, it will be recalled, the Judge refused to assess a fine against the police, but severely scored them for their interference with the carnival and intimated they were trying to "make a hick town of St. Louis" by arresting men for operating such devices as the "toy automobile game." This game, the Judge contended, was a game of skill rather than of chance and should not have been molested.

Members of the Police Board protested against this action, declaring they should either have been upheld in the case or fined for contempt so they could have recourse through an appeal, and Marquardt's second arrest was ordered.

After hearing considerable testimony from both sides, President Orrick and Commissioner Kortjohn taking the stand for the Police Board, Judge Falkenhainer ordered former Attorney-General Barrett, police counsel, to submit a brief within five days to show in detail why the police considered they were within their rights in making the arrest. The carnival company was given a similar period in which to file a reply. In the meantime, Kortjohn assured the court, carnival devices similar to that involved in the case, would not be interfered with.

France Is Second in Number of Publications With 10,000.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 19.—The United States leads the world in the number of newspapers published within its borders, 30,000, according to the newspaper Germania. France is second with 10,000.

The figures, however, tell a different story when the newspapers are compared to the number of inhabitants. On this basis Switzerland stands first with 270 newspapers for every 1,000,000 inhabitants, and the United States is second with 250. In England the proportion is 98 papers to each 1,000,000 of people.

New York Lifts Poultry Embargo.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 8.—An embargo prohibiting the shipping of live poultry into New York State, in effect since the poultry plague made its appearance last December, was ordered lifted from the State outside New York City.

$6,300,000 CUT FROM GENERAL REVENUE BILL

Governor Trims and Then Signs State Appropriation Measure.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 8.—Gov. Baker today signed the general revenue appropriation bill for State departments and institutions after lopping off $6,344,418 from the bills as originally passed, to bring the appropriations within the estimated revenue for 1925 and 1926. The 30-day period allowed by law after adjournment of the Legislature for signing or veto of bills by the Governor expires today.

The general revenue appropriations passed by the Legislature total $21,642,445. From this was deducted appropriations for interest payments and bonds for which money already was in the treasury, reducing the amount to $20,814,383. Baker cut this total to $14,469,965 by vetoing items totaling $3,264,737 and holding up other items totaling $3,079,681. Revenues estimated to be avialable for these appropriations total about $14,800,000.

The Principal Slashes.

The principal slashes by veto were $1,957,591 from the appropriation bill for new buildings for State schools and institutions, $626,192 from the relief bill for payment of unpaid obligations of the State, and $460,853 from the appropriations for support of the State schools.

Principal items held up by the Governor are $886,299 for buildings for institutions; $819,426 in contingent appropriations of departments; $627,000 for State educational institutions, and $465,760 in deficiency appropriations. These items will be released later if revenue becomes available.

These reductions virtually assure that the State institutions and schools will receive no new buildings during the biennial period and get no reappropriations for buildings already under construction, unless the State revenues for 1925 and 1926 greatly exceed estimates.

The University appropriation bill originally totaled $3,083,203. From it Baker cut $328,600 by veto of numerous small items for student labor, equipment of departments, experimental work, and repairs. He also cut out of the building bill $558,780 in items sought by the university, for new buildings, repairs and land. Vetoes for the Missouri School of Mines totaled $50,500; Maryville Teachers' College, $330,649; Cape Girardeau Teachers' College, $25,000; Springfield Teachers' College, $172,750; W rensburg Teachers' College, 000; Lincoln University, $175,000.

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 2

Tea Production Today

If the Chinese, who first discovered tea, had realized the possibilities of the trade and had studied the nature and requirements of the plant, China might still be the largest tea producing country. Centuries of neglect, however, stunted the growth and caused the quality to deteriorate. In the mountains of Ceylon and India, tea was found to flourish. Scientific methods of cultivation and manufacture were introduced with remarkable results. Now the finest tea grown in the world and by far the largest quantity comes from these countries. "SALADA" is mainly blended from flavory India and Ceylon teas.

FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1925.

BEER TRUCK DRIVER WAS CONVICTED TWICE

Raymond Reinecke, One of Three Men Held, Pleaded Guilty in Dry Law Cases.

Raymond Reinecke, one of the three men arrested yesterday when detectives confiscated three truckloads of supposed real beer near the Baden station of the Wabash Railroad, in North St. Louis, has been arrested twice before for beer running. He pleaded guilty and was fined $300 for each offense.

On March 17, 1924, Reinecke and a truck which he was driving at Fourteenth and Wright streets were taken into custody, when it was found the truck was loaded with 4800 pints of real beer. He was released on bond and 10 days later he and another young man were arrested at Broadway and Tyler street on a truck which contained three barrels of beer.

Because of his professed poor memory, and his way of saying "I don't know" when asked where the beer came from and where it was going and who he worked for, Reinecke was dubbed "the forgetful driver." On Jan. 6 last he appeared in Federal Court, pleaded guilty to charges of transportation and possession of beer in each case and paid two fines aggregating $600.

The "tip" which resulted yesterday in the arrest of Reinecke and John Growe and Nelson Strong, alleged drivers of the three trucks which were seized, was given to police by Mrs. Jessie W. Reilly, 58 years old, who has been the Baden station agent for 18 years. The trucks had been loaded with cartons of beer from a freight car, the contents of which had been billed as "baled rags." Mrs. Reilly heard the contents of the cartons clink when handled roughly by the loaders, and decided they contained wet goods instead of rags. The 184 cartons confiscated each contained 24 pints, such as retail for 50 cents a bottle. Mrs. Reilly says that about five truck loads were hauled away before police arrived.

Garage Proprietor Drinks Poison.

Jacob Barnholtz, 24 years old, of 2723 Thomas street, proprietor of a garage at 1408 Chestnut street, was taken to the city hospital from his home last night suffering from poison. He told police he had quarreled with his sweetheart and didn't care to live any longer. His condition is serious.

BEER TRUCK DRIVER WAS CONVICTED TWICE

Raymond Reinecke, One of Three Men Held, Pleaded Guilty in Dry Law Cases.

Raymond Reinecke, one of the three men arrested yesterday when detectives confiscated three truckloads of supposed real beer near the Baden station of the Wabash Railroad, in North St. Louis, has been arrested twice before for beer running. He pleaded guilty and was fined $300 for each offense.

On March 17, 1924, Reinecke and a truck which he was driving at Fourteenth and Wright streets were taken into custody, when it was found the truck was loaded with 4800 pints of real beer. He was released on bond and 10 days later he and another young man were arrested at Broadway and Tyler street on a truck which contained three barrels of beer.

Because of his professed poor memory, and his way of saying "I don't know" when asked where the beer came from and where it was going and who he worked for, Reinecke was dubbed "the forgetful driver." On Jan. 6 last he appeared in Federal Court, pleaded guilty to charges of transportation and possession of beer in each case and paid two fines aggregating $600.

The "tip" which resulted yesterday in the arrest of Reinecke and John Growe and Nelson Strong, alleged drivers of the three trucks which were seized, was given to police by Mrs. Jessie W. Reilly, 58 years old, who has been the Baden station agent for 18 years. The trucks had been loaded with cartons of beer from a freight car, the contents of which had been billed as "baled rags." Mrs. Reilly heard the contents of the cartons clink when handled roughly by the loaders, and decided they contained wet goods instead of rags. The 184 cartons confiscated each contained 24 pints, such as retail for 50 cents a bottle. Mrs. Reilly says that about five truck loads were hauled away before police arrived.

NO PAROLE AT THIS TIME FOR RENARD

Must Serve More Appreciable Part of Sentence, Dyer Is Informed.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Department of Justice has refused to consider commutation of the seven-year sentence of Ray Renard, Egan gangster, who is serving in the Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., and will not consider it until Renard serves a more "appreciable" portion of his sentence.

This was the gist of a letter written by the department last Tuesday to Horace Dyer, St. Louis attorney, who is seeking Renard's release. Renard has served one year of the term he received after his conviction of theft from interstate shipments.

It was indicated by departmental officials today that Renard would have to serve two years and four months before any effective action could be taken for parole. This period is one-third of the seven-year sentence. After a Federal prisoner has served one-third of his sentence he becomes eligible for parole.

In the letter to Dyer, it was pointed out that Renard had already received some rewards for his "valuable services," but that in view of his known record, consideration could not be given "at this time" to the appeal for commutation. One of the rewards has been the dropping of indictments against Renard, who could not be paroled as long as these were outstanding.

Dyer's application for clemency was not considered by the Attorney-General, it was said, because Renard's record had been so notorious that there was no possibility of clemency at this time.

The Cantaloupes Are Coming.

DOCTOR LEAVES HIS ESTATE TO A NURSE

Albert May, Bachelor, Rewards Her for 10 Years of 'Kind and Faithful Service.'

"Kind and faithful service" in recognition of which Dr. Albert May, 50 years old, a bachelor, of 4063 Kennerly avenue, who died recently, left his entire estate to Mrs. Gertrude Swinney, 4063A Kennerly avenue, extended over a period of 10 years during which she was employed by him, Mrs. Swinney said today.

Mrs. Swinney, named executrix, said she had not determined the value of the estate, which includes a 160-acre farm in St. Louis County and the two-family flat at the Kennerly avenue address, the first floor of which was occupied by the physician's office and the second floor by Mrs. Swinney.

She expressed surprise that she had been remembered in the will, made Jan. 22, and said that she knew nothing of it until the death of Dr. May. Five sisters and three brothers at Marine, Ill., where the funeral was held and the body buried, were not provided for in the document.

Mrs. Swinney met the physician through her work as a nurse some 16 years ago, and for the last 10 years had attended to clerical and other work of his office. For two years and a half before his death he had been ill a greater part of the time, during which Mrs. Swinney personally attended him and directed the business of his practice.

TREATED PRISONERS AS GUESTS

Nevada Sheriff Is Fined $500 on Contempt Charges.

By the Associated Press.

RENO, Nev., May 8.—Because he treated Federal prisoners, sent to the Fallon County jail, as his guests, Sheriff J. B. Crane was hailed into United States District Court at Carson City yesterday and fined $500 on contempt charges. The Sheriff permitted his prisoners to accompany him on arrests, to attend the movies alone at night and to enjoy the freedom of the grounds outside the jail.

Explaining his acts in court, Sheriff Crane told the Court that he wanted to be "just right and humane with the boys." He had the complete confidence of the prisoners, he said, and none tried to escape.

Second Big Week of The MANSION in DAVIS PLACE

Big crowds are visiting Davis Place, on Clayton road, to inspect the display of interior furnishings in "The MANSION," the former Davis home located in the center of the tract. The display was planned and installed by the Interior Decorating Studios of Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney. It shows a country mansion fitted up with the latest ideas of the decorators' art. The big dining room has been furnished with the "Strozzi" dining-room suite, with wall and floor decorations to match. A large living room has been utilized for a very interesting demonstration of elegance and dignity in interior furnishings.

"The MANSION" is open every day from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. The public is invited to inspect the home and to enjoy the freedom of the immense lawn and shade trees. Parking space has been provided for one thousand cars. The place is brilliantly lighted each evening.

City of Clayton Best Way to Davis Place

Visitors to Davis Place will find it much more convenient to drive out through the city of Clayton to the North and South Road, then turn south to the Davis Place entrance. MODERN TWO-FAMILY DWELLINGS A FEATURE OF NEW DAVIS PLACE

Many Original Designs Being Shown in Homes Now Under Construction

GREAT public interest is being shown in the modern two-family dwellings which are under construction in Davis Place. An exhibition of plans and sketches is on display in "The Mansion."

One of the interesting features in the new dwellings is the wide variety of architecture. To all appearances the homes are single dwellings, yet they house two families. Many of the features ordinarily found in a duplex are eliminated.

Interiorally the modern two-family home has many attractive arrangements not usually found in flats and apartments. These are made possible by the fact that the houses are not uniform on each side, but have all the curves and angles of a single residence.

Contract has just been let for a two-family dwelling in which one section is a 4-room home and the other a 6-room home. This has been designed especially for a young couple or a family of two where the income from the six-room part is considered desirable.

In equipment the new two-family dwellings will be the last word in modern housekeeping efficiency. The architectural features, such as woodwork, walls, mantels, floors and windows will be models of decorative beauty and individuality.

6% Gold Bonds a Popular Investment

Careful investors who have a practice of putting away each month high-class securities are turning more and more to First Mortgage 6% Real Estate Gold Bonds sold by the Davis Realty Company. They are obtainable in denominations of $50 and upwards, with maturities to suit the investor. The 6% Gold Bonds are secured by a deed of trust on a modern income two-family dwelling. ST. LOUIS BUS CO. CUTS FARE FOR CHILDREN TO 6 CENTS Reduction by Adjunct of United Railways Becomes Effective Sunday.

The St. Louis Bus Co., affiliated with the United Railways, today announced that beginning Sunday all children under 12 years will be permitted to ride on its busses for 6 cents, instead of 10 cents as heretofore. The People's Motorbus Co. charges 10 cents for both adults and children, and the reduction of the rival is regarded as a bid for the patronage of children, who constitute a considerable portion of bus riders.

Children under 12 years ride on street cars for 3 cents, where adults pay 7 cents. The St. Louis Bus Co. gives transfers to street cars.

Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—Two were arrested here yesterday connection with what the Dis- Attorney's office said was a d merger bunco game costinvestors approximately $300,- suspects are alleged to have persuaded investors to part with their money by picturing a $6,000,000,000 merger involving the Western Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Denver & Rio Grande, and other railroads, in which they were to receive a 3½ per cent promoter's commission, or more than $200,000,000.

TWO BOYS HURT BY AUTO WITHOUT LIGHTS

Driver Does Not Stop, but Is Caught and Now Faces Eight Charges.

Louis Shine, 11 years old, of 4467 Pershing avenue, was critically injured and his companion, Thomas Carmen, 15, of 4368 Maryland avenue, suffered bruises and lacerations at 8:45 o'clock last night when they were knocked down at Lindell boulevard and Newstead avenue by an automobile without lights which sped through the intersection in disregard of the stop sign of an automatic traffic signal.

The driver of the machine sped on and was captured a moment later by two other motorists who set out in pursuit at the cry of a bystander to "Get that fellow." He said he was Harold Sellers, 25 years old, employed as a bell boy at Hotel Chase. Today he is locked up at the Newstead Avenue Station facing eight different charges, three of which are felonies, growing out of the accident. The boys are in the city hospital, Louis with a fractured skull.

Witnesses to Accident.

Witnesses of the accident included Robert Bracy of 4327 West Belle place, and Fred Delaney, 4376 Forest Park boulevard, the two who caught the fugitive, and M. B. Smith of 4388 McPherson avenue, who was standing near the corner. All said Sellers sped through the intersection while the automatic signal read "Stop."

The charges which Sellers must face are: Driving an automobile while intoxicated; felonious flight from the scene of an accident; felonious wounding, careless driving; disregarding a traffic signal; intoxicated on the street; driving without head lights and driving without a tail light. He was unable to furnish bond.

Howard Foster, 11 years old, of 3469 Keinerly avenue, was crossing Warne avenue between St. Louis and Maffitt avenues, at 7 p. m. yesterday when he was knocked down by an automobile driven south in Warne avenue by John H. Harrison of 4042 Labadie avenue. He suffered scalp wounds and lacerations of the face and body and was taken home.

16 CONTRACTS FOR STREET PAVING LET

Two Call for Willite, and One for Vitbrolithic, Both Patented Processes.

The Board of Public Service today awarded contracts in 16 street paving jobs, among them being two contracts for paving with Willite, a patented process for hardening asphalt, and also a contract for a new kind of paving called "Vibrolithic," also a patented process. These patented pavements cost considerably more than ordinary sheet asphalt, for which three contracts were let.

The Willite jobs are on Gardenville avenue from Milentz westward to the west limits of Herman Heights. The estimate was $7200 and the successful bid was $7192.52. The other Willite job was resurfacing of Shenandoah avenue, from Thurman avenue to Tower Grove avenue. The estimate for this was $23,900 and the successful bid $23,864.85. The Central Paving & Construction Co. of St. Louis was awarded both jobs.

The asphalt jobs were for the paving of San Francisco avenue, from Euclid avenue to Kingshighway; Nebraska avenue, from Juniata to Arsenal streets, and Louisiana avenue, from Bates street to Eiler avenue.

Comparison of Costs.

The Willite price on Gardenville avenue was $3.49 a square yard and the asphalt jobs were bid in at $2.95 and $3 a square yard. The bid on the Vibrolithic job was $3.15 a square yard. This paving is a tamped stone into concrete, and is to be laid on Shenandoah avenue from Grand boulevard to Thurman avenue. The contract was let to the Vibrolithic Co. of America.

These were the first paving jobs to be let by the Board of Public Service under the new administration, and the board went into executive session after the lettings to consider a communication from Mayor Miller, who had suggested that public hearings or open meetings be held when paving specifications are under consideration.

Contracts for six concrete streets were let at $2.75 to $2.90 a square yard, and small contracts also were let for brick and concrete streets.

Total of Contracts $160,000.

The total of the above contracts was $160,000, and was part of 206,125 square yards of paving planned for this year at a total cost of $1,124,000. There is also planned for this year 33,395 square yards of concrete alleys at a cost of $96,590, and 18,630 square yards of asphalt alleys. For the patented pavements, Willite and Bithulithic, there is planned work amounting to $101,995, about equally divided, which will require a total of about 28,560 square yards of this paving. The program also calls for 24,490 square yards of Trinidad or Willite; 8,295 yards of asphaltic concrete; 10,720 yards of reinforced concrete paving; 1,950 yards of Kentucky rock asphalt, and 4,790 yards of Vibrolithic, the patented process introduced today.

The Board of Public Service has planned street and sewer work to cost $7,257,000, under ordinances passed by the Aldermen under the previous administration. Of this amount, $3,734,000 is bond issue money, and the remainder from special tax bills. Work to cost $1,877,000 and now under way has been carried over from last year, and contracts have been let for street and sewer work to cost $1,537,000. There now is scheduled for letting street and sewer work to cost $3,833,000.

Although the department will have work costing $1,650,000 more than last year, the appropriation for inspection has been cut $16,000, which Chief Engineer Horner said would seriously hamper thorough inspection of the work.

CARDINAL HAYES PRAISES BEAUTY OF ST. LOUIS SPRING

Prelate Tells Catholic Club Manhattanites Must Build Toward the Sky and Stars.

EXTOLS WORK OF ARCHBISHOP GLENNON

Declares Unity in Catholic Church Will Leave No Question as to Loyalty to the Flag.

St. Louis is a nice town, but he houses are too far apart. This riticism, made by a New York an on his first visit here, was uoted by Patrick Cardinal Hayes, rchbishop of New York, in his alk before the Catholic Club of . Louis at its dinner at Hotel hase last night.

"He was a man who had been rought up on our tight little anhattan Island," the Cardinal aid, "that narrow shelf of rock here we have no room to spread t and enjoy such beauty of wns and terraces as makes your ty so lovely in this springtime, t must seek our growth toward e sky and the stars."

Cardinal Hayes wore the red iretta of a prince of the church, d a cape of the same color over s cassock, while his host, Archishop Glennon, wore cape and uil cap of darker purple. The rdinal's 15-minute talk was ard by a gathering of more than 0 men and women. The guests the Catholic Club included ading Protestant and Jewish ergymen, the Rive. Dr. G. A. mpbell, president of the Church ederation, being at the speakers' ble. The Cathedral choir, 76 ys and men in vestments, sang "Sanctus," Handel's Hallelujah orus, and "The Star-Spangled nner." The dining hall was decated with the national colors d with the papal banner of yelw and white.

War Service Recalled.

John S. Leahy, toastmaster, ke of Cardinal Hayes as a disguished citizen and patriot, and id of his services as chief Catho chaplain of the Army and avy, in the war period. He then ld how the Cardinal, speaking in e afternoon at Kenrick Seminy, had complimented Archbishop lennon. "He said," Leahy reted, "that there are some princes the church who are made so by vor of our Holy Father the pe, and that there are others ho are created so by God, and at the best example of the latter d was our own Archbishop."

Archbishop Glennon, in introcing the guest of honor, told how r. Hayes had served as Chanllor of the New York diocese under the late Cardinal Farley, and d taken many of the burdens of e task from the shoulders of the d prelate; how he was made xillary Bishop, and of his servs as chief chaplain, in organizg and directing work for the iritual welfare of soldiers; and his succession to the office of chbishop, which was followed by e bestowal of a Cardinal's hat. spoke of him as distinguished tact, perspicacity, power and dness of heart.

Cardinal Hayes, in his introducy phrases, addressed himself to "distinguished guests, especialthose not of my own faith." His k, following his reference to the ring beauty" of St. Louis as he d seen it during the afternoon, a discussion of the Catholic urch's work in New York, as the teway of the United States, and expression of praise to Archhop Glennon and the Catholic rgy and people of St. Louis, for building of the church's instions here, chiefly the Cathedral Kenrick Seminary.

portunity of Working Together.

"The Catholic people of New rk are interested in all that goes in the church of the Middle st," the Cardinal said. "They one with you in the endeavor make God better known, to ke religion more respected, to ift the cause of righteousness. we are united in these things, re will be no question about our alty to our flag and our beloved ntry.

"We have great problems in New k. You hear them called forproblems, but they are Amerproblems. Ours is the problem the gateway, for 90 per cent of this country's immigration es through the port of New k. We are trying to solve the blem in a thoroughly American y, not merely an economic or a terial way, for we are dealing h souls. CARDINAL HAYES PRAISES BEAUTY OF ST. LOUIS SPRING

Prelate Tells Catholic Club Manhattanites Must Build Toward the Sky and Stars.

EXTOLS WORK OF ARCHBISHOP GLENNON

Declares Unity in Catholic Church Will Leave No Question as to Loyalty to the Flag.

St. Louis is a nice town, but e houses are too far apart. This iticism, made by a New York an on his first visit here, was uoted by Patrick Cardinal Hayes, rchbishop of New York, in his lk before the Catholic Club of . Louis at its dinner at Hotel hase last night.

"He was a man who had been ought up on our tight little anhattan Island," the Cardinal id, "that narrow shelf of rock here we have no room to spread t and enjoy such beauty of wns and terraces as makes your y so lovely in this springtime, t must seek our growth toward e sky and the stars."

Cardinal Hayes wore the red retta of a prince of the church, d a cape of the same color over s cassock, while his host, Archhop Glennon, wore cape and ll cap of darker purple. The rdinal's 15-minute talk was ard by a gathering of more than 0 men and women. The guests the Catholic Club included ding Protestant and Jewish rgymen, the Rive. Dr. G. A. mpbell, president of the Church deration, being at the speakers' ble. The Cathedral choir, 76 ys and men in vestments, sang "Sanctus," Handel's Hallelujah orus, and "The Star-Spangled nner." The dining hall was decated with the national colors d with the papal banner of yelw and white.

War Service Recalled.

John S. Leahy, toastmaster, ke of Cardinal Hayes as a disuished citizen and patriot, and d of his services as chief Catho- chaplain of the Army and vy, in the war period. He then d how the Cardinal, speaking in e afternoon at Kenrick Seminy, had complimented Archbishop ennon. "He said," Leahy reed, "that there are some princes the church who are made so by or of our Holy Father the pe, and that there are others o are created so by God, and t the best example of the latter d was our own Archbishop."

Archbishop Glennon, in introcing the guest of honor, told how r. Hayes had served as Chanlor of the New York diocese un the late Cardinal Farley, and d taken many of the burdens of task from the shoulders of the d prelate; how he was made xiliary Bishop, and of his serv as chief chaplain, in organiz and directing work for the ritual welfare soldiers; and his succession to the office of chbishop, which was followed by bestowal of a Cardinal's hat. spoke of him as distinguished tact, perspicacity, power and dness of heart.

Cardinal Hayes, in his introducy phrases, addressed himself to "distinguished guests, especial those not of my own faith." His k, following his reference to the ring beauty" of St. Louis as he d seen it during the afternoon, s a discussion of the Catholic urch's work in New York, as the teway of the United States, and expression of praise to Archhop Glennon and the Catholic gy and people of St. Louis, for building of the church's instiions here, chiefly the Cathedral Kenrick Seminary.

portunity of Working Together.

The Catholic people of New k are interested in all that goes in the church of the Middle t," the Cardinal said. "They one with you in the endeavor make God better known, to e religion more respected, to ift the cause of righteousness. we are united in these things, re will be no question about our alty to our flag and our beloved ntry.

"We have great problems in New k. You hear them called for problems, but they are Amer problems. Ours is the problem the gateway, for 90 per cent of this country's immigration es through the port of New k. We are trying to solve the blem in a thoroughly American y, not merely an economic or a terial way, for we are dealing th souls. In such a task, all urches and all religious agencies e the opportunity of working ether.

"New York is not the heartless as being. New York has a heart and a soul, which is at work all the time. We in New York think not only of ourselves, but of our country as a unit, and we pray for the welfare of the United States at large.

Tribute to Archbishop Glennon.

"You have in your midst an eloquent voice, that has been lifted through the country. Our own beautiful cathedral (St. Patrick's in New York) has echoed his eloquence, and when it is announced that Archbishop Glennon is to preach, there are no empty pews. You think he is yours, but he belongs to the entire Catholic Church of America. In the councils of the Bishops, young as he looks, not only the young Archbishop of New York (Cardinal Hayes is 57 and Archbishop Glennon 62), but those who are our seniors, listen to his wise counsels, and feel the touch of sacred fire that brings a glow and fervor to us all, when he speaks of how we must devote ourselves to the greater glory of God and the welfare of our beloved land.

"His achievements are your achievements also. It is not given to many Bishops to be the builder of a great cathedral and a great seminary. To erect a temple such as your cathedral is not merely a contribution to the city's beauty, but the beauty and splendor of America. And to build, for training the soldiers of holy orders, such a seminary as here has been erected almost simultaneously with your cathedral, is an achievement that speaks well for the shepherd of this diocese. No wonder you of St. Louis, and the Church in America, are proud of Archbishop Glennon."

To Dedicate Two Churches.

Cardinal Hayes arrived in St. Louis at 2 p. m. yesterday, and spent the afternoon in seeing the Cathedral, Kenrick Seminary and Catholic institutions here, with Archbishop Glennon. He left on a night train for Tulsa, Ok., where today he officiates at the dedication of a new church. He will then go to New Orleans, to dedicate a church there, and will stop in Chicago on his way home. He is accompanied by Mgr. George J. Waring, a veteran army chaplain, who is Military Vicar-General and Chancellor of the New York diocese.

British Get Gold Concession.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, May 8.—The soviet Government has ratified a contract between its concessions committee and the Ayan Corporation, a British concern, for the exploitation over a period of 36 years of the gold fields in the Okhotsk and Kamchatka region of Eastern Siberia. The Government reserves the right to buy all the gold extracted, but if it does not wish to exercise this option the company may export the metal. Aside from the payment for the concession, the company is to give the Government 5 per cent of the total output.

$850,000 FOR SEWER WORK APPROPRIATED

Citizens' Bond Committee Approves Ordinances—Kinsey Working on Two-Year Plan.

President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service is working out a program of expenditures under the $87,372,500 bond issue for public improvements during the next two years, which will accomplish the maximum of work in that time, he told the Citizens' Supervisory Bond Issue Committee yesterday.

Because of the requirements to be met, concerning the amount of bonds that may be issued in each each, and other factor, Kinsey said he was confronted with a Chinese puzzle.

Letting of the contracts for making a closed sewer of the River des Peres will be more advantageous if larger sections are provided, Kinsey told the committee.

Ordinances appropriating $850,000 of bond money for sewer work were approved by the committee. This includes $550,000 for Camp Springs tunnel relief sewer, part of the Mill Creek system; $200,000 for a section of North Baden public relief sewer, one section of which is under construction now; $100,000 for branch lines of the Ohio-Montrose sewer, the main line of which is under way.

The committee approved an additional appropriation of $8000 for the new fire engine house at Kingshighway Southwest, because of rising building costs. The city had estimated the cost at $33,350, but the low bid of nine bids received was $41,372.

AIRCRAFT INQUIRY URGED

American Engineering Council Wants Hoover to Direct Survey.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—An investigation of the entire aircraft situation under the direction of Secretary Hoover is urged by a committee on aeronautics of the American Engineering Council headed by Professor Joseph W. Roe, of New York University.

The committee report, which is to be presented today to administrative board of the council meeting here recommends that the engineering profession, "in the interest of industry and national defense," made every effort to ascertain the exact facts of the situation. "In scientific and engineering progress and aviation, more particularly in heavier-than-air machines, the United States now leads the world," says the report. "In the development of commercial aviation by private initiative the United States is lagging far behind other countries."

LAWS VINDICATE STAND OF TROTZKY

New Legislation Represents Furthest Swing to Conservatism Witnessed in Russia Since Revolution.

BERLIN, May 8.—In anticipation of the arrival of Leon Trotzky in Moscow the chiefs of the communist party endeavored to steal his thunder by hurriedly snatching Russia from a fluttering swing to the Left and moving her farther to the Right than she has been since the bolshevik revolution. Trotzky arrived yesterday.

Concretely, they did this Wednesday by recognizing the existence of the wealthy land-owning peasant, by agreeing not to interfere with their activities, and by rejecting a resolution presented by Larin, leader of the extreme Left, to confiscate their holdings. These three steps give Russia a legal wealthy peasant class.

Further, the Red chiefs, in admitting that economic free play must prevail in Russia, ruled that a worker does not lose his privileges—in fact, may remain a member of a Red union—when he employs other workers.

In other words, Russia at one stroke has admitted as institutions the wealthy peasant and the manufacturer, hitherto persecuted by the Government and deprived of the usual rights of citizenship.

Gregory Zinovieff himself declared the era of confiscation has passed. This was in answer to Larin's demand that the holdings of wealthy peasants be subject to seizure. And Zinovieff sounded the dirge of the Third International by stating that reaction in Germany and Bulgaria had retarded world revolution beyond immediate vision.

All of which is a vindication of Trotzky's stand.

The Red chiefs are waiting to see what Trotzky is going to do. Their quarrel with him has not been patched up. Trotzky has elected to play the role of a man of mystery. Telegraph wires from Moscow and border cities are laden with the products of guesswork, but since Trotzky has not confided in his closest friends, no one knows his plans. And no one will know for several days, when uncensored information begins to seep across the border.

SAUNDERS TELLS HOW HE GOT NEW BUSINESS START

By the Associated Press.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 8.—How his wife, his brother-in-law and a Memphis friend backed him in forming the Clarence Saunders Corporation after he had been adjudged a bankrupt following his famous Piggly Wiggly stock raid in Wall street was related at a Referee's hearing by Clarence Saunders.

He attempted yesterday to tell what had become of certain small personal possessions, but Special Referee Barton, who is considering a plea by Saunders for discharge from bankruptcy, halted him when he tried to tell what had become of a cocktail shaker.

A week ago Saunders refused to tell where he got the money to start his new chain of grocery stores. Yesterday he told in detail, but at the end he was ordered to list the Saunders family household furniture, which is in storage. He contended that this furniture belongs to his wife.

Saunders said that he opened a bank account after being adjudged bankrupt with $60 his wife had saved. His wife mortgaged some property she owned in Illinois, and his brother-in-law and a Memphis friend sold Piggly Wiggly stock and turned over the money to him to start the first of the new chain stores, he said.

The Piggly Wiggly Corporation, taken over by preferred stockholders when their dividends were not paid after Saunders' attempted raid on Wall street, will not go back to the common stockholders for the present at least, it was decided yesterday. Chancellor F. H. Heiskell issued an injunction against the corporation and the board of directors to prevent payment of a $16 dividend on the preferred stock, which, it is said, would have resulted in the control of the

JAPAN INDORSES PROPOSED BAN ON POISON GAS

Delegate at Geneva Conference Approves Burton's Proposal to Interdict Its Export for War.

BRITISH PROPOSAL STARTLES SESSION

Suggests That Warships Be Exempted From Class of Material Subject to Traffic Control.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, May 8.—Japan went on record today as favoring a strict interdiction of the use of poison gas in war.

D. Matsuda, Japanese delegate to the League of Nations' International Conference for the Control of Arms, made this declaration in a speech, ardently supporting the proposal made yesterday by Representative Theodore E. Burton, head of the American delegation, that all export of poison gas for use in war be prohibited.

The American proposal was referred to two subcommittees, military and judicial. The Polish amendment condemning the use of disease bacteria in war was referred to the same committees.

Matsuda said that Japan was already party to the poison gas agreement made during the Washington arms conference, and declared that in prohibiting the exportation of poison gas for war purposes it also should be understood that such methods of warfare are forbidden by international law. He urged the legal committee to take up this aspect of the problem thoroughly.

The Turkish delegation supported the American proposal, but agreed with the Hungarian delegation that the rights of states that do not manufacture gas to employ gas if they are so attacked should be respected, and their opportunity for defense should not be removed by too rigid a ban on exportation.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

GENEVA, May 8.—By injecting the issue of poison gas into the traffic-in-arms conference, the United States started along her well-worn idealistic, humanitarian pathway, which eventually caused her withdrawal from the opium conference and which will result similarly now if followed up, according to the general impression here.

Representative Theodore E. Burton, head of the American delegation, had been expected to raise the poison gas question, although Comte Carton de Wiart, president of the conference, carefully refrained from including the question in his official summary of the agenda.

The opinion is voiced in several quarters that Burton is playing to the gallery and that the quickest way to upset the conference is to inject extraneous issues.

It is possible but improbable that an attempt will be made to outlaw poison gas entirely from warfare.

Injection of Russia in the debate almost proved disastrous yesterday, several delegates of nations bordering on Russia declaring that publicity of arms purchases would be impossible unless the 12 producing nations ratified the convention. Russia, a producing nation, is not participating in the conference.

The British have written off Russia entirely as a military menace to Europe, contending that the co-operation of the soviets is not vital and even not desirable.

Britain Would Exempt Warships From Arms Traffic Regulation.

By the Associated Press.

Great Britain dropped a bomb on Geneva last night when she proposed before the conference that warships be omitted from the category of armaments which will be subject to international control. Japan and Italy supported the British move.

Rear Admiral Aubrey Smith, British delegate, outlined to the conference Committee on Military, Naval and Air Matters why his country favored taking warships out of the list of armaments which under the draft convention are subjected to a system of license when sold by one country to another. He argued that the chief aim of the conference was not to prevent illicit trade in armaments, but to control and, especially, make it public.

He laid stress on the fact that the object of the conference was not to reduce armaments, but merely to make everything about their sale public. Nobody, he said, could conceal the sale of a warship, and, therefore, it seemed unnecessary to keep warships in

PLACE OF MIRACLES IN RELIGION DISCUSSED AT THE EPISCOPAL CONGRESS

The Rev. Dr. F. C. Grant, Dean of Bexley Hall, and the Rev. J. M. Groton of New Bedford, Mass., the Principal Speakers on the Theme.

"Christianity cannot dispense with the supernatural," the Rev. Dr. Frederick C. Grant said in his address on "The Place of Miracles in Religion" at last night's session of the national Episcopal Church Congress, in Sheldon Memorial. Dr. Grant, who is dean of Bexley Hall, Gambier, O., was one of two principal speakers on this theme, the other being the Rev. John M. Groton of New Bedford, Mass.

In his address, Dr. Grant said in part:

"If there is nothing new in Christianity, or unique in Christ or in His teaching, nothing divine and not otherwise to be discovered and appropriated in His doctrine or ethics, His character or His career, nothing unique in the Christian sacraments, then, as Bishop Butler said in another connection, 'let Christianity in the name of God be given up.' If the world in which we live is a purely naturalistic system and nothing more, if Christianity is a purely naturalistic religion—an accretion of myths round the half-legendary name of an extraordinary but still rather obscure ancient Jew—then nothing remains for us but to find out as best we can what the universe is like, and live accordingly. That is the attitude we must take in a world, and with a religion, minus the supernatural.

Tendency to Liberal Views.

"We in this generation are inclined, perhaps inevitably, more and more towards a 'liberal' view of theology and religion; but from a religion that is 'liberal' and nothing more, that has no room for what has been called the supernatural—good Lord, deliver us!

"That is the first proposition. It is impossible for Christianity to dispense with the supernatural, and remain Christianity, the historical and traditional religion the world has known for almost 20 centuries.

"The second proposition is this: Religious thought cannot longer postpone a new definition of the miraculous. If the healing-miracles of the gospels and of the early days of the church—and of Mr. Hickson and other spiritual healers today—are perfectly natural results, under given conditions, of the power of God released by faith, then we have a clew to the meaning of the other gospel miracles. It is only recently that Protestants in large numbers have been brought face to face with such phenomena and led, at least occasionally, to acknowledge their reality.

Dr. Grant then endeavored to supply the needed new definition of the miraculous. "The continuity of nature," he said, "is not the continuity of a closed system of mechanical laws. It is a living whole. Nor is anything "supernatural" in the narrow sense. If a thing takes place at all, it is natural, it belongs within the sphere of the divine will and purpose back of nature. This is largely a matter of terms, but I do not believe it is mere quibbling.

No Longer Supernatural.

"The place of miracles in religion remains then, as before, only, the miracles are no longer 'supernatural' interruptions or invasions of a static order; for the order of nature is no longer viewed as static. The incarnation of Christ and His resurrection are not miracles; as the Greek fathers clearly saw, the incarnation was the most natural of events, the consummation of a process which began with creation, was continued in revelation (through the prophets, the Scriptures, Greek philosophy and ethics, the various religions of mankind), and reached its climax in the appearance of Jesus of Nazareth, His character and teaching, His ministry and mighty works, His voluntary passion, resurrection and ascension.

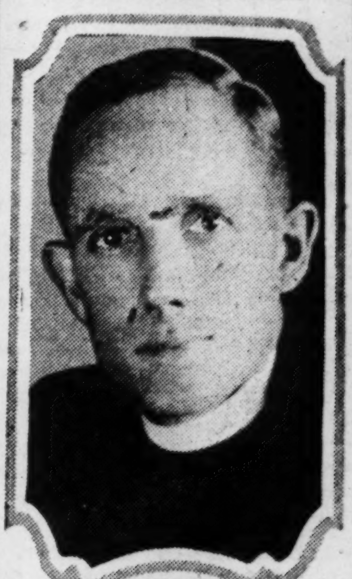
"Life is the great miracle of this universe, life, intelligence, purpose, love. We ordinarily assume that life is the most natural force that we know. But is it? Viewed from the geological and astronomical point of view, the origin of life is certainly 'supernatural.' Viewed from the biological point of view, the emergence of intelligence certainly involves factors more or less inexplicable and 'supernatural.' Viewed from the standpoint of animal psychology, of physiological and behavioristic psychology, the emergence of the higher ethical motives in man is not altogether "natural." It is only when we stand at the top of the scale and look downwards that we see life and intelligence the key to all development, and 'character man's destiny,' as Aristotle said.

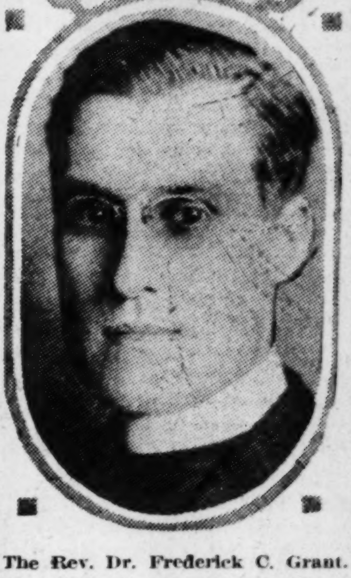
Approach to Definition.

"Suppose we say that a miracle is an unusual, unexplained, or inexplicable occurrence which awakens within us a realization of the divine power, wisdom or benefi-

SPEAKERS ON MIRACLES

The Rev. John M. Groton.





The Rev. Dr. Frederick C. Grant.

But I believe it is nearer the truth that any attempted definition of miracle in terms of 'broken law' or 'higher law' or 'law' in any sense.

"Of particular miracles we can only say that their place in religion today depends altogether upon the evidence in their favor. I do not at all assume that every miracle in the Bible, or in the gospels, or every ecclesiastical miracle, or every instance of an extraordinary occurrence that has somehow acquired a religious meaning or in-acquired a religious meaning or in-without question, as guaranteed en bloc by the principle I have tried to set forth. I can conceive a religious value in even a fictitious miracle—as I conceive a moral and spiritual value in the Roman Catholic devotion to St. Mary. I can also conceive a religious value remaining in the New Testament and in the Christian religion if all the miracles were removed. But, as Prof. Fosdick has recently said, 'there are many miracles which I cannot help believing.'

"Only if, as I believe, they really occurred, they are no longer miracles, thrust in from above or outside the universe we know, but real and vital items in the natural order, not produced from below any more than life is produced from below, or intelligence, or love, but springing forth from the divine purpose.

"Do you suppose that the eye which never sees God in the natural world can detect Him supernaturally? That the heart which has never leaped up when the eyes beheld God present in the lower orders of His one Kingdom will flame for Him in the presence of a miracle? I cannot believe it.

All Can't See Miracles.

"It is not every one who can see a miracle. Some men can stare nature squarely in the face, and see only molecules and atoms wrought in adventitious forms by elemental energy. Some men can face the evidence for the gospel miracles and see only a transcript of credulity, legend, superstition—nothing divine whatsoever about them. The quality of wonder, of religious awe, the sense of the holy is lacking. No talk about evidence will convince them, or theorizing about natural and supernatural. The terms only add confusion. If there is a place for miracles in religion—and, as I believe, an indisputable and permanent place—it is certainly true that there must be first of all a religion in which to find a place for miracles. They do not create faith. But it takes faith to say, with St. John, 'It is the Lord.'"

The other chief address of the evening, by the Rev. Mr. Groton, spoke of the term "miracles" as an inclusive one, and spoke of conversion and prayer as miracles. He introduced a personal anecdote, saying:

"The awakened consciousness of God whereby we learn gratefully to recognize His guidance is a miracle. During the war, the late John Kendrick Bangs told me of this curious experience. He had gone with Mrs. Bangs for a horseback ride. The country was new and they lost their way. They came at last to cross roads. Not knowing which way to turn, Mr. Bangs

G. O. P. HAD FUND OF $74,313 TO USE IN CITY ELECTION

Expense Account in Mayoralty Campaign Totaled $55,584, $7416 More Than Democrats Spent.

GIFTS BY EMPLOYES OF CITY LISTED

Republican Report on File Shows Cash Balance of $18,728 — Democrats Have Only $1005.

Republicans spent $7416 more in the campaign of Mayor Miller than the Democrats did in the campaign of William L. Igoe, his unsuccessful opponent. The total Republican funds available for the campaign exceeded the available Democratic funds by $25,140.

The Republican expense account, filed late yesterday with the Recorder of Deeds, totaled $55,584. The Democratic account, filed the day before, totaled $48,168.

The Republican account shows total funds available of $74,313. The total Democratic funds available were $49,173. So that while the Democrats find themselves with cash on hand of $1005, the Republican cash on hand is $18,728.

City Employes Donated.

The Republican list discloses that city employes contributed just as systematically to the campaign of Miller as they have to the campaigns of others in the past.

Some of the city laborers donated amounts as low as $1. Stenographers generally gave $5. Heads of departments—the various directors—gave $100. Division heads, or commissioners, gave $50. For those whose salaries were between $150 and $250 monthly the donation was usually around 10 per cent of one month's pay. For those who got more, the percentage was closer to five per cent.

The Miller collection is itemized under three subheads as follows: Republican City Committee, $67,240; men's division of the Miller-for-Mayor Club, $6020; women's division, $1053. The club expended all the money it collected. The committee spent $48,511.

2600 Contributors.

More than 2600 persons donated to the fund. Many of these contributed to office and institution collections some of which are recorded as follows: City Hospital, $158; City Sanitarium, $155; School for Feeble Minded, $177; Collector's office, $750; Comptroller's office, $393; City Infirmary, $182; Recorder's office, $500; office of president of Board of Public Service, $1464; City Garage, $94.

Miller and Comptroller Nolte were assessed $1000 each in the campaign and aldermanic candidates gave $250 each. Collector Koeln donated $150 and former Mayor Kiel $100.

Among the contributors to the fund raised by the city committee were F. A. Stiers, a street contractor, $100; P. S. Kaull, president of the Granite Bituminous Paving Co., $100; E. D. Nims, president of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., $250; Postmaster Alt, $100; Louis H. Waltke, $200; Congressman Dyer, $200; former Sheriff George W. Strodtman, $200; Henry Pfeffle, Justice of the Peace, $100; Collector of Internal Revenue Hellmich, $100; City Counselor Senti, $250; Jacob Babler, former Republican National Committeeman, $200; Circuit Clerk Schmoll, $50; Harry Troll, $50; Assistant Secretary of War Dwight Davis, $100; Clarence T. Case, Miller's law partner, $400; Health Commissioner Starkloff, $514; C. L. Laxton, superintendent of garbage collection, $189.

Donors in Club.

The men's division of the Miller-for-Mayor Club had 77 donors. Among them were Comptroller Nolte, who gave $200 in addition to his $1000 donation to the committee; Postmaster Alt, $100 in addition to his committee contribution; Albert T. Perkins, manager for the receiver of the United Railways Co., $200; Gus O. Nations, former prohibition chief here, $25; Gus H. Ruedi, Marriage License Clerk, $100.

The six contributors to the fund of the women's division were: Clarence Howard, former member of the Board of Police Commissioners, $300; Mrs. N. A. McMillan, $25; Circuit Judge Ittner, $50; John Brod Jr., whom Miller appointed Director of Public Safety, $403; C. C. Kaufman, $250; Mrs. William T. Nardin, $25.

The expenditures of the committee for precinct work, distributed through the members of the committee, totaled $24,570; an additional $1922 is listed in the expenditures for "organization;" adver

City Workers' Unpaid Salaries.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I WISH to call your attention to a very serious situation existing in St. Louis today. A condition which is very shameful for the city, and causing extreme hardship and sacrifices on the part of thousands of our city employes, especially the loyal, underpaid fire-fighters of our beautiful and progressive city.

Every year the annual budget is prepared. The firemen are lawfully entitled to their pay twice a month, but on account of that one great political evil "Red Tape," these firemen have not received any salary since March 31.

Most of them are married and have large families, and even when receiving their salaries promptly barely get by, but on account of the present unnecessary "hold up" of their pay, some of these men and their families are practically left destitute and suffering. They can't pay their bills. Their credit is limited. They have no reserve fund for a rainy day.

Consequently, some are compelled to borrow from loan associations, and pay approximately 16 per cent interest, while others borrow from friends, and the balance stand off their creditors and suffer in silence.

Is that justice? Is it fair to the wives and children of these firemen? Couldn't the voice of the press arouse our public officials who are responsible for this condition to perform their duties without so much technical red tape?

Since the Board of Estimate and Apportionment are attempting to deprive the firemen of the raise in salary, they should at least pay them at once, according to the old scale, until a decision in their favor can be dragged through the courts.

Gambling on Elections.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"BETTING ON ELECTION," from the Revised Statutes, Missouri, 1919: "Every person who shall bet or wager any money or other valuable thing on the result of any election authorized by the Constitution and laws of the United States or of this State, or on any vote to be given at such election or who shall knowingly become stakeholder of any such bet or wager shall be punished by fine not exceeding Fifty Dollars."

Mayor Miller, discussing the report that his brother, J. C. Miller, had wagered heavily on the election said he presumed he had bet, but did not know to what extent. "I have heard," the Mayor said "that some $600,000 was wagered that I would be elected. I do not know if those who wagered have received their money."—From the Post-Dispatch issue of Tuesday, May 5.

So they took 150 detectives and locked up all the cigar store people on a charge of suspicion of gambling. Seems, from where we sit, that one or two might have been spared to bring in brother J. C. for "Betting on Election." Not much worse to bet on an election than to back one's judgment with a $2 bill on a horse race.

Red Lights on Oakland Avenue.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE two red lights on Oakland avenue in front of Forest Park Highlands have been the cause of at least a dozen accidents in the past few years. The latest one this week. Law requires that an automobile have its lights in front and back. Why then does the city put concrete obstructions in the middle of a narow street with the red light 6 feet above? These death traps should be removed.

MRS. T. L. S.

The Scheme of Things.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN answer to correspondent who states there are a vast majority who believe the downfall of Christianity will be due to science, I beg to say a few words on the subject.

For years I have been interested in science, but it has not shattered my belief in God; instead, it has strengthened it. God and science work hand in hand. The brain of man is the masterpiece of God, and when man solves problems, lifts the veil of mystery, he is only doing his duty. A fact is a fact only when it is proven, and the truth, even though it shatters ideals, is better known sometime, in fact will be known sometime, so why ridicule science because it takes a hand and goes ahead? The heathen seems ignorant to the Christian, so the prejudiced and fanatical Christian seems ignorant to the scientist.

If there were no mysteries to be solved there would be little or no work to do. Man would know the why and wherefore of everything—there would have been little use in making the world and creating people the equal of God in intelli-

FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE.

Gov. Baker has issued a timely appeal to the people of Missouri in behalf of the National Guard. "The citizens of the State," he says, "are not taking a proper interest in the units of the organization. They are acting with more or less misunderstanding or indifference, as they did prior to the World War. This general misunderstanding or indifference in the past cost untold sums of money, many lives and casualties."

The Governor declares that, for the first time in the history of the United States, the Federal Government has provided effective means to build up the National Guard. In the national defense act of 1920 there is a constructive, logical and definite plan of preparedness. The National Guard is now a part of the first line of defense, and offers, if the people rally to its support, an adequate military force for defense at a minimum rate of taxation. The Federal Government supplies the arms and equipment, horses, forage, caretakers, and pays all expenses for instruction camps, pays the officers and men for armory drills, and supplies trained instructors.

All that is required of citizens is active co-operation, filling up the units. If citizens fail to do their part by recruiting and serving in the National Guard units, the whole scheme of national defense by a trained citizen soldiery falls to the ground. In order that the plan of national defense through a citizen soldiery shall succeed it is necessary that the young men enlist, go to the instruction camps, and perform the duties necessary to make the units efficient.

In order to get the interest of the young men, it is necessary that all citizens interest themselves. Let there be a strong, effective public opinion in favor of National Guard preparedness. The co-operation therefore, of all elements of citizenship is necessary to complete success.

The ideal of preparedness in a republic is not a large standing army, but trained citizen soldiery. What the United States needs is a small, well-equipped, efficient regular army, serving as a nucleus of the greater army required in emergencies, and recruited for emergencies from the citizen soldiery of the States, enlisted in the National Guard. If the citizens of the States do their full duty, we will avoid the danger of centralization in a great Federal force. The army of preparedness can then be made up of decentralized units, recruited and trained in the States. The soldiers will be a part of the citizenry, engaged in ordinary occupations in times of peace and representative of the general character and sentiment of the people, ready for service in the event of attack, should such an unfortunate calamity befall us.

The American people are warlike when aroused by injustice and attack, but they are inclined to peace as they ought to be, and inclined to be indifferent and careless in the matter of preparedness. We rely upon our wealth and man power, in utter disregard of the lesson of the tremendous cost of unpreparedness presented by our participation in the World War. In fact, this is the outstanding lesson of every war in which we have engaged.

The Post-Dispatch is opposed to war. We believe that international law should be established and that arbitration should take the place of force in settling international disputes. But until that end is secured, we ought to be thoroughly prepared, not by huge professional armies, but by a trained citizen soldiery, ready for service when service is required.

TROTZKY'S RETURN TO MOSCOW.

Readers of the series of articles by Paul Scott Mowrer, on the ambitious plot said to be cherished by the Bolshevist Government to upset capitalism, published in the Post-Dispatch, will watch with interest the immediate future of Leon Trotzky, next to Lenin the most ardent and original spirit in modern Russia, who has now returned from exile.

The little book by Max Eastman, just published, dealing with Trotzky's boyhood and youth, shows that this outstanding figure in world history is an utterly sincere man. His father was a wealthy land owner and manufacturer. The boy received a good education, and could have become either a successful professional man or have taken charge of his paternal estate, living in comfort as a respected Russian citizen. He was not in that part of Russia where the Jews were despised and persecuted, but in a region where race prejudice was not permitted to interfere with commercial relations.

And this youth chose paternal expulsion, poverty, imprisonment, and exile to Siberia for the sake of his political and economic ideals. He was married in prison, so that he would not be separated from his betrothed on reaching Siberia, and in that desolate country started to raise his family. On his escape, in order to put the officials off his track, he changed his name from Bronstein to Trotzky, the name which was to be heard around the world.

He is now shorn of official power, largely because of his intense individuality and mental independence. But he will bear watching. He has dynamic personality and great popularity in Russia. If he can stand the strain physically he may yet change the course of politics in the group of governments known as the Union of Socialistic Soviet Republics that acknowledge Moscow as their controlling center.

TWO IMMIGRANT BOYS.

Two former immigrant boys landed simultaneously on the first page the other day. One is Frederick Brown, who came to this country from Czecho-Slovakia, and the other is Benjamin Winter, who landed penniless from Poland a quarter of a century ago. Brown has given a million dollars to Jewish philanthropies, and will augment this sum by $50,000 a year until he dies. Winter has purchased the old Astor residence on Fifth avenue, a $2,000,000 property and one of the show places of New York.

Until these two spectacular events had occurred, neither Brown nor Winter was known to fame. Brown began life in this country as a retail clothier, and Winter started as a janitor. Both amassed enormous sums of money in real estate, and have spent the years in the quiet accomplishment of destiny. Their stories, running parallel from the deep discouragements and handicaps that all poor and ignorant immigrants must face to success and fame, are most inspiring.

Brown and Winter have proved that America is still the golden land of opportunity. While the country was in a formative period, the rise of obscure men to the seats of the mighty was proverbial. Nowadays the going is a little rougher, with the concentration of wealth and the standardization of society, yet the grade can be made. In Winter's case which was once a most glittering center of New York society. Brown, giving a million to charity, will assist many a young man who came here as he did to rise to the top rank.

PRISON CONTRACT LABOR IN MISSOURI.

The prison contract labor system is at work in Jefferson City in the full bloom of its notorious evils. This year it is more pernicious than formerly, for a new plan of sales has been installed that reduces the profits of the State and increases the gains of the good friends and associates of political officials.

The "cut, make and trim" system just introduced deprives the State of any profit. It merely sells the labor of the prisoners at a poor pittance which is insufficient to support the prison, though 1500 out of 2700 convicts are kept at work and the State furnishes the buildings and machinery of manufacture. The only advantage to the State is that it never wants for a market for its product. The State Penal Board, in a private capacity, of course, would get all they could for products at their disposal. But when they are working for the State it is their privilege to be as helpless as babes and keep their eyes closed while their friends take the profits.

For some of the products contracts have been let privately, without competitive bids. One of the contractors is a business associate of Dr. Cortez F. Enloe, chairman of the State Penal Board. Another is a close friend of Gov. Baker, an honorary Colonel on his staff, a fellow director in a Jefferson City bank with the chairman of the Penal Board and a former employer of another member of the board who is superintendent of industries.

One of these contractors will have brooms made for him at 50 cents to $1 a dozen—4 to 8 cents a broom. At this rate it would appear to be a simple matter to make a huge profit and still undersell the market based on free labor, thus degrading free labor and exploiting the State prisoners and the State. Prison contract labor on such terms is a reflection on the voters of the State who alone have it in their power to correct its manifest iniquities.

NOW IT HAS BEEN TOLD.

Now we know who won the war. The moot question has at last been answered. Admiral Fiske won the war. He admits it. In fact he has made what you might call a clean breast of the whole affair. Talking to the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce he explained that his ideas of preparedness swung the balance, turned the tide, put it across, copped the decision and ferried home the bacon.

Was the victory easily won? Listen to Fiske. His incomparable plans were at first rejected and he himself compelled to resign. A lesser man would have cracked under the strain. Fiske is of tougher stuff. His iron will hardened to chilled steel. His wonderful resourcefulness came into play, too. By a bit of strategy which only a genius like himself could have thought of, he got himself haled before a congressional committee. What then? He bombarded the committee with illusion-shattering facts. What then? The committee immediately ordered the President to adopt the Fiske formula pronto. Then what? Why, our army was rushed to Europe and got there just as Fiske predicted, in the nick of time.

That is how it all happened. That is how the war was won.

Now it has been told.

ODE TO A COLLAR BUTTON.

St. Louis should be proud of Citizen Snyder, who has worn one collar button continuously for 43 years, thus placing this city far ahead of Mena, Ark., which has entered a mere youngster of a collar button, being but 23 years old, in the great national collar button contest.

It is well-nigh impossible to express in prose the glory of Citizen Snyder or the grandeur of his collar button. We who lose collar buttons as fast as they roll off the bureau realize that a man who can keep one 43 years deserves a saga, and that the button is worthy of an ode. Stricken with envy, we can only challenge our poets. Which one will write an ode to Citizen Snyder's collar button? Which will set down in deathless verse the long communion of Citizen Snyder's collar button with Citizen Snyder's Adam's apple? Who is there among the rhymesters to immortalize this unbroken and intimate association?

To spur the poets into song let us taunt them. After all, let us say, meanly, was it worth while to keep a collar button so many years? How many holes in the knees of how many pairs of trousers did Citizen Snyder wear out, hunting for that collar button? Is his back still strong? Is his temper endurable? Wouldn't it have been better to buy a new one each time the old got lost, rather than hunt for it? Let the poets answer. Only a poet can view Citizen Snyder's loving care of his collar button with proper sympathy. Let the poets burst into song!

THAT AWFUL DEAUVILLE.

(A lament in the best Irish manner.)

They claim it's wrong to gamble on the way
a horse will run;
It's Oh, to be in Deauville where the limit is the sky!
They say it's wrong to place a bet if only placed for fun;
It's Oh, to be in Deauville where they let the stakes run high!

They say that we should sleep at night, nor roam about the town;
It's Oh, to be in Deauville where the lights with darkness vie!
They pipe down all our singing, and on our quartets they frown;
It's Oh, to be in Deauville where "Sweet
"Adeline" we'd try!

They say that it is sinful quite to guzzle from the bowl;
It's Oh, to be in Deauville where they still serve rock and rye!
They say that liquor dulls the mind and liquor blights the soul;
It's Oh, to be in Deauville, for I'm feeling awful dry!

They say the girls who bathing go should wear a clothing store;
It's Oh, to be in Deauville where the Sennetts greet the eye!
They say so very many things I really think they bore;
It's Oh, to be in Deauville where there's no reformer nigh!

Did I but know while yet in France this lately cheering news;
It's Oh, to be in Deauville where no wow-ser need apply!
I dare not drink, I dare not sing, so needs must have the blues;
It's Oh, to be in Deauville and to live there till I die!

Sir: The solecism of which NEO-TORY complains is in itself a concession to our patois; for, indeed, should one employ those synonyms in a derogatory or "depreciatory" sense, the talk might well cease to be a conversation and become a brawl. That is why they are used freely only when speaking without malice. It follows, therefore, that my "scholarly contribution" is marred by a solecism only when the conversation depreciates into a brawl.

That erudite topwit, Albert Jay Nock, who did so much to make the lamented Freeman interesting, suggests in the current Mercury that if our civilization in the United States were based upon good manners rather than what are conceived to be good morals there would be much more agreement among us and we would be a far happier people. There is no question about it. The proof of it is to be found in any speculation of what would become of the good manners we have if we made them morals. Let us say that the Hat-Tipping League compelled us by law to tip our hats to ladies. Would anybody do so except in the presence of police? Or let us say that we were commanded by law to keep any little civility common among us. Would we keep it? Not if we could get out of it. Let us apply that principle to most of the ends sought by means of moral laws. Would not what is impolite be more revered than what has in this way become illegal? Certainly. Make it bad manners to drink too much, as it fast was becoming bad manners to do so, and we would have temperance. Make it immoral, sinful or illegal to drink, and we have intemperance. Mr. Nock says the Japanese are more governed by politeness than by law. They have seen this difference. There are respects in which Europe and other parts of the world have discovered and profited by it. We have not thought of it, and ought therefore to be obliged to him for the suggestion. MUNICIPAL OPERA CHORUS OF 96 NAMED

All St. Louis Singers, 41 of Whom Will Make First Appearance at the Theater.

A chorus of 96 St. Louis singers, 41 of whom will be appearing on the stage of the Municipal Theater for the first time, have been selected to take part in the Municipal Opera productions to be presented during this summer's season of 10 weeks. These were chosen from among more than 200 local candidates, young men and women who attended a free chorus school maintained by the association during the winter to drill the chorus applicants in stage work and especially in the musical numbers of operas listed in this season's repertory.

The training school opened last November and continued its work until the middle of April. Frank A. Rainger and Charles Previn, general stage director and musical director, respectively, for the Municipal Theater Association, supervised the training. More than 700 applications for entrance to the school were received and of these 100 failed to pass the required entrance examinations. As is known, enrollment in the school was limited to St. Louis singers in order to keep the Municipal Opera chorus strictly an all-St. Louis organization.

The list of those selected for this season's chorus is as follows:

PLACE OF MIRACLES IN RELIGION DISCUSSED

horses?" The horses turned, and they emerged into the open space facing their hotel. A bellboy came running with a telegram for Mr. Bangs, which completely changed the course of his life, but which, if it had reached him five minutes later, would have been too late. 'Of course,' said Mr. Bangs, 'I realize that every good horse knows the way home, and the road that leads to his stall and his oats, and there was every reason why the horses turned as they did, but I shall always think of it as a gracious act of God through which He opened to me a more abundant life.' The miracle is not that the horses turned, but that in the turning the riders saw God's hand and lived in grateful recognition of His loving guidance.

"Instead of saying that miracles do not happen, we may say that they are constantly happening, and that they are momentous to religion."

Gospel Miracles Discussed.

Discussing the Gospel miracles, he said that the nature miracles seemed to him less important to religion than the miracles of healing. The nature miracles, he said, "in their literal interpretation are a positive hindrence to faith."

"The walking on the sea, the stilling of the tempest, the feeding of the 5000, the great draught of fishes, the cursing of the fig tree, the turning of the water into wine—if these miracles actually happened as related, they are experiences into which faith cannot enter. In the account of the raising of the dead, faith again seems to be baffled.

"But into the miracles of healing, faith can enter with complete assurance. All the New Testament Gospels contain accounts of the healing acts of Jesus; the diseases may conveniently be grouped in 10 or 11 different sorts: Leprosy, demon possession, fear, paralysis, blindness, stammering, dumbness, deafness, dropsy, a spirit of infirmity, hemorrhage, dropsy.

Significance of Healing.

"Now the miracles of healing have significance not by themselves taken alone, but as part of Christ's mission to bring men into a right relationship with God and life as a whole. Not merely is some organ of the body restored to proper function, but a new attitude toward life is effected. The whole personality is touched.

"The life of Christ is the supreme miracle for the Christian religion. He is not to be accounted for by any theory of development. He is more than the sum total of the religious forces which preceded him. He is unique manifestation of God in the world. That he should have been among men, joined himself in their common humanity, entered into their joys and sorrows, their temptations and their victories, and yet Himself have been withouh spot of sin, is the stupendous miracle."

The congress closes its sessions this afternoon. This morning's program included the presentation of papers on two subjects which are in discussion between the low church and Anglo-Catholic parties in the Episcopal Church—reservation of the sacrament, and the use of the chalice, or cup, in the communion service.

CONSOLIDATION OF TWO COLLEGES CONSIDERED

Representatives of McKendree, at Lebanon, and Central Wesleyan, Warrenton, to Meet.

Steps toward the consolidation of McKendree College of Lebanon, Ill., and Central Wesleyan College of Warrenton, Mo., will be informally discussed when a group of representatives from both institutions assemble at the Missouri Athletic Association at 2 p. m. Monday.

Such a merger has been under consideration for some time, it is understood, but no definite action is to be taken until early in June when the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the two colleges is held. If the merger is agreed upon, the final details of the union will be arranged at that time.

Under the plan being considered at present, the physical resources and endowments of the two institutions would be brought together under one management, although neither location would be abandoned. The Warrenton unit, it is understood, would continue to operate as an academy or preparatory school, while the college classes and part of the faculty would be removed to McKendree.

Central Wesleyan has an enrollment of some 400 students, about 150 of whom are preparatory students, and an endowment said to be about $400,000. McKendree has an attendance of about 350, all of whom are engaged in regular college work.

SCRUGGS SCHOLARSHIPS TO BE AWARDED TOMORROW

Policy of Giving Two Every Four Years Continued in Honor of Late M. L. Wilkinson.

Two four-year college scholarships which were offered by Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney as awards in an essay contest on "St. Louis and Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney: Seventy-five Years of Progress," are to be continued in memory of the late Melville L. Wilkinson, former president of Vandervoort's, who planned the essay contest as a feature of the diamond jubilee of the organization.

They will go on indefinitely, and will be awarded to deserving students every four years, it was announced today by Frank M. Mayfield, president of Vandervoort's, as a memorial to Wilkinson's interest in the welfare and education of young people.

Awards in the essay contest will be made at public exercises tomorrow at 3 o'clock in Vandervoort Music Hall, when Chancellor Hadley of Washington University and the Rev. Charles A. Cloud, S. J., president of St. Louis University, will give addresses, and Mayfield will award the scholarsihps to the winners, who as yet have not been announced.

PUTS FIVE OIL PAINTINGS ON SALE, BUYS THEM HIMSELF

Lawyer Says He Took Canvases as Security for Loan to Man, Later Killed.

Five oil paintings, depicting views in the Grand Canyon, executed by Dawson, Dawson-Watson, who formerly taught at the St. Louis School of Fine Arts, were placed on sale yesterday by Max Haas, a lawyer in the Wainwright building, who bought them himself.

Haas says that he received the paintings April 29, 1924, from Henry G. Dodd, formerly a general merchandise broker of St. Louis, as security for a $100 loan. Dodd was killed last November in Chicago in a fight with a motorist over an automobile collision, and as the loan was for one year, and was past due, Haas says that he put them on sale to protect his money.

Francis D. Healy, owner of a picture gallery at 4516 Olive street, who handles DawsonWatson's interests in St. Louis, said the paintings did not belong to Dodd, but had been placed with him to sell. Healy has received several letters from the artist, who is now living in Boston, asking him to try to regain the paintings. The canvases, which are 10 by 12 inches, are: "Valley of the Lost," "Early Morning," "Amethystine to Emerald," "Through the Pines," and "Rose and Emerald."

WHEELER HITS DRYS' REPORT IOWA FARMERS 'BOOTLEG'

Declares Volstead Act Is Being Enforced as Well as Any of Ten Commandments.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—"Thou shalt not drink" is being enforced just as successfully as any of the ten commandments.

This is the answer of Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, to the report turned in by the Iowa branch of the league in which it was asserted that prohibition was turning Iowa's farmers into bootleggers.

Wheeler did not approve the report of the Iowa branch of his organization. Real farmers, he said, are not turning their corn into corn liquor, because the farmers are the backbone of the dry movement and always have been.

He cited the extreme bone dry law that has just gone into effect in Indiana as indicative of the trend of public thought.

"The real test of the law," he continued, "is whether or not it reduces or mitigates violations. The Volstead act does. No law from the time of the commandments to the present day, has been thoroughly enforced. There are still murders, robberies, assaults and all the other crimes in the category of wickedness.

RESIGNS FROM BOARD, CRITICISING BAKER

C. E. Rendlen of Hannibal Says Party's Pledge Has Been "Put Under Foot."

By the Associated Press.

HANNIBAL, Mo., May 8.—Declaring that Gov. Baker has caused the removal of "efficient and faithful employes without charge or cause except to make room for others, no reason being advanced save that the new appointees were kinsmen or political supporters," Charles E. Rendlen, Hannibal attorney, today tendered his resignation to the Governor as a member of the State Eleemosynary Board, effective at once.

Rendlen's resignation removes the last of the three board members who opposed the dismissal of Clyde Graves, Democrat, steward of the State Hospital for insane at St. Joseph, and the appointment in his place, of George Gilpin, Republican, a brother-in-law of Gov. Baker, and other changes proposed by the Governor. W. C. Pierce of Maryville, was eliminated when the Governor withdrew his name from his appointment list last winter, and A. J. Fitzsimmons, of St. Louis later resigned. Following the reorganzation of the board Gilpin was appointed and other changes were made in the State institutions. Rendlen and Pierce are Republicans and Fitzsimmons is a Democrat.

Letter of Resignation.

Rendlen's letter charges Gov. Baker "put the party's pledge under foot." The letter follows:

"I find myself entirely out of accord with the policies of your administration in the management and control of the six State eleemosynary institutions, on the Board of Control of which I am a member.

"In 1921 a long-desired change in the management of these institutions was enacted into law; regardless of party, the entire people approved it. The new consolidated board of three Republicans and three Democrats was placed in charge and immediately set about in removing party control and political favoritism therefrom. Merit and service was the test. So faithful was adherence to this ideal, which is the law, that the late retiring Governor emphasized with just pride the management and achievements of this bipartisan board. Upon your elevation to the great office of Governor, a new order prevailed, efficient and faithful employes were removed without charge or cause, except to make room for others, no reason being advanced save that the new appointees were kinsmen or political supporters.

"Party's Pledge Under Foot."

"What the board asserted for four years, that political favoritism had no place in these institutions no longer is true. The people of our State and the many employes at all of these institutions know this is now the fact. It must inevitably reflect itself in the attitude of staffs at these institutions. The spirit, if not the letter, of the law was flaunted and Missouri has stepped backward to the old order; your party's pledge and mine put under foot.

"I cannot longer continue on the board feeling and believing as I do and I herewith tender my resignation as a member of the State Eleemonynary Board, effective at once."

CITY FACES DENIAL OF PLEA FOR PHONE AUDIT

State Commission Says St. Louis Must Make More Substantial Showing.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 8.—Demands of the City of St. Louis that the State Public Service Commission make a full valuation of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. properties in St. Louis, before acting on a pending application for increased business telephone rates in the city, will not be granted, it was learned today, unless the city can make a more substantial showing of need for a valuation, at a hearing to be held here May 20.

The commission announced the May 20 hearing would be the final one, before decision of the case. Members of the commission indicated they would base their decision on the recent audit by commission experts, evidence in hearings already held, and other data obtained in investigation of the application, unless the city can bring in conclusive evidence May 20 that a full valuation is essential.

Should the city convince the commission that a full inventory and appraisal of the Bell properties is necessary, the proceedings would last for a year or more, as such valuations require many months.

The Bell company last September filed an application for authority to increase business telephone and private exchange rates in St. Louis, and estimated the proposed increase would yield about $900,000 in additional revenue a year.

As has been told, the city at that time asked a full valuation before the commission decided the case. This request was renewed this week, following hearings in St. Louis, at which Bell engineers testified properties of the Kinloch Telephone Co., now merged with the Bell, are listed on the Bell books at 91 per cent of their value, although 60 per cent of the Kinloch stations were abandoned in the merger.

Commission experts recently audited the books of the Bell company, to make an analysis of revenues and operating expenses, and to determine plant additions, as shown by the books, since the commission made a valuation of all Bell properties in the State in 1919. The audit of revenues and expenses covered only three months of operation since the merger, and calculations were made from the figures for the three months to reach an estimate on annual revenues. This audit, it was said, indicated the company was entitled to an increase in its rates.

DEFENDANT IN JACK DANIEL CASE ARRESTED IN FLORIDA

Don H. Robinson Was One of "Purchasers" of Warehouse From Which Whisky Was Taken.

Don H. Robinson, one of the purchasers" of the Jack Daniel Distillery warehouse from which whisky in 893 barrels stored there was "milked" and put on the local market by bootleggers in 1923, was arrested yesterday at West Palm Beach, Fla., and will be returned to St. Louis for trial June 15.

Robinson is one of 17 indicted for conspiracy to remove and transport the liquor in violation of the prohibition laws and to defraud the Government of the tax on the liquor for beverage purposes. Others of prominence who will be tried with Robinson are Lem Motlow, original owner of the distillery, George Remus, millionaire Cincinnati bootlegger, and his wife, and William Kinney, former Internal Revenue Agent.

Rain Follows Prayer in Colorado.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Col., May 8.—Led by members of the Denver Rotary Club, business men here Wednesday stood for two minutes in silent prayer for rain. Last night rain fell in nearly every section of the State. In Northern and Eastern Colorado, which are primarily agricultural sections, and in the vicinity of Colorado Springs, the downpour was generous, the Weather Bureau reported.

RADIO PHOTOS SENT IN DOTS AND DASHES

Details of Wireless Picture Transmission Over 5000 Miles of Space.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Photographs of the naval war games have been successfully transmitted by radio from Honolulu to New York. The pictures traveled 5117 miles and were reproduced in New York 20 minutes after the process had been started in Honolulu.

At 2 o'clock yesterday morning the first synchronizing signal was received in the Radio Corporation's studio at 86 Broad street. This signal continued two minutes to permit the operator to synchronize the receiving apparatus with the transmitting set in Honolulu, and 18 minutes later the first picture arrived in New York. Seven others followed at short intervals.

Pen Marks Revolving Drum.

The pictures were sent from the radio photographic transmitting apparatus at Honolulu and from there by land lines to the powerful station KIE, 26 miles away at Kahuku, which threw them across the Pacific on a 16.975-meter wave length. Traveling on the ether waves in a strange, unknown code of dots and dashes, the pictures were received at Marshall, on the west coast, and sent by an ordinary relay device, again over land lines, to station KEL, 19 miles away, at Bolinas, Cal. The Pacific air leap was 2372 miles.

Still in dots and dashes, the pictures were sent from Bolinas on a 13,100-meter wave length and were received at the RCA receiving station in Riverhead, L. I., where a land line 76 miles long carried them to New York after their 2640-mile transcontinental jump.

In New York a pen marking a revolver drum in the same manner in which an old phonograph played a round record drew lines and left blanks according to the dots and dashes received, thus reproducing the original picture. The picture in Honolulu had been placed upon a similar tube, but made of glass, and a light within the glass tube shone through the picture.

Picture Made by Strange Code.

This light, strong where the picture was light, and dimmed by a shadow on the photograph, was translated in dots and dashes to correspond with light and dark spots by means of a sensitive photographic device, and it was this strange code that made the picture.

The relay from Marshall to Bolinas was an automatic one, accomplished without human aid. One feature that interfered slightly with the performance was the fact that all static accumulated on the Pacific leap was sent from Bolinas with the pictures.

DES MOINES BOOTLEGGERS ARE PROMISED PARADE IN STOCKS

Chief of Police Plans to "Inform Public of Violators True Standing in Society."

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 8.—A weekly automobile parade of captured bootleggers, confined in stocks, is planned by Chief of Police James Cavander, to "inform the public of the bootleggers' true standing in society."

An announcement to this effect followed the parade through the streets of a wrecked automobile containing a police officer disguised to represent "death," and holding aloft a bottle labeled "hootch." Police say the driver of the motor car was intoxicated at the time of the accident.

Chief Cavander said today he was making arrangements for the building of large stocks, such as were used in Puritan days. He announced it was his plan to place "all bottleggers arrested in future police drives in stocks and drive them down the streets and through the business part of town."

138 ARRESTS FOLLOW GENERAL POLICE SHIFT

Liquor Found in Eight Saloons and Two Fruit Stores—One Handbook Raided.

Policemen working on the new beats, to which they were assigned yesterday by special order of Chief Gerk, arrested 138 men up to last midnight.

Included in the objectives of their liquor raids were to fruit stores and eight saloons. One handbook establishment was raided and in a second gambling squad raid a man was arrested after weather lottery tickets had been found. Two negroes who were stopped on the street for questioning were arrested after revolvers were found in their pockets.

Policemen who were walking in an alley in the rear of 811 North Leffingwell avenue at night stopped a negro and on finding two bottles of whisky in his pockets, arrested Nick Pandalfo, proprietor of a fruit store at that address. No liquor was found in the store, but Pandalfo was arrested on the negro's statement that he had bought the whisky from the proprietor of the store.

Joseph Randazzo, 18 years old, was arrested in a fruit store at 3640 Easton avenue after 17 gallons of moonshine were found in a shed in the rear. Sergt. O'Gorman found the liquor after a search which began when he saw a bushel basket of empty bottles standing in the store where Randazzo was in charge.

Gus Arpini, proprietor of a saloon at 4634 Olive street, was arrested when policemen found a glass of home brew on a table. Leslie Simpson, salesman of 4610 Olive street, a customer, was also arrested after a policeman had taken a bottle of whisky from his pocket.

NEW YORK BUSINESS MEN FORGET SESSION FOR ART

Motion to Send Painting on Tour Is Tabled After Warm Discussion of Art and Religion.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 8—Conservative business men at the anual meeting of the New York State Chamber of Commerce yesterday forgot all about the docket before them to swing to a discussion of art and religion that revealed their generally unchronicled side and almost broke up the session.

"The Prince of Peace," picturing Christ in the foreground spreading the light of peace and good will on a crumbling civilization in the background, was the matter which engaged the chieftains of business.

Irving T. Bush, president of the Bush Terminal Company and considered about as shrewd a business man as there is, presented a resolution to send the picture around the country for exhibition. "This picture carries its own message of practical idealism," said the Terminal magnate. "It will carry a message that the people of New York are not just Wall Street money gatherers—that Christ and hope and idealism are part of our lives."

Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the New York Life Insurance Co., and also of the Chamber of Commerce is also as much a lover of art as he is of business, but with him religion overshadowed both. "We should remember," he objected, "that there are many members of this Chamber who do not believe that Christ is the hope of the world. There are many of other faiths. I do not think the people who think we wear hoofs and horns, would change their minds simply through viewing this picture."

From then on there was little business but much of art and religion until Mr. Bush's resolution finally was tabled.

COSMETICIANS TO BE LICENSED AFTER OCT. 1

Bill Passed by Recent Legislature Provides for Appointment of Board.

If after Oct. 1 you have your eyebrows arched, if you get a water wave, a scientific facial, an "electrological," a birthmark removed, or any of the numerous and sundry other massages, coiffure manipulations or scalp treatments, you will be ministered to by a licensed member of those arts which are dedicated to the improvement or continuance of beauty.

So were the members of the St. Louis Cosmeticians' Association informed at a recent meeting at the Jefferson Hotel. It is related that nearly all the manicures, hairdressers, beauty culturists and cosmeticians in the city were present to hear what the bill providing for the licensing of all these persons, passed at the recent meeting of the State Legislature, meant to them.

Licensing Bill Passed.

For some time past the St. Louis Cosmeticians' Association and like associations throughout the State have been craving recognition. They felt they were professional people and they felt the way for everyone to know they were professional people was to have themselves licensed. As everybody knows, or should know, doctors, lawyers, dentists and barbers are licensed. They have to pass examinations from their respective State boards to be licensed. And the cosmeticians, manicures et al. felt that if they had to pass an examination, thereby receiving a license with the great seal of Missouri upon it, recognition would be theirs.

So the Legislature passed the bill and Gov. Baker signed it; now the Governor is going to appoint three cosmeticians on the Cosmeticians' State Board, and in October the issuing of licenses will begin. Examinations for persons just beginning to enter this vocation will be held by the board in St. Louis and Kansas City, and cosmeticians and manicures, already practicing, will have licenses issued them on payment of the necessary amount.

Must Sterilize Instruments

Licenses are not the only things mentioned in the recent legislation. All implements, instruments and machines which come in contact with scalp, physiognomy, fingers tips, or any other part to be beautified, are to be sterilized after each usage.

"All good beauty parlors insist on sterilizing their instruments already," Rita B. Lunt, secretary of the St. Louis association, said today. "But after the bill goes into effect in October all other kinds of beauty parlors will have to do it, too."

Frank P. Glass Heads Rotary Club.

Frank P. Glass, editorial director of the St. Louis Star, was chosen president of the Rotary Club at the annual election of officers, announcement of which was made yesterday. The other new officers are: Clarence Case, first vice president; M. J. Eberhart, second vice president; E. C. Fisher, treasurer; M. T. Dougherty, secretary; W. F. Biedermann, sergeant-at-arms, and L. F. Turbull, P. Redmond and Joseph T. Ayres, directors.

M. E. UNIFICATION DISCUSSED

Board of Bishops Considers Opposition in South.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 8.—The question of the unification of the Methodist Episcopal Church with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, took practically all of yesterday's sessions of the Board of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church here.

It was brought out that the present rate of voting by the annual conferences points to the defeat of the unification plan. While conferences of the Northern church appeared to favor unification, the vote in the Southern church tends to be against the movement.

NET VERDICT FOR $5787 AGAINST BERNARD P. BOGY

Judgment Obtained by T. B. Crews in Suit for Fee As Attorney in Litigation Over An Estate.

A net judgment of $5787.66 in favor of former Probate Judge Thomas B. Crews against Bernard P. Bogy, several times a Republican candidate for Congress, was returned yesterday by a jury in Circuit Judge Mix's court. It is based on a fee for legal services rendered by Crews to Bogy in connection with litigation over property belonging to the estate of Bogy's wife.

The litigation, which was a suit for an accounting, involved property said to be valued at $300,000. It was instituted by Bogy's daughter in 1914 and was eventually decided in his favor. He refused to pay a fee to Crews, who has been trying to collect for the past 10 years.

Bogy contended that S. T. G. Smith was his lawyer in the accounting suit and that Crews volunteered his services, which he tendered, according to the defense, in payment for past favors rendered him by the defendant. Crews declared he was original counsel and produced evidence to show he was hired by telegram by Bogy, who was in New York when the suit was filed.

Patrick H. Cullen, attorney for Crews in the fee suit, told the jury that the accounting litigation "bristled with legal propositions, throughout which Crews held the laboring oar." He also said that if the jury thought a lawyer ought to be satisfied with "a mug of beer and a pretzel as a fee then don't give Crews anything."

Crews rendered a bill for $10,000. The gross verdict was for $7841, but the jury allowed on an offset on a $1250 note held by Bogy against Crews.

DAVIS AND WINGARD STOP COBB; TIGERS FALL BACK INTO CELLAR

Williams' Hit in Ninth Inning Wins Game; Sisler Gets Homer and 2 Singles

New York Yankees, Floundering in Seventh Place, Call at Sportsman's Park This Afternoon, Opening East's Invasion—Bush-Shocker Duel Likely.

By Herman Wecke.

Kenneth Williams is a left hand batter. Ed Wells is a southpaw pitcher. Facing Earl Whitehill, another southpaw, this same Kenneth Williams had not hit a ball solidly all afternoon. But Williams went to the plate in the ninth inning, with Joe Evans standing on third base with the winning run. He wasted no time. On the first pitched effort from Wells, the southpaw pitcher, Williams smashed a liner to deep center. Ty Cobb did not even make an effort to catch the ball. Result—Evans scored and the Browns won the game and gained an even break in the series with the Tigers.

Thank You, Mr. Williams

The final score was 6 to 5 and the Browns were forced to play uphill baseball all the way. The defeat incidentally dropped Cobb's men back into last place.

"Dixie" Davis and Ernie Wingard pitched for the Browns. They ended the record shattering batting streak of the 38-year-old Ty Cobb. However, one foot more and Cobb would have set a new mark for the clubbers to shoot at. His drive in the first, good for two bases, landed just a foot from the top of the right field fence. Just that much more and Cobb would have had six homers in three days, a feat that would have gone down in history as a record, as five is the standard, old and modern, included.

Wingard the Hero.

After that safety Cobb did nothing. He walked once and managed to work his way around the paths, but on his other three appearances at the plate, he sent tall flies to the outfield.

Of the two Brownie pitchers, Ernie Wingard, the young left hander, was the hero. He entered the game facing a ticklish situation. It came in the eighth when the Tigers had men on second and third and only one out. But Wingard was equal to the occasion. He first faced O'Rourke. That worthy, who had crashed two doubles off Davis, rolled to Robertson and Neun, who was on third, was run down between third and home. That brought up Cobb, producer of five homers in two days. But Cobb's best was a fly to Jacobson and the inning was at an end.

In the ninth, Wingard saw to it that no member of the Tigers reached first. He tossed out Heilmann; got Manush on a fly to Williams and then picked up Rigney's grounder and beat the runner to first.

Sisler Still Hitting.

There was one other hero, and none other than George Harold Sisler, the man who is making a sensational "come back." Failing to hit safely his first two trips to the plate, the Brownie manager sent a liner to the flag pole in center for a home run in the fifth. That made 22 straight games in which he has batted safely. But Sisler was not satisfied. He followed with singles on his two other appearances at the plate. For the season, Sisler has made 42 hits in 97 times at bat for an average of .433. One of his singles came in the ninth, when it was badly needed.

The Tigers got off in front in the first inning on doubles by O'Rourke and Cobb and a sacrifice by Heilmann. O'Rourke figured Cobb's drive would be caught, so got no farther than third. In the third, a double by O'Rourke, Heilmann's single, and Rigney's homer gave three. Passes to Cobb and Heilmann and Manush's hit gave the final.

How the Browns Scored.

Williams' pop single to center followed by McManus' homer over the left field fence gave the Browns two in the second. In the third, a double by McManus, Jacobson's single and a fielder's choice added another. Then came Sisler's homer.

In the eighth, Cobb tried a bit of strategy. He sent Dauss to the hill to replace Whitehill. McManus opened with a walk and Tobin, up for Jacobson, sacrificed. Severeid poled a double to center and the score was tied.

Then the ninth. One out, Evans doubled and Dauss was on his way, Wells going in. Hits by Sisler and Williams and it was all over.

the dozen safeties were good for 29 bases, more than two a hit.

Johnny Tobin got back into the game. He was a pinch batter for Jacobson in he eighth and then went to right field. Bennett, broken finger and all, got in as a pinch runner for Severeid in the eighth.

With the three home runs yesterday, a total of 14 were batted in the quartet of battles between the Browns and Tigers.

Ed Wells certainly took his time when he went to the hill in the ninth. And there was reason. It had been decided to call the game at 5:45 o'clock to permit the Tigers to catch a train for home. If he could delay, without the Browns scoring until that time, the Tigers would get at least a tie. Bassler, after he had stopped a foul tip off Sisler's bat, on a slow ball, also did a lot of stalling.

McManus hit the ball solidly. In addition to his homer he had a double, while on another occasion his liner went straight into Jones' hand. On his final appearance at the plate, he drew a base on balls and scored the tieing run.

Wingard was credited with the victory and Dauss got the defeat. It was Dauss' second reverse in the series.

Dixie Davis is usually a quiet individual. But yesterday Davis complained several times on Umpire Rowland's calling of balls and strikes. As usual it got the hurler nothing.

The Browns put up another squawk in the seventh, when Severeid made a throw to catch Heilmann off third and Hildebrand ruled him safe. Same result as in the case of Davis.

Brownie Sidelights

The first of the Eastern invaders, the New York Yankees, open a series of four games with the Browns today. The men of Huggins are not only Ruthless, but apparently punchless and pitcherless. The former world's champions have won but five games out of 17 this season. Only the other day, Huggins made a change by benching the veteran Everett Scott and replacing him with a young man named Wanninger. This switch, according to reports, was made at the request of the Yankee pitchers.

In the clash today, there is a possibility that Joe Bush and Urban Shocker, two of the pitchers who figured in the winter trade between the two teams, will be the rival hill men.

Dixie Davis had his usual wild streak yesterday. He walked six batters, deadheading two men in each of the sixth and seventh rounds. He permitted eight hits.

In the series against the Browns, Cobb had 12 hits in 19 trips to the plate for an average of .632. In-

Sansone Matched With Schnemann

To Meet in One of Feature Bouts of Amateur Ring Card.

Mike Sansone, the St. Louis midget who won runner-up honors in the Pan-American championships at Boston last Wednesday, will battle Sammy Schnemann of the South Broadway A. C. next Wednesday night in the bantamweight feature of an outdoor boxing tourney to be staged under the auspices of the Business Men's A. C. at the Battery arena.

The bout was closed by Matchmaker Harry Cook last night, following his receipt of a telegram from Sansone, accepting the match. Sansone, and Ray Alfano, National A. A. U. featherweight champion, are expected to return from Boston tomorrow. Alfano is scheduled to oppose Eddie Goldberg of the South Broadway Club in another star bout of the Battery program.

Sansone and Schnemann have clashed twice within the past year. Their first meeting was staged at the South Broadway A. C. Schnemann was awarded the decision on a foul. In a return match, held last winter at the Coliseum, Sansone earned the judges' decision after three rounds of furious milling.

Louis Terry, Jack Horner and other stars of the South Broadway fistic troupe, are assisting Trainer Kuehl in prepping Schnemann for the Battery duel.

Handicap Beats Glenna Collett

American Girl Plays Brilliantly in Two Rounds of Foursomes Tourney.

By the Associated Press.

ST. ANNES, England, May 8.—Miss Glenna Collett, former American woman golf champion, gave a reassuring demonstration yesterday that British seaside weather cannot put her off her game. In two rounds of foursomes of the Northern tournament, paired with Mrs. Allan MacBeth, she showed the finest form with both wooden and iron clubs and especially with her putter, that she has displayed since coming to England.

She and her British partner lost in the afternoon, and were thereby eliminated from the tournament, but that is incidental. Their opponents were conceded a stroke on each of eight holes, too sizeable a present for even Miss Collett and Mrs. MacBeth to give, for although they went around the course in 80, playing only two or three faulty shots, yet on the home green they found themselves beaten by one hole.

They reached the turn in 39, despite a five on the short ninth, where Miss Collett overdrove the green. Yet they were only one up after the nine holes. They came home in 41, but their opponents, Mrs. Croasdale and Miss Higham of St. Annes, made the same nine in 43, and having received strokes on four of the homeward holes, had a net score of 39.

Miss Collett's firse nine holes, both in the morning and afternoon, were played in a cold driving rain, and both return journeys were played in a curious mixture of sunshine, showers, gusts and calm.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Coming Fast.

THE victory of William Lawrence Stribling over that iron-framed son of the Andes, Quentin Romero-Rojas, is significant. It seems to broadcast the warning, "Look out for Stribling."

That's because it shows Stribling, considered a powder-puff hitter and a safety-first fighter, is a changed athlete.

It takes a real punch to stop the Chilean, who was rated the seventh best fighter in the world by Tex Rickard not so long ago. His victory shows William Lawrence can hit hard. It also indicates he, Stribling, is coming out of immaturity and into manhood. He is willing to take a chance, instead of standing back and trying to outclever the other man.

Not yet of age, weighing about 180 pounds, willing to concede 15 pounds weight and swap punches with a man of Romero's class, Stribling todays seems worthy of attention as a real prospect.

In two more years the world may not be lookin gnowhere but in the general direction of Macon, Ga., to find where dwells a capable successor to Jack Dempsey.

Meet the Rabbit Again.

WE HAVE with us again Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, winners of a world's championship and three league flags, and author of the celebrated line, "A man doesn't know anything about a losing streak until he manages a St. Louis team."

Miller ought to know. As manager of the Cardinals he lost 19 games in a row, once upon a time.

With Babe Ruth out of it and a lot of senile stars back of him, Miller again may drop back to the black bread stage. The Yankees do not look good enough to win the flag this year; and it is quite possible old age will drop the team into the second division.

Huggins Succeeded.

ALL Cardinal fans will remember Huggins as a manager here. He succeeded "Duke" Roger Bresnahan, who, like a bull in a china shop, smashed all his opportunities and then accused Huggins of undermining him with Mrs. Britton.

As between the two, subsequent events speak eloquently in favor of Huggins. Where Bresnahan went to Toledo and failed, Huggins first helped the Cardinals; then graduated to the Yanks, making a conspicuous success in the face of the sneering attitude of his own players and the constant jeering of newspaper enemies. He persisted until he made himself and his employers—one of them at least—rich.

Huggins proved himself a better man than Bresnahan.

If given his own way he will rebuild the Yanks in a short time.

Come On, Old Sol.

THE Browns are suffering from a lack of solar heat units. The unseasonable chill has settled in the old soupbones of the Brownie hurlers. The amount of big league pitching seen here this year has therefore been negligible.

That the team itself, aside from its pitching, is sound as a new dollar, is evident. Every time the club gets an even break from its hurling department it wins.

The Browns today have the best looking team of regulars in the circuit. The staff wants Old Sol to beam a little more brightly and thaw out the pitching arms.

It is not so certain that this will send the club rocketing into the lead; but it will mean that the club will have three pitchers able to give fairly dependable service. At present there is not one reliable hurler on the job.

Crangle, Illinois Star, Will Coach Missouri Tigers

Recommendation Made Yesterday Will Be Approved by Board of Curators.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 8.—The University of Missouri committee on intercollegiate athletics voted here last night to recommend to the University Board of Curators the appointment of Walter F. (Jack) Crangle, former University of Illinois star athlete, to succeed Harry G. Kipke on the Missouri coaching staff, and to recommend William J. Fallon, assistant trainer at the University of Michigan, as trainer for the Tigers in all sports, C. L. Brewer, director of athletics, announced today. The recommendation of the athletic committee is equivalent to appointment.

Kipke recently resigned to accept an appointment as a member of the University of Michigan football coaching staff. Crangle, who played football, baseball and basketball at Illinois, and who was chosen for the all-western eleven in 1921, will be head coach of baseball and assistant coach of basketball and football at Missouri.

Graduate of Illinois Course.

He is a graduate of the University of Illinois four-year coaching course, according to Brewer, and has had three years of coaching experience, having served as a member of the Illinois coaching staff for one year, one year at St. Viators, and the past year at the University of Arkansas, where he has been head coach of basketball and baseball and assistant coach in football. He had marked success in all three positions, Mr. Brewer stated, and comes to Missouri highly recommended.

Fallon, who succeeds Dr. O. L. Clough, who resigned last December to become head of the physical education department at the Maryville State Teachers' College, has been assistant trainer at the University of Michigan for five years, and his experience as a trainer, including work with professional baseball teams, extends over a period of 10 years. He is, according to Brewer, one of the best known of the younger trainers in the country. He comes to Missouri under a permanent, full-time contract.

St. Mary's Trims Piker Team, 4-2

ST. MARY'S, Kan., May 8.—The St. Mary's College basebeall team, coached by Steve O'Rourke, former coach at St. Louis University, defeated the Washington University Pikers here yesterday afternoon, 4 to 2. The Pikers showed a punch early in the game, but the Irish scored three runs in the fourth inning and thereafter maintained a lead.

Three safeties, a squeeze bunt, two errors and McEvoy's steal of home produced the three runs for the Irish in the big fourth inning.

Zbyszko Dodges Stecher; Chase Leads to Chicago

Promoter and Tony Stecher "Hold the Sack" When Champion Skips.

Stanislaus Zbyszko is a slippery fellow on the wrestling mat, but in dodging promoters who would bring him with Joe Stecher he not only wriggles away, but he disappears. He was expected at a conference between Promotor Tom Packs and Tony Stecher, manager of Joe Stecher, yesterday at 10 a. m., but while the promoter and manager waited, Zbyszko slipped quietly out of town, presumably for Chicago.

Eager to close the championship match for St. Louis on May 2, Packs and Stecher departed last night for Chicago, where they hope to corner Zibby and induce him to accept an offer of $50,000 for the bout. This purse represents the promoter's offer of $40,000 plus $10,000 offered by the Stecher brothers for the privilege of a championship match.

Although there is a strong possibility that the "gate" here will not be sufficient to return a profit to the promoter, Packs is said to be willing to risk a loss on the championship bout in the hope of recouping on subsequent shows in which Joe Stecher will appear as the headliner.

Philadelphia and Chicago promoters are also striving to land the Zbyszko-Stecher contest. An offer of $40,000 is said to have been made by Promoter Fabiani of Philadelphia. Tom Law, promoter of mat bouts at Wichita, Kan., left St. Louis yesterday after failing to induce Zbyszko to accept a certified check for $30,000 which he offered as a purse guarantee to the champion for a match with Stecher.

With a promise of the services of John Pesek as his trump card, Tiefenthaler has announced his return to the business of promoting wrestling bouts.

His first show will be held May 21 at the St. Louis park, Compton avenue and Market street.

District Tournament.

NORTH HILLS COUNTRY CLUB will break into the big league this season, holding the tenth annual championship tournament of the St. Louis District Golf Association. The competition will be held the week of June 6 to 13 and invitations are being mailed by Secretary Clarence L. Wolff.

The qualifying round of 18 holes will start at 8 a. m. Saturday, June 6, and will be at 18 holes. Two 18-hole courses will be available at North Hills and if the field is too cumbersome to handle over one course, both will be used.

There will be two classes in addition to the title flight and a championship consolation class for title flight players defeated in the first round of match play which will start Monday, June 8. Match play will be at 18 holes until the semi-finals are reached when those still in the hunt for the title will play 36-hole rounds, using both courses at North Hills. It will be the first time in the history of the district that 36 holes have been available for tournament play. Finals in all classes will be at 36 holes, the finals being scheduled for Saturday, June 13.

Held to Defend Title.

IN connection with the qualifying round there will be the usual team competition, teams of four men from each club participating, the quartet with the lowest aggregate score winning.

Eddie Held, who won the title last year at Sunset Hill, will defend his title. Eddie last year won the first leg on the Newell Trophy, which must be won three times to become permanent property of a player.

The links of the North Hills course will be open for practice for entered contestants during the week preceding the tournament, the course being closed to all but tournament players during the week.

Entries must be in the hands of Secretary Wolff, 1619 Boatmen's Bank Building, by Wednesday, June 3. The pairings for the qualifying round will be made Thursday night, June 4.

State Tourney June 16.

JUNE will be a busy month for St. Louis golfers. After the district finals at North Hills June 13, St. Louis hunters after golf honors will depart for Kansas City, where the Missouri State championship will be held at the Lakewood Country Club, starting Tuesday, June 16. On June 22 the twenty-fifth annual tournament of the Trans-Mississippi Golf Association will open at Omaha, with Jimmy Manion of Riverview, formerly of Midland Valley, defending his title.

Glen Echo Stag.

GLEN ECHO golfers will hold their fourth annual stag dinner tournament tomorrow afternoon. Fred Campbell and C. W. Nelson will captain two teams of about 100 men each and the losing team will pay all expenses for a stag dinner to be held at the club tomorrow evening. Competition will be at Nassau.

Only Three Horses Training at Churchill Downs of Derby Class

Quatrain, Captain Hal and Lee O. Cotner Outclass All Others Preparing at This Track — Railbirds Question Stamina of Cotner.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE,. Ky.., May 8.—Derby horses which have been conditioned at Churchill Downs have begun to show the effects of the long and gruelling training they have been subjected to for the past two months. In the final trials for the classic many of the candidates have reached the stage where this training is telling on their constitutions.

It appears that only three of the colts here have weathered the storm to the extent that they can be seriously considered as having a good chance over the long Derby route. Quatrain, Captain Hal and Lee O. Cotner. The latter looks as if he was a bit finely drawn, however.

Lee O. Cotner's Stamina Doubted.

The course at the Downs was at its best yesterday, and the fleet-footed thoroughbreds showed some fast workouts. Lee O. Cotner's three-quarters was the best move of the day and the Collins colt wore blinkers and stepped the first quarter in :23, half in :47 and at the three-quarters in 1:13 1-5. He tailed off considerably in the last quarter and was driven out at the finish.

The clocking brigade, which had been largely augmented by the Lexington division, had various comments to make as to Lee O. Cotner's work. It was the consensus that the Collins colt was fast as far as he went; but he did not finish like a colt which could go a long route.

Captain Hal drew the most favorable comment when he was breezed seven-eighths of a mile with Jockey Pease up. While it was commented that the son of Black Toney looked a bit light, due to his arduous training, it also was pointed out that Black Gold was even smaller than Captain Hal at this time last year, yet he had enough courage to walk off with the rich prize.

Captain Hal's work was done in an easy manner and the colt was well in hand all the way. He stepped the first quarter in 24; half in 48 1-5; three-quarters in 1:14, and galloped out the seven-eighths in 1:27 2-5. It was a good move and the followers of Captain Hal were well pleased with his showing.

Trainer Mose Shaphoft sent his $70,000 Kentucky Cardinal over the full mile and a quarter route of the Derby. This colt went along in a business-like way. While the trial was nothing sensational it was a creditable one. The Croissant Derby candidate stepped the first quarter in :25; half in 49 1-5; three-quarters in 1:15 1-5; mile in 1:43, mile and eighth in 1:57 1-5, and galloped out the mile and one-quarter in 2:11. The work was satisfactory to the trainer and his assistants. The colt looks good and is sure to improve.

Pol Rogers Sulks.

Pol Rogers today showed that he is far short of a Derby possibility. He sulked when sent for a mile after stepping the first quarter in :23 4-5; half in :48 4-5; three-quarters in 1:16 4-5, and mile in 1:47 2-5. This colt refused to run further than a half mile at full speed. He began tiring fast after the three-quarters.

Ray Time, the Cincinnati stables' Derby eligible, went with Outcast. The pair was caught the first quarter in :24; half in :48, and three-quarters in 1:15.

La Honitan was breezed five-eighths in 1:03. He will not do for the Derby. Bankrupt, another of the Croissant stable's Derby eligibles was on the slow side when he was cantered a mile in 1:51. Pyroot, another Derby eligible, breezed three-quarters in 1:18 3-5.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR QUALIFYING PLAY FOR NATIONAL "OPEN"

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Steps for the elimination of congestion in the sectional qualifying round of the national open golf championship at Lido and apportionment of the number of qualifiers from the East, Midwest and West were taken yesterday at a meeting of officials representing the United States and professional golfers' associations.

Fifty-eight qualifiers were awarded to the Eastern section at Lido; 27 to the Midwestern section at Onwentsia, and five to the Western section at San Francisco.

It was decided to divide the large field of 270 at Lido into two divisions of 135 players each, the first to play 18 holes on Wednesday, May 27, and the second to play 18 on the following day. Golfers having the low 65 scores returned on each day will be entitled to play a final 18 holes on Friday, May 29, when 58 players will qualify for the open on their 36-hole totals.

Stribling Stops Romero in First Heavyweight Go

Atlanta Boy Severely Punishes Chilean—Referee Stops Bout in Fourth Round.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, May 8.—Young Stribling of Atlanta, Ga., now is a recognized heavyweight. He made a triumphal entry into the class by scoring a technical knockout in the fourth round last night over Quentin Romero Rojas, heavyweight champion of Chile. The Southerner has won his way up through the boxing game from the bantamweight class.

Romero was outclassed from the start, and his blows in the first round were ineffective. He was badly punished in the next round, suffered two knockdowns in the third, and fought blindly in the fourth round after a third flooring, until the referee stopped the bout and gave Stribling the decision.

The Georgian played for his opponent's head and face throughout the contest, mixing sharp left jabs, right crosses to the jaw and rights to the head at will.

A Wood Cleek —New and Very Useful

THIS new wood cleek is much easier to play than an iron cleek, and also easier to use than any other wood club.

It delivers those wonderfully long clean cleek-shots that are so useful on holes of 400 yards and upward.

It has a long, narrow head, rounded at the heel, making it easy to get the ball up out of lies where a spoon couldn't be used. It gives the average player considerably more distance than he could get from a spoon.

Sold by golf "pros" and at the best stores.

Ideal Model 41 Cleek

With Hickory Shaft—$6
With Steel Shaft—$8

Experienced golfers who have played this club say it gives long, clean hits, where an iron wouldn't give sufficient distance.

CHANTEY HOT FAVORITE TO WIN $50,000 PREAKNESS, TODAY

Son of Pennant Shows Amazing Speed in Trials

Will Be Coupled in the Betting With H. P. Whitney's Flyer, Backbone.

G. F. T. Ryall,

Of the New York World Sport Staff.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PIMLICO, Md., May 8.—Maid-at-Arms, a daughter of Man o' War, will try to make turf history repeat in the Preakness, the first of the $50,000 spring classics for 3-year-olds, at Pimlico this afternoon.

Fifteen colts and the filly were been named overnight for Maryland's racing classic, but four withdrawals were announced this morning. This reduced the field to 12. The field is disappointing, to be sure, what, with so many of the top-notchers going wrong this season; but there is every prospect of the contest finish being well up to the traditions of the Preakness.

The withdrawals announced this morning are William Garth's Finland, J. S. Cosden's Cloudland and the Belair stud entries, Marconi and Sir Ronald.

One thing is certain, the race will be more truly run, because of the smaller field, than since the value of the stake jumped into five figures. If all go to the post this afternoon the purse will be worth $52,725 to the winner.

A year ago Nellie Morse, one of the two fillies to win the fixture in the last 15 runnings, splashed her way to victory over a big field after capturing the Pimlico Oaks impressively a few days before. Maid-at-Arms ran no less impressively in the Oaks on Monday, and that is why the Glen Riddle farm colors will have a strong following today.

Chantey will be the favorite, and Jimmy Rowe, who will saddle him for the Green Tree stable, will have a strong second string to his bow with Backbone, H. P. Whitney's winner of the Wood Stakes at Jamaica last Saturday.

Whitney Has Strong Hand.

Those who saw the half-brother to Enchantment win at Havre de Grace will not be forgetting how he did what few 3-year-olds have been able to do. His works here have been no less impressive. The last time Rowe set him down, on Tuesday, he made the watchers blink and the trial of Prince of Bourbon, a few minutes later looked poor, indeed, though it was a good one from a time standpoint.

Chantey was out on the track yesterday for a breather, a half mile with Backbone in :49, and not a few horsemen said he seemed a bit sore, but this is not unexpected for he never was a sound horse. However, the writer on all that he has seen and in spite of what he had heard, favors the big colt to beat the filly and all the rest.

It was expected that American Flag, Man o' War's best son last year, would carry the Glen Riddle colors in the Preakness; but he bruised his heel slightly. Tompkins intends to ship him to Churchill Downs for the Kentucky Derby if he trains on.

Prince of Bourbon and Singlefoot are the most favored of the others and in the opinion of horsemen, the Maryland colt has the shade. Prince of Bourbon went seven furlongs in 1:30 this morning, doing just what was asked of him. Jim McClellan thinks he has a pretty nice horse, too.

Almadel Only Kentucky Entry.

The only Kentucky representative in the race is Almadel and he will have a lot of followers on nothing so much as his showing in the Dixie Handicap, when manifestly not fit for the race. The showing of Chacolet in winning the Stafford Handicap has tended to strengthen this feeling to a conviction that he will give a mighty good acount of himself.

The others, Voltaic, By Hisself, Coventry, Gold Stick, Swope (which Sande will ride) are just possibilities, though George Odom and Bob Smith think they both have bang-up chances.

PREAKNESS ENTRIES, JOCKEYS, PRICES AND POSITIONS AT POST

BIG LEAGUE TEAMS OPEN EAST VS. WEST COMPETITION TODAY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Opening today of the initial series of the big league season between teams of the East and West offers the acid test for spring winning streaks in both leagues as well as the first serious challenge to leaders in both circuits.

The scene shifted to the West for the Eastern teams of the American circuit, with the Washington Senators meeting the slugging White Sox as a starter, while the Giants oppose the uncertain Cardinals at the Polo Grounds.

The Yankees, who always have fared better on the road than at home, welcomed the opportunity to quit the East. Manager Huggins attributed the defeats of the Yankees to the cold weather along the Atlantic coast. Without Babe Ruth, the team has been laboring under a handicap.

Cleveland forced another triple tie for the leadership of the American League yesterday by turning back the White Sox, 7 to 2, while Philadelphia and Washington were idle.

The Giants rescued a slugfest with the Phillies by a nint-inning rally, the champions overcoming a six-run lead to win by 11 to 8.

The Boston Braves took advantage of loose playing by the Dodgers and evened up their series by winning the fourth game, 7 to 2.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls, or answers by mail, cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

GREENHORN.—The following is a formula for a general disinfectant: Alum, 10 ounces; sodium carbonate, 10 ounces; ammonium chloride, 2 ounces; hydrochloric acid, quantity sufficient. Water to make one gallon. Dissolve the alum in one-half gallon of boiling water, and add the sodium carbonate; then add hydrochloric acid until the precipitate formed is dissolved. Dissolve the salt in water and add to the previous solution. Finally add enough water to make the whole measure one gallon and filter. In use this is diluted with seven parts of water.

V. O.—In treatment for damp walls the walls should be cleaned before painting. If the plaster should be worn and permeated with saltpeter in places it should be renewed and smoothed. These clean surfaces are coated twice with a water glass solution, 1.1, using a brush and allowed to dry well. Then they are painted three times with the following mixture: Dissolve 100 parts by weight of mastic in 10 parts of absolute alcohol; pour 1000 parts of water over 200 parts of isinglass; allow to soak for 6 hours; heat to a solution and add 100 parts of alcohol (50 parts per cent). Into this mixture pour a hot solution of 50 parts of ammonia in 250 parts of alcohol, stir well and subsequently add the mastic solution and stand aside warm, stirring diligently. After 5 minutes take away from the fire and painting may be commence before a fresh application, however, the solution should be removed. When this coating has dried completely it is covered with oil or varnish paint. New walls which are to be painted will give off no more saltpeter after two or three applications of isinglass solution, so the colors of the wall papers are not injured.

EDITH.—Above Sawyer's Bend in the Mississippi River is the Chain of Rocks, sometimes called the Grand Chain; but that distinction does not belong to those rocks, the "Grand Chain of Rocks" proper being below Cape Girardeau. The chain commences at the intake tower of the new waterworks, opposite Chouteau Island. At the head of the chain on the Missouri side there was, in 1837, an island called Wilson's Island, which disappeared a few years since. The Chain of Rocks, from its head to the foot, is about three miles in length and consists of flat rocks shoving out from the Missouri side, sloping and extending about half way toward the Illinois side of the river. At a low stage of the water they rose above the surface of the river and were at all times a menace to navigation. In 1868 City Engineer Homer erected a dyke from the Chain of Rocks, extending it out 1600 feet. He then planned a dyke at an angle from the former one to cross the bend to the head of Carbaret Island, which was designed to throw the channel on the east side of the island. expending $60,000, the city abandoned the scheme.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

U. S. A. — Probably you could have obtained an award from the Mixed Claims Commission if you had filed a claim. The time for filing claims has long since passed. However, you might write to the United States Agent, Mixed Claims Commission, United States and Germany, Washington, D. C.

CANADIAN.—If you do not wish to ask the executors for the information desired, you might either employ a Toronto lawyer to get it for you or else write to the clerk of the court which is administering the estate and ask when it is expected that a final settlement of the estate will be made.

LITTLE ONE.—(1) It is against the law for a woman to be employed, permitted or suffered to work more than nine hours during any one day or more than 54 hours in any one week. (2) Even though the woman worked voluntarily it would be a violation of the law for her employer to permit her to do so.

W. G. S.—(1) The legal rate of interest is 8 per cent on the loan. The rate charged your mother is usurious. Tell her to consult the Legal Aid Bureau, in the Municipal Courts building, Fourteenth and Market streets. (2) The incident which you mentioned in your letter seems to be closed now. We do not see anything that can be done about it now.

ARTHUR.—You can get an application blank for the Federal Soldiers' Bonus at the old Custom House, third and Olive streets, or from the local offices of the Veterans' Bureau, or by writing to the United States Veterans' Bureau, Washington, D. C. The bonus consists of 20-year endowment life insurance, unless the amount is $50 or less, in which case cash is paid.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS.

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnosis or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

MRS. P. T.—Repeat your question, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope.

PATIENT.—A careful examination of the gall bladder and appendix should be made. We suggest first 5 grains of salol three or four times a day. If this does not relieve, 4 cholelith pills morning and evening for a month. Follow with a large glass of water.

MRS. J. S.—An ulcer which has existed for 23 years is one which would need the personal attention of a physician and not unlikely surgical procedure. There is no doubt accompanying disturbed circulation in the leg, varicose veins, etc. These cases cannot be self-treated with any hope of success.

AGONY.—For the perspiring and burning feet we first suggest immersing the feet in very hot water, containing a bar of common laundry soap, for 15 or 20 minutes every night or two. The water must be kept as hot as can be borne by adding hot water. After bathing dry without rinsing. If this is not effective write again.

ALICE.—A child 4 years of age should eat any reasonable, easily digested food, avoiding greasy foods, pies, pastries and nuts; eggs, milk, fresh vegetables and fruit, with a limited amount of meat, would be proper. If the child is not well, of course this does not apply. In such an event a specific diet would probably be necessary, depending on the condition.

MOTORS TAKE LEADERSHIP IN STOCKS

Utilities Continue Prominent in Active Market—Call Money Eases—Exchange Irregular.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"For the seventh successive day prices of speculative securities surged forward in an active session on the Stock Exchange today. A broad list of utility, railroad and industrial shares reached new high levels for the year. A decline in the rate for call loans from 3½ per cent the renewal figure to 3½ per cent stimulating activity in the afternoon. Strength in commodities and steadiness in high-grade bonds contributed to the improved sentiment. Public utility stocks which recently have attracted attention and several rails mentioned in connection with proposed mergers were in demand. Profit taking and some fresh selling checked the rise for a time but buying went forward with renewed vigor in the final hour and prices averaged around the top for the day. The industrial list was virtually at a new peak for 1925 and at the top of the long bull movement. Rail shares were only a short distance behind.

Motor Shares Lead Advance.

"After the failure of an attempt to depress prices on indications that the United States Steel Co. would report another decrease in unfilled orders for April industrial shares rallied briskly under the leadership of the motors. Willys Overland was in particularly keen demand, the common reaching a new high for the year above 21. A block of 10,500 shares changed hands at 20, and this was the signal for a sustained buying movement. Continued improvement in the industry was the basis for the accumulation. Mack Trucks reached the highest point of the year in anticipation of a favorable development in the proposed split-up. Dodge preference and Pierce-Arrow were other strong points.

Improved Sentiment Felt.

"The week's rise in security prices was featured in the trade reviews issued today. 'An improved sentiment in some directions,' says Dun's review, 'has largely reflected a clearer recognition of the constructive factors in the present economic situation. It is believed that forces are at work which will ultimately have a stimulating effect on business and it is this prospect, rather than any gain in current operations that accounts for the better feeling lately developed. Automobile production continues to increase, according to reports in trade circles which indicate that output this month will exceed that of April. In fact, the entire second quarter should closely approach record figures, it is believed, for accessory manufacturers have so far felt no sign of a let-up, and they are from one to two months ahead of the motor car manufacturers.

Foreign Exchanges Irregular.

"For the first time since the forward movement started in sterling based on the return to the gold standard in Great Britain rates on London turned reactionary. The setback was slight, however, and was not unexpected. Strength in Argentine exchange was one of the day's features and was believed to forecast important financial developments in that direction. French francs rallied, while Norwegian and Danish crowns were again in urgent demand.

Commodity Prices Rally.

"A rebound in wheat prices carried May contracts to a new high level for the current movement at $1.69. The close was slightly below this figure with a net advance of nearly 5 cents a bushel.

"Corn also developed strength and closed near the top for the day with May contracts up about 2 cents a bushel.

• • •

Cotton Is Higher.

"Cotton prices rallied, new-crop months being in better demand and closing about $1 a bale higher. May contracts were dull and little changed.

St. Louis Stocks

ST. LOUIS STOCK EXCHANGE, May 8.—Trade was rather broad on the local market today, but the volume of business was only moderate. Prices were mostly unchanged to higher.

Minnesota and Ontario Paper Company

First Mortgage Sinking Fund 6% Gold Bonds, Series A

Dated April 1, 1925. Interest payable April 1 and October 1 without deduction for Federal Income Taxes now or hereafter deductible at the source, not in excess of 2%. Principal and interest will be payable at the holder's option either in United States gold coin at the office of The Minnesota Loan and Trust Company, Trustee, Minneapolis, or at the offices of Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., in Chicago and New York, or in Canadian gold coin at the offices of The Dominion Bank in Toronto, Montreal, St. John, Winnipeg and Vancouver. Coupon bonds, denominations $1,000, $500, $100.

A letter from Mr. E. W. Backus, President of the Company, is summarized as follows:

The Company: Minnesota and Ontario Paper Company, operating manufacturing plants direct and through subsidiaries at International Falls, Minnesota, and Fort Frances and Kenora, Ontario, ranks among the largest newsprint paper manufacturers in the world. Modern ground wood, sulphite and paper mills are owned and in connection therewith extensive hydro-electric and hydraulic power generating plants; also a sulphate (Kraft) pulp mill, Insulite mill, saw and planing mill plants, box, crating and shook factories, railroads and logging spurs and equipment.

The timber supply in Minnesota and Ontario contiguous and tributary to the mills embraces a forest area of approximately 50,000 square miles and contains an almost inexhaustible supply of spruce pulpwood and other paper-making woods, while the actual holdings in Minnesota and Ontario are reliably estimated to contain sufficient pulpwood to keep the paper mills, including the contemplated additional capacity, in operation for over fifty years and the sawlog timber to keep the saw mills in operation over twenty-five years.

Security: These bonds, together with any hereafter issued under the restrictions of the Mortgage, will be secured by a direct or collateral first lien on all the physical property now owned or which may be hereafter acquired by the Company and on all physical property owned by its principal subsidiaries.

The balance sheet, as of November 30, 1924, giving effect to the present financing and the recent appraisals of the Company's fixed property discloses net tangible assets after deducting all liabilities except these bonds and net current assets of $60,741,459.61 and $12,033,980.07 respectively.

Earnings: Average annual net earnings of the Company during the five-year and eleven months period ended November 30, 1924, as certified by independent auditors, were $2,737,541.64, (after depletion, local taxes and liberal charges for maintenance and repairs, but before interest, depreciation, and income taxes). These earnings include no return on over $12,000,000 expended or being expended on properties to be presently in operation. Maximum annual interest charges on these bonds require $960,000. For 1925, net earnings, as above, are estimated at approximately $4,000,000.

Sinking Fund: In addition to the serial maturities the Mortgage will provide for a Sinking Fund which will retire and cancel, either by purchase or redemption, principal amounts of the bonds due April 1, 1945, sufficient to retire all of such bonds by maturity.

How's This? Corns Lift Out

With Fingers—No Pain!

Thanks to a new discovery made from a Japanese product your foot troubles can be quickly ended.

Ice-mint as this new preparation is called is said to shrivel up hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes so that they can be lifted out easily with the fingers. It's wonderful. Think of it: only a touch or two of Ice-mint and real foot-joy is yours.

There is not one bit of pain or soreness when applying it or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

If your feet are inclined to swell or puff, it will draw the inflammation right out and quickly heal the sore and tender places. It is the real Japanese secret of fine, healthy little feet and is greatly appreciated by women who wear high heel shoes and by men who have to stand on their feet all day. Try it. Just ask in any Drug store for a few cents worth of Ice-mint and learn for yourself what solid foot comfort really is. There is nothing better.

FRENCH PRESS STILL RESENTFUL

Editors See in Houghton's Speech an Attempt to Force Through Security Pact.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

PARIS, May 8.—Washington is trying to oblige France to sign the five-Power security pact which Germany proposed and Britain seconded, the leading conservative Paris dailies say. This is the real meaning of Ambassador Houghton's speech at the Pilgrims dinner in London, they declare, and to prove the contention they cite official statements from the White House backing up Houghton's statements.

All insist that France should resist the pressure.

"The material aid and moral support the United States gave us during the war remain unforgettable," says Leon Bailby, editor of the Intransigeant. "But our gratitude is one thing and our right to self-protection is another."

"The State Department, through Ambassador Houghton wished to signify that America yearns for conclusion of the mutual pact of guarantee currently called the Stresemann-D'Abernon pact and that if need be the American money market will punish the countries resisting the great enterprise by refusing them credits," says "Pertinax" in the Echo de Paris.

"Let us tell our American friends their threats do not frighten us," he continues. "They tried them against Von Hindenburg's candidacy the other day and see what they amounted to."

The Figaro takes the same general attitude.

"Houghton's address," says the Gaulois, "follows the violent attacks by Senator Borah, who treated France as a Shylock when she tried to make Germany pay and treats the same France now as a bad debtor to whom the bill collector ought to be sent."

The Information says that Washington now considers Europe as Europe used to consider the Balkans, adding that Wall street will not lend or refuse to lend on Washington's dictate, but upon its decision as to whether an investment is sound.

The liberal Oeuvre says Wash-

the next few days will send a reply to the German proposals for a security pact. He will, the New York World and Post-Dispatch learn, make the treaty of Versailles the basis of negotiations. Under such conditions the question of Germany's present frontiers could not be raised. There will be no direct reference to Poland or Czecho-Slovakia in the reply.

QUANTITY SYNTHETIC SUGAR PRODUCTION NOW PRACTICABLE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Synthetic alcohol, which the Germans invented and which gravely threatens the wood alcohol industry of this country, has brought another sensational development in its train. It has made it possible, according to scientists, to produce synthetic sugar in quantity and at a price that makes it available in an emergency. It cannot yet compete commercially with cane or beet sugar, but where the usual sweetening cannot be obtained it would be an acceptable and practical substitute.

The Department of Commerce and local scientists are interested in the new product, but see no such reaction on sugar industry as the methynol enthusiasts prophesy on the wood alcohol business.

Some scientists believe there is a possible sugar supply in the process in the event of the ordinary sources failing. The production of real edible sugar chemically is not entirely new, but heretofore it has been little more than a laboratory adventure—something on the order of making tiny artificial diamonds, which cost much more to produce than real diamonds sell for.

Italy Mourns Death of Prince.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, May 8.—The death at Pinerolo of Georgio, Prince of Montemagno, the 7-day-old first son of Princess Yolanda, wife of Count Calvi Di Bergolo, and first grandson to the royal house of Savy, caused nationwide sadness. The infant Wednesday was stricken with bronchitis which developed into pneumonia. When the corps of expert phyicians abandoned hope of saving his life, the baptismal ceremony was hurriedly performed. At dawn yesterday the infant died.

DANISH CRITIC SAYS CULTURE IS A THING OF THE PAST

Brandes Declares France Has Become the Heir to Prussian Militarism.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 19.—Georg Brandes, the Danish critic, recently lectured in Berlin on "Europe as It Is Today." Despite his 84 years, the speaker's mental keenness and elasticity are surprising.

Brandes is not infatuated with the Europe of today. In 1913, he said, the fires of the impending world conflagration were glimmering everywhere in Europe and quite as much in Paris as elsewhere. He spoke of the pernicious influence of the press everywhere in bringing about the World War.

He mentioned that a well-known French journalist had asked his opinion about the international state of culture. "Culture," he had replied, "is dead. Therefore there can be no question of an international culture. Look at the France of today. She can no longer stand criticism. Her best friends remain silent. Today she has become the heir of Prussian militarism."

Dr. Brandes admitted that Russia, Japan and China showed symptoms of cultural progress. But wherein was Europe progressing in the world's cultural development," he asked. Did she still play a part in the concert of the nations? If so, scarcely more than the treble. And the League of Nations? With a disparaging gesture he declared that institution a farce.

ATHLETE'S ROMANCE BLASTED

Wife Sues Henry Lamar, Amateur Light-Heavyweight, for Divorce.

Special to the Post-Dispatch

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Henry Lamar, former football star and amateur light-heavyweight boxing champion, was sued for absolute divorce yesterday by Mrs. Phyllis Moore Lamar, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Hayward Felix Moore and granddaughter of the late Judge William Schachelford of Virginia, who was a courier for Gen. Stonewall Jackson in the Civil War.

Less than 24 hours before Lamar had gone down to defeat before "Bing" Bellinger, Canadian light-heavyweight, at Boston. Lamar and his wife are both 19. He is a grandson of Lucius Q. C. Lamar, Secretary of the Interior under President Cleveland. After a short romance, when both were students at Western High School here, the pair eloped to Marlboro, Md., and were married secretly in September of 1923. They kept their marriage a secret until the following June. In her suit, Mrs. Lamar charges neglect, misconduct and failure to provide a home. While she lived with her parents, at 1727 Riggs place, Northwest, he lived across the street, the petition sets forth.

MEDITATIONS —OF A— MARRIED WOMAN

By HELEN ROWLAND

THE WHITE WOMAN'S BURDEN.

A MAN is like a motor car—next to getting him STARTED in any direction, the hardest thing in the world is to STOP him!

It takes three full weeks every Autumn to persuade him to shut the front door behind him—and three more weeks every Spring, to coax him to leave it OPEN, after him.

Next to getting him out of the house evenings, the most difficult problem is to get him back INTO it again, before morning.

He may have to be bullied and backed into his evening clothes, but once in them, he wants to keep them on until the sun rises. You may have to beg him on your bended knees to take you to a dance—but once there, you cannot pry him away until the saxophones have all been packed in their cases, and they are about to extinguish the lights.

* * *

He may have to be dragged to the dinner-table with threats of cold mutton and starvation—but, when the maid attempts to clear away the dishes at eight-thirty, he wonders "what all the rush is about."

* * *

He may have to be cajoled into letting you invite a few people in for dinner; but at 12 o'clock, he is assuring them that "the night is still young" and begging them not to GO.

* * *

He may have to be threatened with pneumonia before he will wear his sweater on the golf links in March—but he will have to be threatened with sunstroke or apoplexy before he will take it off in June.

He may revolt bitterly against donning his overshoes in the morning downpour, but he will blissfully walk home through the sun-baked streets in them, at 6 p. m.—and wonder why his feet hurt.

He may have to be implored to put on his old clothes while working on the car on Sunday morning; but he will have to be almost insulted before he will change them on Sunday afternoon, when visitors arrive.

A man is a collection of habits, and getting him to relinquish one of them is like detaching the baby's sticky fingers from the flypaper.

That's why he is always so surprised when his wife wants a divorce. He cannot comprehend why a woman who has cajoled, tempted and vamped him into marrying her, against all his theories and his better judgment, should not want to STAY married to him, no matter what his faults.

"Woman's changeability" has been a source of annoyance and mystery to him, ever since Eve invented the first "moving day."

That is why it's so important to get a husband started in the way you want him to go. Once he starts off on the wrong foot, he'll go right on that way to the grave declaring that all the rest of the world is "out of step."

As far as a man's politics, his religion, his hair-cut, his little habits, and his clothes go, once he is "put," he "STAYS put." Nothing about him ever changes—except his HEART!

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Rice Glue.

The Japanese make a fine, clear glue, very useful in pasting white paper, by simply boiling rice in water until it is reduced to a thick, fine paste.

Follow With Hot Water.

When using washing soda to clear the drain in the sink, be sure to follow with a pail of boiling hot water so the soda and grease do not form a soft soap in the drain pipe and close the drain entirely.

White Bananas.

Frequently we would like to slice bananas a little in advance of the meal, but fear to do so on account of their turning black so quickly. Sprinkle lemon juice over the slices. It will keep them white and improve the flavor.

Little Helps.

Too much sugar in the mixture will prevent ice cream from freezing hard.

Heat the leftover cooked steak by steaming—it will have a better flavor and be more tender.

Roll in one direction when making pastry if you want it to be light. Pastry is tricky stuff and will not stand much handling or rolling.

ODD FACTS

Insects that fly by day are more likely to be splendid in color than night insects, which tend toward the drab and even ugly.

Men are taking up domestic work more than ever. They generally live in and receive an average of $300 a year with board.

Dwellings which are supposed to date back to 7000 B. C. have been discovered by workmen digging on the shores of the Lake of Zurich.

Piping crows, natives of Australia, have powers of mimicry like the rook. They can whistle and talk and are bold enough to attack such intruders as dogs and even men.

Polecats and weasels are very numerous in Palestine.

Bones of a prehistoric reptile dug up in Tanganyika Territory, Africa, are so enormous that it took 16 men to lift one of them when uncovered.

A python measuring sixteen feet in length had recently to be moved at the London Zoo. It took twelve men to handle the reptile.

Cleaning the Rugs

IF you cannot afford to send the rug to a professional carpet renovator, scrub it yourself, just as you would a floor, only do not use a circular motion in doing the work. It is advisable to use a new scrubbing brush, and this should not be too coarse. Use only the best of neutral soaps.

Scrub just a small area at a time, rinse and wipe dry before going any further. For good results the work must be done quickly and each working area thoroughly dried as you go along. A piece of dry crash is good for the final drying, as this will brush up the nap.

Some housewives use ammonia in the water instead of soap, with excellent results.

ORANGE EGG-NOG.

This is good when the appetite flags on a warm day. Beat a fresh egg until light but not foamy. Add to it a quarter of a saltspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of sugar, a half cupful of orange juice and a small half cupful of rich milk. Mix well, dust with a tiny bit of nutmeg and serve strained into a cold tumbler. The ingredients should be cold before mixing, as the drink cannot be iced for a child.

Love's Labor Lost -o- -o-

DRAWN BY NELL BRINKLEY

BECAUSE they already know how! Love points solemnly to

"How to make a young lady understand that her eyes are lamps in your dark night";

"How to make a young person know that you are lassoed by the silken rope of her golden hair";

"How to make it plain to a flapper that her mouth is the latest and most exquisite thing in rose-buds";

"How to say yes without saying 'yes' to a young man who is trying to explain the state of his heart";

"How to tell a young man, just with your eyes, that he is the nicest looking chap you know, that you like the way he combs his hair, that his hands are just right, that you like his shoes, his hat, his smile, his walk, and that ANYTHING he might have to say would be very interesting, indeed";

"How to hold hands";

"How to write verselets";

"How to sigh";

And all the time behind his back Janice and Jack are holding hands, sighing, proposing, saying yes, speaking through the windows of their eyes—with high success. They already knew how.

You might say they were born knowing how!

Seeing how many young ladies and gentlemen back through history were ancestoring them in the gentle art!

Some Refreshments for a Children's Party

THERE is always a little doubt about what to serve for children's parties, so a few suggestions may be helpful. If the party is informal refreshments should be passed, and included little sandwiches of chicken, finely minced cold lamb, seasoned with salt, jam, minced fresh fruit well drained, peanut butter, and minced chicken with a little home-made mayonnaise made without mustard. The bread for the sandwiches should be a day old at least, cut thin and without the crusts. Vanilla cookies, white fruit or plum cake in slices, a mold of jelly, or a dainty boiled custard with the meringue over the top. Candies and cocoa or orangeade may be served.

A kindergarten table will seat 24 and may be rented for the afternoon. Two boards placed on boxes and covered with table oilcloth, which can be used up afterward on tables and so on, makes a simple solution of the problem. A pretty idea is to have the birthday cake on a little table by itself then the child can place the knife in it if she is not big enough to cut it entirely. This method is used for the two-to-six party.

Now for the party that is from three, or four, to seven. This is of course a seated affair. The table should be prettily decorated, generally with a unique Jack Horner pie in the center. The following menu will be found appropriate and one that most children like.

MENU.
Chicken Broth with Whipped Cream
Chicken Croquettes, Peas
Creamed Potatoes, Rolls,
Fruit Salad. Wafers. Cocoa.
Ice Cream, Cake.

The broth carefully made is served in cups. The chicken croquettes are made of the boiled chicken finely minced and delicately seasoned, and are baked instead of being fried. Placed in a lightly buttered pan, they are covered until heated through, then uncovered and quickly browned. Usually a smooth cream sauce is served on them. The peas and potatoes are offered on the same plate. Little hot rolls or dinner rolls can be used.

The fruit salad should be made of all fresh fruits in season. Serve some dainty wafers with the salad; crackers are best if there is a sweet to follow. Many stop here and serve cookies or Japanese rice cakes and do away with the ice cream.

In making cocoa, make it of part milk and part water. If ice cream is decided upon serve the French vanilla as this pleases almost all children. If the ice cream is to be made home the old-fashioned frozen custard will be a sure winner of approval. Fancy creams and sauces are not necessary and are also apt to upset the children's digestion.

If it is spring or summer time and the party can be given on the lawn, nothing will delight the children so much as ice cream cones. There is something about receiving and enjoying cream served in this manner which especially appeals to the primitive taste of little folks.

Another form of refreshment comes from an improvised well on the lawn. This is really a vessel of lemonade set down inside a moss, fern or flower covered half-barrel. The pretty cups, which are placed around the curb, are filled and refilled by means of ladles in the hands of older girls. The little guests crowd around the lemonade well and drink deep of its cooling sweetness.

Tiny baskets of pretty candies are always a welcome addition to the refreshments served at juvenile parties.

CHAPTER 49.

PUZZLING CIRCUMSTANCES.

DORIS lay face downward on the bed in Mariana's guest room and stifled her sobs in a lacy pillow.

When Craig Cullam's blow had sent Jervis reeling, and the latter's arms had released her from their hateful hold, she had fled Up the stairs, through the silent hallways, to the sanctuary of the room assigned her, she sped, without a backward glance to ascertain the sequel to that dramatic scene in the garden.

She knew that she must give way to the overpowering wretchedness that had engulfed her from the moment that she discovered this new and terrifying Craig Cullam at Mariana's house party. Her pride had kept her up thus far, but even it was not strong enough to drive her further.

She could hear, through the casement windows that stood ajar, laughter and shrill cries and splashing from the lake at the foot of the garden. The house party was enjoying its night swim. The garden itself, below her window, where she had left Dick Jervis lying on the graveled path with Craig Cullam standing over him ominously quiet.

She didn't care. Nothing mattered any more. She wished she could die. The man she loved had turned into a monster. The handsome, tender, chivalrous gentleman stood revealed in his true colors, a hideous, drunken brute!

Even in her wretchedness, it occurred to her to wonder how Cullam had happened to appear so swiftly and fortuitously on the scene when Jervis was kissing her against her will. It seemed strange to her that the man who was supposed to be at the lake edge making inebriated love to her sister should come so quickly on the heels of her cry: "Dick, let me go! I hate you! Let me go!" And when Cullam sent Jervis sprawling, it wasn't the staggering, roystering creature she had been loathing all evening, who struck the clean-cut blow. It was the Craig Cullam she knew, strong and lithe and complete master of himself—she could sense that even through the darkness.

It puzzled her, even while she explained it wearily to herself as just another evidence of the Dr. Jekyll-and-Mr.-Hyde personality of the man. Of course, she told herself, he was capable of these quick changes. Had he not successfully deceived her for weeks? Had he not kept the knowledge of his true self from her, appearing before her only in his sober moments and reserving his periods of debauchery for other companions?

A knock on her door roused her.

She rose hastily, dabbing at her eyes, and smoothing her ruffled hair.

It was a maid with a scribbled message on a card:

"Doris: Forgive me

Open, drain and split boneless sardines put up in oil. Cover the sardines with a marinade of the juice of a lemon, juice of an onion, a slice of garlic, a little celery salt and a teaspoonful each of olive oil and tarragon vinegar. Let stand for one hour. Chop a little fresh watercress and work it into some soft butter. Butter the toast strips with this, then drain the sardines and place two halves on each toast strip. Place a little thinly sliced kherkin pickle at one end of the strip and a radish rose at the other.

Yowler the Bob Cat Forgets His Hunger

When danger seem approaching near.
—Old Mother Nature.

YOWLER the Bob Cat knew what only a few others knew, and this was that Mrs. Lightfoot the Deer had this year chosen to live far in the Green Forest, beyond the old road that wound through it. And Yowler knew why. He knew that she had chosen to live there this spring because very few other folk were living there and she had done this for the same reason that Mrs. Grouse had chosen to build her nest across that road. Yes, sir, the reason was the same in both cases. Mrs. Lightfoot and Mrs. Grouse each had a secret she wanted to keep all to herself as long as possible. The secret of Mrs. Grouse was that nest and the 10 beautiful babies. You remember what the Red Terror did to them. The secret of Mrs. Lightfoot was the hiding place of two beautiful, dainty, spotted babies.

Yowler had missed Mrs. Lightfoot in that part of the Green Forest where she had been in the habit of living. He guessed that she was trying to keep out of sight, and why. So he did a great deal of careful hunting for her. He couldn't find so much as a fresh scent or a recently made footprint.

"She has gone way off somewhere," he grumbled. "I wonder if she has gone up on the Big Mountain."

Then he thought of that part of the Green Forest which lay beyond the old wood road, and how few people, furred or feathered, went there. It would be just the place to hide with weak and helpless babies. The yellow eyes, the fierce, hungry eyes, of Yowler gleamed. Thereafter for a part of every night he prowled about over in that part of the Green Forest. It wasn't long before he knew that Mrs. Lightfoot was somewhere there, for he found where she had been eating, and he found her footprints in some soft earth, and once or twice his keen nose found a wee bit of her scent.

With a whimper of fear, Yowler bounded away

On this day Yowler hadn't waited for dark. He had gone over in the late afternoon, for he was certain that those babies, those little spotted fawns, were hidden not far from where he had been looking the night before. What a dinner they would make him. His mouth fairly watered at the thought. He could think of nothing else. Like a shadow he moved, soft-footed, sneaking, listening, watchful. At last he reached a place where he could watch with little chance of being seen. He was quite sure that those fawns were hidden quite near, and if he was patient they would appear sooner or later, for they were big enough to travel about a little.

Gradually a feeling of uneasiness crept over him. What caused it he didn't know. It was a feeling that something, what he didn't know, was wrong. The feeling grew. He was afraid—afraid of nothing, for there was nothing to fear. And then it came to him, the smell of the Red Terror. He had smelled it before, and he knew it and what it meant. He lifted his head and sniffed. The breath of the Red Terror, the smoke, made his nose smart. He got to his feet and glared anxiously toward the old road. The Red Terror was coming straight toward him!

With a whimper of fear, Yowler bounded away, and as he did so Mrs. Lightfoot, with her beautiful spotted babies at her heels, trotted out from behind a pile of brush almost in front of him. Yowler hardly glanced at those fawns he had come there to seek and had been lying in wait for. He passed them as if he had no interest in them whatever. Nor did Mrs. Lightfoot show fear of him. Neither had a thought for aught but the Red Terror. In a common fear they were no longer enemies.

By the Associated Press.

MEMPHIS, TENN, May 9.—Twenty-t when the United States Government steame sized off Coahoma Landing, Miss., 16 mile the Mississippi River late yesterday, accor given out here today by Mayor Paine of M

Elaborate efforts were made throughout the night to locate every engineer attending the Mid-South Association convention which was in session here and other persons who had gone on the Norman and the Choctaw, another Government boat, to Cow Island to view Government work. The officials announced that all had been accounted for except the 22 named in the Mayor's list.

Hard to Obtain News.

Information from the scene is difficult to obtain because of the isolated position and the poor means of communication. The only means other than by motor boat is to travel across sloughs and primitive roads for several miles to reach a telephone.

Among the excursionists who were drowned were some of the best known men in the engineering profession of the South.

From out of the swamps of Arkansas came the hero of the occasion. Tom Lee, a negro. On his broad shoulders fell the burden of life saving. He was passing in a motor boat at the time of the disaster.

Lee went about his work methodically. He loaded his motor boat with victims of the disaster and took them ashore. He went back and got another load. When the final count was taken he had rescued perhaps 30 of the 60 or more persons on board the steamer, including Capt. Howard T. Fenton, veteran of the river, who had commanded the vessel.

List of Dead.

The list of dead as given out by Mayor Paine follows:

E. H. Bowser, Memphis.
C. H. Miller, Little Rock.
C. E. Shearer, Memphis.
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Board.
Edgar Board.
Mrs. Lydia Hidinger, Memphis.
Paul Norcross, Atlanta.
G. L. Anderson, Memphis.
Maj. W. W. Gardiner, Memphis.
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kirkpatrick, Oxford, Miss.
William Hamon, Memphis.
T. Waters Fox, Paducah, Ky.
Mrs. J. F. Dorroh, Oxford, Miss.
Mrs. Lonnie Caldwell, Memphis.
Jack Cothran, engineer on steamer.
Earl Simonson, fireman.
Roy Thompson, stoker.
Will Moore, negro, deckhand.
Tom Plunkett, negro, deckhand.
Prof. R. H. McNeily, Vanderbilt University, Nashville.

Banks Searched for Dead.

The shores of Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas below Coahoma landing were searched all night by steamers with powerful searchlights, in the hope that some of the missing might have reached safety, or that bodies might have been washed ashore. The search was continued today with augmented forces of steamers and small boats.

The Norman, with the Govern-
